"LAST OFFER TO WANERS"---DREYFUSS

RIVERS AT FLOOD CREST

Today

March of Events.
Another Pact.
Another Trust.
Smallpox in China.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TROTZKY, telling Mr. Ochs at considerable length just what happened to him, describes his downfall and exile as "la marche des envenements," "the march of events."

He might better have described his troubles as due to "la faiblesse humaine"—"human frailty."

TROTZKY couldn't hold his place because he lacked strength to hold it. Had powerful Lenin lived, he would have held power, and Trotzky in Lenin's shadow would have continued to direct the Russian army, which he did admirably.

TROTZKY'S statement that Stalin and other Russian leaders that exiled him and his friends are leaning "to the right," that is, toward conservatism and capitalism, will interest America's conservative government.

Stalin, intelligent Russian, knows that power without money is a shadow, so he leans in the direction of money.

REVELATION of a war agreement between France and Belgium disturbs the innocent British, but it doesn't disturb this country.

We are willing to put our fingers in the crack of any door, trusting to Providence to prevent the door suddenly closing.

THE Germans are excited about the French-Belgian war pact, that, according to rumor, would compel either of the two nations to join the other in any fight against Germany.

This interesting revelation should convince our government that George Washington knew what he was talking about when he advised the United States to keep out of Europe's affairs.

THE French have discovered an oil trust, with Britain and the United States combining to control oil producing fields all over the world, to the detriment of France.

American oil stock and oil well owners would like to know who runs that trust, and why it doesn't do something to prevent the squandering of oil.

A WIDESPREAD outbreak of smallpox adds to China's troubles. The Chinese, more intelligent than some Americans, appreciate the importance of vaccination, and have designated March 1 next as "national vaccination day." Ignorance still opposes vaccination in spite of the fact that what was once the most dreaded disease has ceased to be important in civilized countries.

WHEN Voltaire's friend, Catherine of Russia, was inoculated with vaccine from the arm of a little boy, and created that boy "Duke of Smallpox," every other face was disfigured by smallpox marks. If smallpox deaths were now what they were then, a city like Chicago would be fortunate if it escaped with 50,000 deaths from smallpox a year.

MR. NICHOLS, Kansas City real estate man, said he would be willing to buy a picture by Leonardo Da Vinci, if certain of its genuineness, or do anything else in reason to help the city, of which he is so proud.

Kansas City almost bought a Leonardo Da Vinci, that, according to Joseph Duveen, Leonardo himself never saw.

FORTUNATELY, Kansas City can struggle along without the help of Leonardo as long as factories develop, real estate goes up in value and packing houses operate.

OLD Col. Coates, who built a first-class hotel in Kansas City more than half a century ago, the Dickey brothers that drove their big bunches of steers to the Kansas City stockyards, and the boats that stopped at Kansas City's landing on the way to St. Louis and New Orleans, did more for Kansas City than could be done by all the painters that ever lived.

First wealth, then at your leisure, and no hurry about it, art.

CALL money cost nine per cent yesterday, but Wall Street persisted shortly in its cheerfulness, with stocks going up, steel strong, copper high, with the cost of copper metal rising in price. Even oil stocks went up.

It is hard to discourage those that believe in the future of American values.

THE Tampa Daily Times, cheerful about big Florida state, announces already 38,000 solid carloads of fruits and vegetables have been shipped north, and that is less than half the season's crop.

The shipments include more than 31,000 carloads of citrus fruits.

CARL FISHER, who has done a great deal for Florida, writes from Miami that crowds there at hotels, in private houses and on houseboats, have never been so great in Florida's history.

The stream of automobiles flowing south compares with the flocks of carrier pigeons that once darkened the sky.

3 POLICE LIEUTENANTS CHARGED WITH GRAFT

RUM DEALS RELATED AT TRIAL

Three police lieutenants took protection money from him, a confessed bootlegger testified today in Federal Court, where 17 South Siders, including police and politicians, are on trial, accused of operating a great booze conspiracy.

The law enforcers were Lieuts. John M. Vandall, John Joyce and James Early, according to Joseph Sobczak, who said he sold moonshine at 2528 Carson street.

JOYCE STORY BARRED

Sobczak told of giving Joyce a total of $80 or $90 on five to 10 occasions and handing $10 over to Vandall just before Christmas of 1927. The court ruled out further testimony against Early, who is not on trial, having been indicted under wrong Christian name.

Both Vandall and Joyce came to his place in their police uniforms, the witness related, and once Vandall asked, "What are these slot machines doing here?"

HALF OF FINE RETURNED

Sobczak also testified of being raided and fined $100 by Magistrate John J. Sweeney, also a defendant, and of later being returned half of the fine by a friend.

"I went to see Inspector McArdle about getting the fine back and he said I was too damned smart to be in the business," Sobczak testified.

The second witness today was George Altman, proprietor of a saloon at 2328 Arlington avenue, who told of being forced out of business and his place being taken over by McArdle's brother, "Paddy" McArdle, Charles Snyder and George Schad.

Altman testified that McArdle, de-

END WANER HOLDOUT OFFERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 27.—The Waner brothers' holdout case, announced exclusively by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph several weeks ago, today began to assume serious proportions.

An expression by Sam Dreyfuss this morning indicated the wide gap that apparently separates the club and players in the important matter of salary.

"We are through negotiating with both of them," said the Buccaneer treasurer.

All kinds of guesses are being made as to the amount representing the disagreement. A conservative hazard is that Paul demands at least $5,000 more than the club has offered him and that Lloyd's grievance is worth at least $3,000.

It seems apparent that the two little stars are making a united effort for a big boost.

The club evidently had made a final offer. Inasmuch as neither has been heard of since there is a likelihood of a stubborn case which may run for a long time.

Gasoline 7 Cents In Coast Price War

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—No change in the status of the Pacific Coast gasoline war was apparent today, although moves have been made to bring the price-slashing to an end. The retail price of gasoline has dropped as low as seven cents a gallon in Seattle, while prices in California range from 10 to 15 cents.

Prince Ill, Wedding To Indiana Girl Off

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Invitations have been recalled by Mr. and Mrs. George Rockwood, of Indianapolis, for the wedding of their daughter, Diana, to Prince Vladimir Eristavi D'Aragva, which was to have taken place in Paris March 15, on account of the illness of Prince Eristavi. Miss Rockwood and her mother are in Paris.

Archduke, in U. S., Sued for Tailor Bill

VIENNA, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Archduke Leopold, of the House of Hapsburg, who is understood to be in Hollywood, Cal., was today made defendant in a suit for $900 filed by a firm of Vienna tailors. The plaintiffs alleged that they made several suits for Leopold in order that he might appear in America in a style befitting an archduke.

Root Reaches Italy, En Route to Geneva

GENOA, Italy, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Elihu Root, noted American jurist, who will serve on a special committee of experts for revision of the statutes of the World Court, arrived here today aboard the steamship Augustus. After visiting some of the historic sites of the city, Mr. Root entrained for Milan, whence he will continue to Geneva.

Wright Gets Flying Crosses and Flag

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Orville Wright was presented today by Secretary Davis at the War Department with the distinguished flying crosses awarded by Congress to him and posthumously to his brother, Wilbur. Afterward Mr. Wright received from Mrs. Charles F. Taylor, of the Virginia Dare branch of the League of American Penwomen, a North Carolina state flag tendered to him from that state as the cradle of aviation.

HOOVER NAMES DEMOCRAT TO CABINET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—William D. Mitchell, solicitor general of the United States, a Minnesota Democrat, has been selected by President-elect Hoover to be attorney general in his cabinet.

Simultaneously with this development today, friends of William J. Donovan said he would not occupy any federal office after March 4.

Mr. Donovan, who is assistant to the Attorney General, conferred briefly with Mr. Hoover this morning and was understood to have informed the President-elect of his unwillingness to accept the post of Secretary of War or the governor-generalship of the Philippines.

WORKED FOR HOOVER

The Assistant Attorney General was said to have pointed out that he did not consider Mr. Hoover was under obligations to offer him a post in his administration. He had worked for Mr. Hoover in the last campaign out of friendship for the Republican candidate and because he believed in the issues Mr. Hoover favored, it was explained.

With the selection of an Attorney General decided upon, Mr. Hoover was said to be in a position to complete his cabinet within a very short time. Although Mr. Mitchell is a Democrat, he was represented as having voted for Charles Evans

PLANNING NEW SKYSCRAPER

Another addition to Pittsburgh's skyline is under consideration by the Gulf Oil Corporation. A skyscraper office building is planned for the northwest corner of Seventh avenue and Grant street.

This will give Mellon organizations two of the tallest buildings in the city facing each other on Seventh avenue, the other being the Koppers Building.

The lot is 195 by 145 feet.

The project to build a new hotel at Liberty avenue and Grant street still is alive and is not brought to a close by the proposed Gulf Building, although plans at one time contemplated the use of both pieces of adjoining property. The litigation now pending over the city's right to open Ogle way, an alley vacated for 77 years, is the principal reason for delay in the hotel plans.

ANXIETY FELT FOR CHAPLIN

International News Service.

Dr. Cecil Reynolds was hurriedly summoned to the residence. He issued the following statement:

"Mr. Chaplin's condition is uncomfortable. His temperature rose shortly before midnight."

The doctor's statement occasioned more anxiety over the comedian's condition than at any time since Chaplin was stricken Monday.

Indicating the existence of an emergency, all methods of communication between the Chaplin household and the outside world have been temporarily severed. Guards have been stationed around the home and telephones have been disconnected.

Rigid seclusion for the actor has been ordered.

Meanwhile, an investigation was being conducted into the cause of the ptomaine poisoning.

NOT ALLOWED OUTSIDE, BOY, 12, HANGS HIMSELF

"But, mamma, why can't I go out to play? Why can't I, Mamma?" Clarence Guy, 12, demanded petulantly as he sat at dinner with his parents and their four children in the home of Charles M. Guy, of 29 Harrison street, Munhall, last night.

"Now, Clarence," said Mrs. Guy patiently, "it's too wet. You stay in and play with your toys. I don't want you to get pneumonia."

Clarence subsided into a sulky silence.

Dinner ended, his father, who is assistant master mechanic in the Homestead works of the Carnegie Steel Company, left the house on a matter of business. Charles, Jr., 17, and Leslie, 15, went out to play. Clarence went up to his playroom in the attic.

Thirty minutes later Mrs. Guy climbed the stairs to the attic.

There, dangling in a noose fashioned of clothesline she found Clarence dead.

DOWNTOWN, NORTH SIDE BASEMENTS FILLED; GORGE LETS GO

With an ice gorge breaking in the Allegheny River and melting snow swelling both the Ohio and Monongahela rivers, a 25-foot flood struck Pittsburgh today.

Fear of major damage passed after the gorge in the Allegheny River at Brilliant pumping station broke and the dammed waters passed through the downtown district and into the Ohio River.

CREST REACHED AT NOON

The rivers would remain stationary at about that level during the afternoon and would fall gradually this evening Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman predicted.

Pumps were kept busy in the cellars of buildings along Duquesne way and Penn avenue, which are subject to flood when the rivers reach a 22 and 23-foot stage.

The Fulton Building in Sixth street suffered most from the rise. Operations in the basement laundry were suspended to eliminate the water which backed up through the sewers.

READY FOR EMERGENCY

Duff's Iron City College shut off all sewers in its cellar to keep the sewer water from backing up. The Roosevelt Hotel was prepared to man its pumps as the water rose. The Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor was prepared to do likewise.

Flood waters submerged the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks in the North Side and made its loading platform inaccessible. River avenue also was flooded, as were parts of Robinson and Cremo streets. Workers and residents of the district expressed amazement at the suddenness with which the river rose at that point.

Police orders were issued to prevent automobile parking on the Monongahela River until all flood danger passes.

An alarm was broadcast from Brilliant pumping station to Pittsburgh police and firemen when the ice gorge broke. Details of motorcycle policemen were immediately dispatched from the Penn Avenue and Forty-third Street Police Stations to warn riverside firms and river dwellers of their plight. Desk sergeants warned those by telephone who were otherwise inaccessible.

CITY WARNED

Motorcycle policemen were rushed to the lower North Side, where low

METRO CHARTER DRAFT NOW COMPLETE

The final draft of Pittsburgh's new metropolitan charter has been completed. The Metropolitan Plan Commission at a meeting in the board room of the First National Bank at Pittsburgh placed its final stamp of approval on the document late yesterday.

In many of its sections the document was re-written since the first drafts were made more than a month ago. Other meetings will be held this week for checking and reading proof on the typed copies which are being prepared for presentation to the Legislature.

READY FOR LEGISLATURE

According to the present schedule, the charter will be ready to be introduced when the members of the Pennsylvania House and Senate return to Harrisburg following their attendance on the inaugural ceremonies at Washington Monday.

The charter is regarded by its proponents as a model for commission form of government on a large scale.

Co-ordination is favored in the charter plan in all matters relating to metropolitan taxes and fiscal

Evangeline Booth Gets Gala Farewell

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Hundreds of Salvation Army workers packed the Waterloo station today and gave Commander Evangeline Booth, American leader, a gala farewell as she departed on the Berengaria boat train.

CLERK IN CITY JOB OUSTED

Mrs. Minnie N. Rogers, of 2035 Osgood street, Twenty-sixth Ward, has been suspended as general clerk and auditor in the City Controller's office it was learned today. The position pays $2,280 a year.

Mrs. Rogers, under civil service rules, has five days to reply to the "absent without leave" reason given by Controller Henry O. Evans.

Mrs. Rogers has been employed in the office for 18 years.

The Controller's absence through illness has held up a decision in the case of George W. Dorn, 1612 Sedgwick street, Twenty-first Ward, warrant clerk in the Controller's office, who was indicted last Monday in a lottery ticket case.

HEART-THROB DECEPTION ENDS WITH WOMAN'S DEATH

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—A 10-year task of benevolent deceit was ended today with the arrival from Brooklyn of the body of Mrs. Mina Preiskal for funeral services today.

Robert, one of Mrs. Preiskal's seven children, died in France in March, 1919, while a member of the American Expeditionary Forces. She never knew, because since that time her children in the United States have been writing her letters, imitating as well as they could, Robert's handwriting and signing his name to them. The missives were mailed to France and remailed to Brooklyn. They told that Robert was sick and postponed his return from time to time.

Mrs. Preiskal was 72 years old. She was the mother of Former Police Commissioner Abram Preiskal, of this city.

streets were inundated, the Penn avenue district, and along the Monongahela wharf to broadcast the approaching flood.

Moving vans and other available vehicles were kept within easy distance of the lower North Side, particularly Robinson and Cremo streets, to be available for the moving of household goods and merchandise should this area become inundated.

All available police and firemen were kept in readiness for whatever rescue work might have been necessary.

The rivers started to rise yesterday at 8 p. m. High temperatures throughout the evening are held responsible for the rapid melting of the snow and ice and subsequent swelling of the rivers.

ALLEGHENY RAGING

The Allegheny was the greatest threat.

High and swift-running water also was reported from Arnold and Franklin. It was reported from the latter city that an ice pack between Oil City and Warren had not yet given way.

The Ohio River was swollen by ice and melting snow pouring out of the various creeks along its banks, particularly Lowries Run at Emsworth and Kilbuck Creek at Glenfield. Both of these streams overflowed their banks, but were reported to have subsided this afternoon.

Detours made necessary by flood waters in the Ohio lowlands kept Pennsylvania Railroad train service an hour late today between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

DEAD IN SOUTH REACHES 40

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 27.—(INS.)—The death toll in the series of tornadoes that dipped over the South Monday mounted to 40 today.

J. H. Preston, who died at a Clarksdale (Miss.), hospital, was the latest victim. He was injured in the Duncan (Miss.), storm.

Twenty-two dead, three score injured, and unestimated property damage was the loss to Duncan, now patrolled by the state militia.

The injured, hungry and needy at Duncan are being taken care of by Red Cross units sent from Memphis, New Orleans and Jackson, Miss.

The death toll may mount. Many of the injured, particularly those in the Duncan area, were so mangled that it was not likely they will recover.

Conservative estimates placed the injured in the widely scattered sections at more than 150.

A new menace — floods — threatened wide areas in Mississippi and Arkansas, where streams are overflowing from torrential rains.

Extraordinary precautions were being taken in some of the towns against a possible outbreak of typhoid fever or influenza, and supplies of serum from Memphis, Tenn., were sent by airplane to the storm areas.

ANNOYED BY DRYS

The attorney generalship at one time was expected to go to Donovan, who was represented today as being annoyed by the opposition raised against him for this post by certain dry forces and others. He was said to feel he was being looked upon by these forces not as an individual whose capacity for organization and administration were to be taken into account.

With the elimination of Donovan for the war secretaryship, the name of James M. Good, of Iowa, was brought forward as a possible choice. Mr. Good was Mr. Hoover's western campaign manager.

FLOOD SHIFTS IN OHIO

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27. — (AP.) — Ohio's flood scene shifted today from the south and southwestern section of the state where it caused several million dollars damage and resulted in death yesterday to the eastern section where it claimed a second life and threatened further serious damage.

The Ohio River in the vicinity of East Liverpool rose to alarming height as did the Tuscarawas.

Low lands near East Liverpool were threatened with inundation today as the Ohio rose six inches an hour and indicated that it would reach a flood stage 30 to 33 feet tonight or tomorrow.

LEVEES THREATENED

The levees in the Tuscarawas River were all that prevented a serious flood at Dover and it was feared they might give way under the heavy pressure.

W. H. Lee, Massillion restaurant owner, was drowned when he fell into water in the basement of his home. Thirty Massillon families were marooned.

Train service in Ohio was practically normal again today.

In Springfield, where the flood was at its worst yesterday, a damage estimated at close to $2,000,000 was attributed to Mad River and Buck Creek, which filled the low industrial district and made several hundred persons homeless.

RISING AT WHEELING

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—With the Ohio River at a 23-foot stage and rising four inches an hour here, rivermen today predicted a stage not to exceed 34 feet by Friday night. Flood stage is 36 feet. Small streams in this area were running bankfull and some highways were inundated.

Bill to Repeal Limits On Gas Lines Passed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—A bill repealing the law which, since statehood, has prohibited the piping of Oklahoma natural gas outside the state, was on the desk of acting Gov. W. J. Holloway today for his signature. Both houses of the State Legislature have passed the measure.

REED'S FIGURES SHOW NEED OF U. S. BUILDING

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Figures showing the average number of persons calling at headquarters of the various federal agencies in Pittsburgh daily have been presented to members of the Federal Building Commission by Senator David A. Reed with a request that they be considered in drawing final plans for the new $6,000,000 government building authorized for the city.

The data was prepared for Senator Reed by Postmaster George W. Gosser, of Pittsburgh, officials of the United States District Court there and others.

ESTIMATE OF CALLERS

It was revealed that at the peak, close to 15,000 persons, other than government employes, call daily at the various offices which it is proposed to house in the new federal structure, including the postoffice, and that the average number of callers is about half that. The estimate, submitted to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Schuneman, a member of the building commission, follows:

	Ave.	Max.
Postoffice	6,500	No Est.
Collector of internal revenue	500	7,000
United States courts	500	1,000
United States attorney	125	300
United States marshall	30	125
Federal prohibition administrator	100	150
Internal revenue agent in charge	50	75
Bureau of Immigration	30	60
Civil Service Commission	85	140
Department of Commerce	10	30

JUDGES' VIEWS CITED

Senator Reed's letter said:

"Estimates for the United States courts represent the movement to and from the court room floor. I am told, incidentally, that the United States judges heartily approve the plan for six court rooms on one floor and request that the courts be placed above the seventh floor if possible.

"Mr. William H. Marshall, district director of the immigration service in Pittsburgh, tells me that two additional inspectors were recently assigned to his office and that the number may be further increased during the next year. It is suggested that the 1,500 square feet allotted to this office might prove too small and that allowance should be made for expansion. It is desired to have this space include a detention room and a stationery and supply room. I assume these provisions will be made in the perfected plans.

Butler Not to Head Washington Police

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who once undertook to stamp out lawlessness in Philadelphia, is not looking for a similar task in the national capital.

Gen. Butler, who returned here yesterday after being on duty in China, replied to rumors that he was to be offered such a post with a denial that he would accept it.

"What? Accept a $250-a-month-job?" he said. "Why I had five times as good a job as that in Philadelphia and couldn't keep it."

CHARLES SLATER

WORLD ROAMER, ILL HERE, HOLDS EGYPT IDEAL SPOT

There is an old adventurer living here—Charles Slater, 64, of 428 Duquesne way—who probably knows more about the world—at least from first-hand experience—than anyone else in Pittsburgh.

Slater was born at Mulhausen, Alsace, September 8, 1864, the son of a sergeant of the Chasseurs d'Afrique, who was killed in the battle of Metz in 1871.

Born a French citizen, the lad was reared a German subject. But in 1883 he crossed the frontier to Belfort and enlisted in the Foreign Legion of the French Army.

WINS PROMOTION

After a period of training at Sidi bel Abbes, in Algeria, he was assigned to duty at the military prison at Figig in Morocco. While there he won corporal's chevrons by shooting a prisoner who was trying to scale a wall.

Two years later he won sergeant's chevrons when wounded by a Chinaman, while trying to scale a wall in the campaign against Tonkin in Indo-China.

TAKES TO SEA

After his discharge from the army he made his way to Hull, England, where he shipped before the mast on a sailing vessel. He made many voyages as a seaman to all parts of the world, generally on sailing ships.

On his second voyage he went to South America, staying there 11 years. He joined Gen. Andres Caceres in a successful revolution in Peru. Gen. Caceres, becoming president, made Slater his coachman, and later appointed him inspector of police in Lima. This was the peak of the adventurer's career.

Slater married a Peruvian woman, by whom he had a daughter, Elvira, who still lives in Peru. His wife died in 1900 and he left the country the next year.

He drove a coach for a tourist agency in Cairo.

He was a hobo in Australia.

He worked as a farmhand for a Pennsylvania Dutchman who lived with his Indian wife on a lonely ranch in the hinterland back of The Dalles in the state of Washington.

Search for work brought Slater to Pittsburgh, where he became ill. He has been convalescing at the lodging house of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor.

After he had outlined his career he was asked where he would like most to live, of all the places in the world that he has visited.

"Egypt," he said, without a moment's hesitation.

"Why?"

"It's easy going there. You mind your own business, and nobody bothers you."

FLOOD SPREADS OVER STATE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Flooded by melting snow and heavy rains, Pennsylvania streams today were assuming alarming proportions.

Conditions along the Schuylkill River and its tributaries were acute, and to the West the Susquehanna also was on a rampage.

A turbulent, raging Perkiomen Creek, with its waters 18 feet above normal, endangered lives and property throughout the Perkiomen Valley in Montgomery County.

At Pottstown the worst flood in years was reported. The river was 10 feet above normal and rising about a foot an hour.

Bloomsburg reported that 16 hours of steady rain had sent the creeks in Columbia County far out of their banks and caused many persons to vacate their homes in fear of a further rise.

Lock Haven was threatened with a repetition of the flood of 1918. Ice started to move out of the Susquehanna at Renova on a 10-foot flood and there was not sufficient water in the river to carry it along.

48 Years in Britain, Arraigned As Aliens

ALTON, Hamshire, England, Feb. 17.—(AP.)—After living in England for 48 years two American women, Miss Kate Coit and Miss Eliza Coit, residing in the village of Froyle, were summoned before a court, on a charge of failing to register as aliens. When they showed they were never aware of the necessity the case was dismissed, but they had to pay the costs.

spite being informed by one of his lieutenants that no violations were uncovered in the Altman place, insisted that he keep his saloon closed.

"I went to see Francis Kirley, the ward chairman, in the County Commissioners' office," Altman revealed, "but he said nothing could be done about opening up."

Charles Snyder, a coal miner, testified that, with George Schad and Patrick McArdle, the inspector's brother, as partners, he took over the saloon of Altman at 2328 Arlington avenue, dispensing moonshine obtained from "Mickey" Meyers.

"McArdle told me to see his brother, the inspector, when we were ready to open, and I went to see the inspector, who said, 'Open up if you want to,' and, with Schad, I went to see Francis Kirley, the ward chairman, who said, 'Open up, as far as I am concerned.'"

"MICKEY" LAYS DOWN LAW

Steve Carol, who said he sold moonshine in his saloon at 527 Carson street supplied by "Mickey" Meyers after "Mickey" told him he would have to buy from him if he wanted to sell moonshine, testified that he was fined $100 and $50 in the South Side Police Court on two occasions after he was arrested and that when he complained to "Mickey" these amounts were refunded him by "Mickey."

P. J. Carney, president of the Lotus Club, Jane street, testified "the best whisky that could be bought" was dispensed from the bar of the club. This liquor was supplied by an individual, unidentified, recommended by Jimmy Swift, club member and defendant, and ale and beer was purchased from William Parchman, defendant, not on trial because of illness, Carney testified.

Defendants in the trial include Police Magistrate John J. Sweeney, Police Inspector John J. McArdle, Francis Kirley, Republican chairman of the Sixteenth Ward; Police Lieutenants John M. Vandall and John Joyce, Patrick McArdle, brother of the inspector; the four Meyers brothers—Gus, "Mickey," Joe and Sam; James Swift, John Smith, Joseph Tito, Frank Priorie, Walter Dimmick, James J. O'Brien and Peter J. McCann.

LIBERTY AVENUE STORE BURNS

One fireman was injured and damage estimated at $25,000 caused today by fire which swept the building occupied by the Krieger Clothing Company at 965 Liberty avenue.

Hoseman Harry Platt, of 701 Wymore street, a member of No. 18 Engine Company, was dazed and suffered cuts and bruises when plaster fell on him while he was fighting flames on the second floor of the building. He was treated at Mercy Hospital and sent home.

The origin was not determined. The entire second floor of the structure was in flames when firemen arrived. They attacked the fire from Liberty avenue and from Exchange way and quenched it after a two-hour fight.

The building was a four-story brick structure of antiquated design. The damage was estimated by Battalion Chief George Spahr.

Firemen also were called to subdue flames in the restaurant of A. Rosenson, 5871 Forbes street. Damage there was estimated at $200.

DRIVE OPENS FOR REFORM MAYOR

Plans for placing a reform candidate for mayor in the field during the approaching campaign were under way today. They were roughly formulated at a dinner of clergymen, social workers and other laymen prominently identified with church activities, at the Seventh Avenue Hotel.

It had been intended to keep the meeting held last night a secret because, it was said, publicity at this time would be premature and harmful. Only scant information was vouchsafed as to what was discussed.

TO ORGANIZE

All that was given out was that the gathering was called to work for better city government, that candidates had not been discussed, that a basis for a permanent organization was formed, with the Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, as chairman, and that the following attended:

Dr. Robinson, the Rev. Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchinson, pastor of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Dr. P. W. Snyder, secretary-superintendent of the Presbytery of Pittsburgh; the Rev. G. Arthur Fry, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church; the Rev. Clarence R. Wible, pastor of the Mt. Washington Presbyterian Church; Miss Eleanor Hanson, general secretary of the Welfare Association of Pittsburgh; John W. Vickerman, president of the Allegheny County Sunday School Association; David J. Terry, executive secretary of the Children's Service Bureau; the Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan, pastor of Emory Methodist Episcopal Church; William H. Schuette, E. C. Morey, W. H. Pratt, counsel for the Allegheny County Sabbath Observance Association; the Rev. Dr. Sanford W. Corcoran, secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church Union; Mrs. S. B. Linhart, wife of the secretary of the University of Pittsburgh; R. W. Hervey, the Rev. James R. Cox, rector of Old St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, and the Rev. Davis E. Cruea, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League.

FOR BETTER CITY

It was stated that they attended in their private capacities and not as representatives of the organizations with which they are connected. Some are not legal residents of Pittsburgh, but it was said in their behalf that they were vitally interested in bettering the city government.

Dr. Duncan and Father Cox were named as a committee to give information to the press.

No date was set for another meeting. It will be called when Dr. Robinson regards the time as opportune.

He is chairman of a commitee appointed by the Ministerial Union of Pittsburgh to consider what can be done to secure the election of a mayor who can be counted on resolutely to war on vice and corruption.

While names of possible candidates were not mentioned at the meeting, it is known that among those who have been suggested as more or less conforming to the requirements are Judge Richard W. Martin, former State Senator Cadwallader M. Barr, County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, and Francis S. Guthrie.

In Republican organization circles the persons most commonly mentioned as potential candidates are Mayor Charles H. Kline, former Mayor William A. Magee, President James F. Malone, of the City Council, and Councilman Daniel Winters.

WORK ENDS ON METRO CHARTER

affairs, public works, public health and welfare, but there is full autonomy provided for the various municipal sub-divisions of the county as they now exist.

The administration of the department of public safety would be through municipal units, but with a metropolitan force somewhat like the London metropolitan police, as an auxiliary service. In its practical application this force would mean changes in the present county detectives' organization, with considerable recruiting in effecting its maximum efficiency. Under the new charter, if adopted, borough chiefs of police need not be alarmed about their jobs.

WOULD FINISH TERMS

Aldermen and country squires would sit out their terms, after which they would yield to a county-wide judicial plan which would establish judges of a minor court throughout the cities, boroughs and townships. It is understood that the metropolitan commissioners would be chosen to represent Pittsburgh, the third-class cities and the boroughs and townships in relatively the same proportion as the Metropolitan Plan Commission is formed.

In a broad sense the new charter is not intended as "ripper" legislation, it is declared. Some offices now elective would be appointive, t incumbents would serve out their terms. Of honorary positions, there would be many additions. These offices would be appointive.

Wife Follows Mate Who Took Children

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. O. Frank Woodward, wife of the jelly manufacturer who seized their two children in Paris and brought them to this country, arrived from France last night on the French liner Ile de France, to attempt to regain custody of the children.

Monessen Mine Hits 400,997-Ton Mark

MRS. MORGAN ONLY FIRST OF SQUIRES FACING PROBE

Assistant District Attorney H. R. Phillips today is checking dockets and records subpenaed yesterday from the office of Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan as the first step in a county-wide investigation of methods employed by such officers.

"Our investigation had to start somewhere," declared Phillips, who interviewed Mrs. Morgan yesterday, "so we began with Mrs. Morgan.

"Our investigation will not be confined to Mrs. Morgan alone—we plan to call in other justices from time to time and go over their records."

This explanation cleared the air of mystery which veiled the subpena of Mrs. Morgan and exploded the possibility that she might have been called in connection with the John Borkoski murder investigation. Both Phillips and County Detective Chief George Murren gave the Sewickley "squire" a "clean bill of health" in this connection, assuring her that they did not hold her responsible in any way for either John Higgins' arrest or Borkoski's death.

Mrs. Morgan left her files of loose-leaf dockets in the district attorney's office and was assured that if anything came up that needed explanation she would be called again. Phillips criticized her for keeping loose-leaf dockets, but admitted later that the law did not specify bound volumes, although they have been generally used.

Mrs. Morgan explained that she used loose-leaf dockets because they were more practical for use in a filing system.

COAL COMPANY WON'T DROP POLICE

The fate of the coal and iron police is not worrying the Pittsburgh Coal Company, C. B. Lesher, executive vice president, said yesterday that his company felt confident that whatever legislation was passed the coal companies were "not going to be left unprotected or out on a limb."

A bill is being prepared by Gov. John S. Fisher and Attorney General Cyrus E. Woods which, it is said, will abolish the present system.

It would suit the coal companies if the state would take over the policing of their property, Lesher said, but he was confident that it would not because of the heavy expense involved.

The killing of John Borkoski, Santiago miner, is regarded as "an unfortunate incident" by his company, Lesher said, but not any reason why it should consider voluntary abolishment of the coal and iron police system.

Inquest Clears Girl In Death of Officer

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 27.—Constable Earl M. Widmyer, 30, who was found dead at the home of Dakotah White here February 18, came to his death from a bullet fired by a person unknown, a coroner's jury found yesterday after two days of evidence taking. Prosecuting Attorney Herbert E. Hannis said the state would take no further steps at this time.

Miss White, to whom Widmyer was attentive, was questioned at the inquest. She and members of the White household denied they knew Widmyer had come to the house the day he was found shot to death. Friends of Widmyer said he had been in financial difficulties and had threatened suicide

Robbery Suspected As Amnesia Cause

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The possibility that the woman amnesia victim who has identified herself as Mrs. Harriett Bailey, of Erie, Pa., had been a victim of robbery and that her lapse of memory was a result of her experience at the hands of thieves is being investigated by police.

Mrs. Bailey was in a hospital for two weeks. Mrs. G. E. Wader, with whom she lived in Erie, told police that Mrs. Bailey was wearing a diamond ring and a wedding ring when she left home three weeks ago to visit friends.

Genius of Balance, Statue Setter Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—A genius in the art of balance is dead. Emmett Lawrence, Negro, specialized in the moving and placing of marble statues. In 30 years he never broke one. George Gray Barnard, sculptor, described him as possessing an uncanny instinct of gravity. He could judge to the fraction of an inch whether a statue was set up straight.

Six Hurt as Five Cars Leave Rails

DESOTO, Miss., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Five cars of a southbound Mobile and Ohio passenger train were derailed here yesterday. Six persons were injured.

The cause of the accident was not determined. Three of the cars overturned but the engine and baggage car remained on the track.

Washington County To Beautify Roads

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 27.—V. M. Bearer, of Ligonier, state forester, was in conference with the tree committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce here with regard to plans for beautifying the important highways. Through the activity of the local body, 2,100 sugar maples have been planted along the Waynesburg-Washington route.

JUDGE IN ATOMIZER SUIT SEEKS 'SPRAY' IN FLORIDA

BEAVER, Pa., Feb. 27.—With the stage set for a hearing yesterday in the case of Judge William A. McConnell against a drug store to collect $1.65 for an atomizer the judge said didn't work, it was announced the judge had gone to Florida.

Justice of the Peace David Stewart postponed the hearing until the judge returns.

Judge McConnell purchased a spraying device from William Patton, clerk in the Bennett Drug Company's store, it is said, but later returned it and asked for his money back, calling attention to a written guarantee of the manufacturer.

A dispute arose, according to statements by Patton, and the latter informed the judge he couldn't make a settlement at once. Judge McConnell left the atomizer and later entered suit for the sum involved.

LOTTERY, RUM CHARGES MADE

Charges of conducting a lottery and of violation of the liquor laws were included in indictments returned by the grand jury yesterday.

Among those indicted on the lottery charge were the following: Allen Gatewood, 2603 Wylie avenue; Ben Irwin, 3237 Penn avenue; Robert Bentley, 64 Crawford street; Frank De Basi, 1241 Penn avenue; Joseph Currie, 1216 Bigelow boulevard; Charles A. Gabraiel, 99 Elm street; Odell Edwards, 68 Fullerton street; J. A. Fuhs, 247 Meyran avenue; W. L. Reinecker, Harry Halliday, Leo A. McCormick, Joseph Lauer, 823 Federal street; Charles Ross, 2603 Wylie avenue; Alexander Schwartz, Sixth and Wylie avenues; Meyer Schwartz, John Turner, Hergert Stewart, 518 Wylie avenue.

Those indicted for alleged violation of the liquor laws were: George Shaviska, Tony Siana, Peter Angelo, Bernard Loeffler, Mickey Meyers.

Drys Seize 3 Stills And 3 Cars, Arrest 7

In four raids yesterday, prohibition agents seized three automobiles and three stills and arrested seven persons. The prisoners and seizures reported were: John Stringi, of 852 Coast avenue, two automobiles and 24 gallons of liquor; Robert Gallema, Joe Solomon and Tony Camilla, Martin road, Fawn Township, 300-gallon still; Mary and Walter Preziokouicic, 5209 Columbo street, 100-gallon still; Sam Corse, 7312 Monticello street, automobile and 100-gallon still.

Congress Grinds Out 17,273 Bills In 2 Sessions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Members of the House have sent to date 17,273 bills on their way through the legislative machinery during the seventieth Congress.

During the first session 14,143 bills were introduced, and during the short session, which will end on March 4, 3,130 have been introduced.

Of this number only 2,716 have been reported by committees.

In addition to the bills, 342 House resolutions, 429 joint resolutions, and 59 concurrent resolutions have been introduced.

Kidnaped Boy, Gone Two Months, Found

ROSWELL, N. M., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—His big kidnaping adventure ended, 11-year-old Richard (Dickie) Grant, who had been missing from Los Angeles since three days before Christmas, today was bound for home and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Grant. Accompanied by two California officers and by Harry Palmer, charged with his kidnaping.

A two months' search for the boy by air and by foot over the Southwestern desert country, ended yesterday when he coasted on his roller skates into the arms of the California officers in front of the dingy shack in which he and Palmer lived here.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Seven paintings, attributed to old masters and which the owners in 1910 valued at $138,700, were sold at sheriff's sale yesterday for $9,550. The paintings at one time were owned by Arthur Philip Heinze, copper man. A portrait, attributed to Van Dyke, for which Heinze was reported to have paid $80,000, was sold for $2,950. Others were sold as the works of Gainsborough, Landseer, Romney, Bouguereau, Jules Breton and Denilly.

CHICAGO MAYOR WINS IN QUIET ELECTION

By GENE HOFFMAN,
International News Service.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Mayor William Hale Thompson's forces today remained in control of the City Council following yesterday's aldermanic election. The so-called "reform" faction won only a few seats.

Thompson

Leaders of the latter group blamed inclement weather for their poor showing.

Thompson's hardest blow was the loss of one of his floor leaders, although 33 aldermen who have supported his administration during the last two years were re-elected for another two years.

The election, to the surprise of many, went off quietly. To the police, however, the day of calm was no surprise. They were unusually well prepared for trouble and, in the words of Deputy Commissioner John Stege, "gangland knew it."

"The serpent knew that if it raised its head it would be knocked off," Stege said.

It was estimated that only about 50 per cent of the 1,340,729 qualified voters went to the polls. This compares with 80 per cent that cast their ballots in the last primary.

Six sitting aldermen were pushed overboard by the voters. Among them was Titus A. Haffa, under sentence of two years in Leavenworth prison and a fine of $11,000 for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Bootleggers Buy Huge Stock for Inaugural

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Bootleggers were on the run in Washington today.

They were running in several directions, chiefly in and out of the District of Columbia, bringing in rye, gin and alcohol, and going out after additional supplies that the unofficial and "undercover" celebration of the advent of Herbert Hoover's administration may not be wanting in gayety.

Some of the bootleggers were running from the police and federal enforcement officers, who have been unusually active in the last week in an effort to dry up the capital for the inauguration.

CHARTER DAY AT PITT

Charter day and mid-year commencement will be observed tomorrow at the University of Pittsburgh. This is the annual celebration of the founding of the university 141 years ago.

Commencement exercises will be held in Memorial Hall at 11:30 o'clock at which degrees will be conferred on mid-year graduates. The Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty will make the commencement address.

The celebration will close with a dinner tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the William Penn Hotel.

VOTE MACHINE ACTION FACES DELAYS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—There is little likelihood of any voting machine bill being reported from the Senate Elections Committee for several weeks.

Senator Albert Davis, Scranton, chairman of that body and author of one of the bills, declared today that he does not intend to call a meeting of the committee next week. Senator Frank J. Harris, Pittsburgh, sponsor of the other voting machine bill, stated that, beginning next Tuesday, he will demand a meeting every day until action is taken on the bills.

The Legislature adjourned today without settling any of the major problems confronting the members.

Gov. Fisher today reiterated his former statements that the matter of additional revenue is one for the Legislature to decide and that he and other leaders have made no agreement on the four-cent gasoline tax.

One project which should be put through and for which additional funds are needed, the governor said, is the improvement of the Lincoln highway just east of Pittsburgh. At present the route is congested and engineers are making a survey in order to arrive at a plan to relieve the situation.

The question of revenue is linked with that of salary raises, the governor added, stating that he intended to request Joseph C. Marcus to withdraw his bill boosting the pay of the assistant district attorneys of Allegheny county for the time being at least.

The Legislature will reconvene at noon Tuesday.

Bill Aims at Liquor Cheating Officials

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Senator Buckman, Bucks, today introduced a bill in the Senate under which it would be unlawful for the state or any municipality in the state to pay wages to any employe or official who, during his term of office, would be convicted of violation of liquor laws.

Despondent, Farmer Kills Self With Gun

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—William H. J. Moore, 72, a farmer of Hempfield Township, near here, killed himself by firing a shotgun charge into his head. Moore is said to have been despondent because of ill health.

Sad Burglars Find Too Much Money To Carry Off

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 27.—Burglars who plundered the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Gum, at Hodgesville, found so much money in the house they couldn't carry it all away.

That was because the Gums had long been saving half dollars and had two shoe boxes filled with them in a bureau drawer. The marauders tried carrying them, but gave it up as too heavy.

Taking a few for change, they walked out with $150 in currency found in a pocketbook, but left the silver, which amount to much more than that.

TORCH MURDER SUSPECT HELD

CRANFORD, N. J., Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Although police were guarding a third woman who told of an attack by the "torch" murderer, they were no nearer a solution of the killing and burning of an unidentified woman on the highway near here early Saturday.

A man who was questioned had taken a woman driving Friday night, it was learned at his garage, and had not brought the car back. The suspect, whose name is withheld, said he took the woman home and spent the rest of the night in a Plainfield drug store. He was released only to be rearrested when the druggist declared no one corresponding to the suspect was in his store Friday night.

A woman whose home police are guarding, told them of an attack by a man of short acquaintance similar to those which resulted in the death of Margaret Brown, near Bernardsville, a year ago, and the unidentified woman Saturday. This strengthened police belief that the same man committed both "torch" murders.

Fund Raised for New Nobile Party Search

ROME, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Italians who believe that it still is possible to find some trace of and perhaps even to rescue the six men who drifted away with the balloon part of the Nobile dirigible Italia, are attempting to raise funds for a new Arctic expedition next summer.

They would lease either the Hobby or Braganza, ice breakers which played a prominent part in the search last year, and expect the loan of a seaplane from the Italian government.

WHOLE OF 28TH TO ENCAMP AS UNIT

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The most ambitious martial centralization of the nation since the World War will be effected by the Pennsylvania National Guard next summer, it became known today with announcement of the encampment dates of the militia by Adjt. Gen. Frank D. Beary.

For field training the entire Twenty-eighth Division will be encamped at the Mt. Gretna military reservation July 13 to 20. It will be the first time that the division has been collected as a unit.

10,000 IN CAMP

About 10,000 soldiers, comprising five-sixths of the total personnel of the Pennsylvania guard, will be encamped during the one week. Seven units, including the state's two infantry brigades, will encamp at Mt. Gretna, while the Twenty-eighth Division Air Corps will be stationed at the Army air depot at Middletown. The aviation unit will maneuver with the rest of the division during the week.

The dates for the various encampments are:

July 6 to 20—Fifty-fifth Infantry Brigade, Fifty-third Artillery Brigade, Twenty-eighth Division special trains and division train, at Mt Gretna.

July 13 to 27.—Fifty-sixth Infantry Brigade, One Hundred and Third Engineers and the One Hundred and Third Medical Regiment, at Mt Gretna; Air Corps at Middletown.

July 27 to August 10—Fifty-second Cavalry Brigade, at Mt. Gretna.

August 17 to 31—Two Hundred and Thirteenth Coast Artillery (anti-aircraft), at Bethany Beach, Del.

FIRST DELAWARE CAMP

The two separate field artillery units, the coast artillery and the cavalry units are attached troops and are not considered part of the division.

Bethany Beach is a new development by the War Department for training of anti-aircraft units and the Pennsylvania unit will take its first training there this year.

Group of Rare Coins Presented to Pitt

Two "fugio" one-cent pieces, coined in 1787, five years before the United States mint opened, and four other rare coins have been presented to the University of Pittsburgh by George H. Clapp, president of the board of trustees. They are to be placed in the Cathedral of Learning. The "fugio" coins bear the legend, "Mind Your Own Business," attributed to Benjamin Franklin.

Buddhists May Build U. S. 'Tower of Babel'

PARIS, Feb. 27. — (INS.) — A "Tower of Babel," designed to become the world center of Buddhism, may soon be erected in New York or Chicago, it was learned today.

Five hundred followers of Buddha will be called upon to contribute to its construction. Already millions of francs are said to have been collected for the gigantic skyscraper temple.

Wills Books, Botany Collection to Kin

To his brothers, Charles F. Alker and M. Edward Alker are given his library and botanical specimens by Frank R. Alker, of 951 Ringgold street and his $6,000 estate is left to eight brothers and sisters, including Edward, and Charles, who was named executor in the will which was filed for probate today.

Seldom Seen Wants Traffic Facilities

Council has asked the City Planning Commission to recommend traffic connections from Seldom Seen to Woodruff avenue or the proposed Saw Mill Run highway. Residents of that community now have no means of ingress or egress, according to a letter forwarded to Council by George W. Peacock, 56 Wabash avenue.

"SNIPER" SHOOTS UP HOMES, WOMAN SERIOUSLY HURT

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Authorities here today were searching for a "sniper" who last night fired at two women through windows of their homes, hitting one.

The wounded woman is Mrs. Michael O'Connor, 60, who was struck as she sat at a window of her Pomona avenue home by a bullet that pierced her right lung. Physicians at the Meadville Hospital said her condition was critical today.

Another bullet crashed through a bathroom window in the home of Joseph Pazeyk in Linden street. It embedded itself in a wall after passing within a few inches of the head of Pazeyk's daughter, Josephine.

Both bullets apparently were fired from a .22 caliber rifle, and police believed that each could have been fired from the public square. They were considering the possibility that the shots had been fired from a moving auto.

One clue suggested was that the shots had been the work of a disgruntled man who had attempted to get work on a section gang of which Pazyek was boss. But police admitted this did not explain the shooting of Mrs. O'Connor.

U. S. WILL PROBE ITS OWN DOPE FEE POLICY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Federal investigation into the government's own vicious practice of "compromising" for cash, violations of the Harrison Narcotic act, which was exposed by the Examiner, will be launched Friday by the Federal grand jury.

Calls for more than 20 witnesses to appear on that day before the inquisitorial body were sent out yesterday with the announcement that the government is determined to strike at the very heart of the system which permits druggists and physicians to escape prosecution for promiscuous sales of narcotics.

At the same time, members of the narcotic division of the Los Angeles County Medical Association called a meeting in the city health offices to begin consideration of more drastic supervision of the 46 "medical cases," who weekly appear before city health officers for doles of drugs.

Local authorities also declared that they would immediately launch a new policy of dealing with these known drug addicts—many of whom, of course, are entitled to the narcotics because of incurable diseases—and that they will be fingerprinted and taken before a competent group of physicians for re-examination to determine the exact extent of their ailments.

City and county authorities joined with state and Federal forces in an effort to control narcotic distribution and against the "compromise" system.

Canadians Vote Lash For Sellers of Dope

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The addition of the lash to penalties for trafficking in drugs was approved yesterday by the special committee of the House of Commons which is considering amendments to the opium and narcotic drug act. Some members were reluctant to accept the proposal, believing it to be degrading to the government as well as to the criminal. The amendment was passed on division.

Dr. P. J. Howden, Liberal, St. Boniface, chairman of the committee, declared that a drug trafficker was worse than a murderer.

Auto Hits Fire Plug, Floods East Liberty

A large section of East Liberty went wet this morning when an automobile struck and dislodged a fire plug at Penn avenue and Station street. City workers were sent to stop the flood which followed, and police arrested Thomas J. Widner, of Elmore road, Edgewood, as the offending driver. He was charged with reckless driving.

DEADLY DRUGS AVAILABLE FOR ASKING, PROBERS FIND

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Searching investigations by the State Board of Pharmacy and the Board of Medical Examiners of conditions disclosed by the Los Angeles Examiner show that deadly habit-forming drugs may be had in Los Angeles almost for the asking.

Inspectors for the two state boards began their work with an inquiry into prescriptions written by Dr. A. F. Speicher.

Frank Olea, a peddler, confessed he had obtained prescriptions for morphine from Dr. Speicher by posing as an asthma sufferer.

GIRL'S RUSE STARTS PROBE

How "Miss Lucile Bland," an Examiner operative, obtained another prescription under a similar ruse was related Monday in the Examiner's story which started the state's probe of Dr. Speicher's activities.

That "Miss Bland" does not have bronchial asthma or any other treatable chest disease was certified to by Dr. Harry Cohn, director of the division of tuberculosis of the city health department.

Equipped with voluminous records of prescriptions issued by Dr. Speicher, Inspectors William A. Byrne, of the state board of medical examiners, and William B. Luckenbach and R. H. Dundas, of the state narcotic division, were engaged in checking them.

Investigation of 11 prescriptions, issued by Dr. Speicher to C. H. Mitchell, 859 West Sixty-first street, from September 27, 1928, to November 17, disclosed that no such person resided at that address.

ARRESTED AS PEDDLER

Three other prescriptions were issued to Mark Ruiz, 322 North Hope street, from January 11 to February 17 of this year. Ruiz was arrested on February 21 as Frank Olea and jailed as a narcotic peddler.

Dr. Speicher never personally verified the addresses given him by alleged "asthma sufferers," he declared, and had no means of ascertaining whether they lied about their addresses.

Defending his action in issuing a prescription to "Miss Bland," while Dr. Cohn's examination showed her to be not suffering from asthma, Dr. Speicher declared it was not unusual for physicians to differ in their diagnosis.

Under the present laws, he said, it would be a simple matter for any one to obtain large quantities of narcotics by visiting various physicians and giving a different name in each case.

EXAMINATIONS DENOUNCED

Perfunctory methods of examination used by some physicians when patients apply for narcotics were denounced yesterday by Dr. E. L. Commons, chairman of the narcotic committee of the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

City Garage Gets Watchman

Council has affirmed an ordinance creating jobs for three watchmen at $5 a day for the municipal garage and repair shop, old Exposition Building.

Fund to Combat Dope Increased By Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—While the La Guardia-Wheeler narcotics investigation resolution is being held up in the House Rules Committee, the Senate Appropriations Committee has struck a blow at the dope traffic by authorizing an additional $200,000 for enforcement of the drug laws. The money, attached to the second deficiency bill, was authorized yesterday. Of the amount, $100,000 will be to buy evidence to convict dope peddlers and $100,000 for employment of 40 additional narcotic agents.

The fate of the resolution for a thoroughgoing congressional survey of the narcotic traffic lies in the hands of Representative Snell, Republican, of New York, chairman of the Rules Committee. The Senate has already unanimously approved the inquiry.

That the resolution will have easy sledding if it is reported by the Rules Committee was indicated by Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, who said, "I do not think there will be any great trouble passing the resolution if it is reported."

Driverless Car Runs Into Barber's Shop

It was a close shave for Alex Cowan.

His car ran wild early today in Perrysville avenue and crashed into a barber shop at 3915 Perrysville avenue, damaging the shop slightly. Cowan, who lives at 1831 Beaver avenue, was not in the car, which he had parked in front of 3918 Beaver avenue. The brakes, apparently, let go.

2 Suspects Jailed In Garage Robbery

William Dean, 18, of Fort Pitt, charged with larceny, and Joseph Evans, 23, of Glendale, charged with receiving stolen goods, were lodged in the county jail today after a hearing before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie. Carnegie police alleged Dean stole a battery from the garage of B. Eisenberg, Third avenue, Carnegie, and sold it to Evans.

Railroad mergers were discussed by Howard C. Kidd, of the University of Pittsburgh, before Credo Club of the Credit Association of Western Pennsylvania at their weekly meeting in the club rooms of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon.

MURDER PROBE REPORT ASKED OF POLICE

Council has asked the Safety Department for a report on efforts to capture the murderers of George A Faber, Jr., who was fatally shot on primary election day in 1927 as he was leaving a store at 2201 Penn avenue. Council also asked what co-operation had been received from county authorities.

Council's action was prompted by a letter from W. T. Marron asking that the case be reopened. He alleged Faber was shot down by gangsters who took part in disturbances incident to the election of a constable in the Second Ward.

Marron expressed the belief that Faber was mistaken for a political enemy of one of the rival factions.

Johnstown Mayor Faces New Charge

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 27.—An additional information has been made against Mayor Joseph Cauffiel and Jonathan Rager, charging them with conspiracy and maintaining a gambling house. County Detective G. E. Whited is the prosecutor. The men waived a preliminary hearing and posted $2,000 bail each for court. Prior informations had charged that Cauffiel had received thousands of dollars from Rager for "protection."

CITY STABLES MAY GO

Council has asked the Bureau of Highways and Sewers to report on the advisability of abandoning city stables on Citadel street, which have become a public nuisance.

The bureau was asked to report on the number of horses in the Citadel street stables and whether the animals could be moved to other quarters.

Executives of the Bollman estate have complained to Council that the stables prevent the renting of houses in the neighborhood.

NEW BRIGHTON CLUB GETS HONOR POST IN INAUGURAL

The New Brighton Lincoln Club, organized when Garfield was running for President, will be the official Western Pennsylvania delegation in the Hoover inaugural parade.

Many other unofficial parties will leave here in special trains and cars for the ceremony. Islam Grotto, a Mason's organization, has chartered a special 12-car train which will leave here Saturday night, returning Tuesday morning. About 200 members will make the trip.

MARCH BEHIND GOVERNOR

To the Lincoln club has been assigned the position directly behind Gov. John S. Fisher's party. The organization, 200 strong, will be preceded by a 100-piece band and will be followed by the Philadelphia delegation. The marchers will be dressed in uniform black overcoats, high silk hats, black neckties, white silk gloves and pearl gray spats. Each marcher will wear a white carnation and carry a red, white and blue umbrella.

Burgess J. E. Boyle will lead the delegation.

AMERICUS MISSING

For the first time in 40 years a Republican presidential inaugural will be held without the Americus Republican Club of Pittsburgh. The club, organized in 1884, first participated in the parade at the inauguration of Benjamin Harrison in 1889, and made its last trip to Washington on March 4, 1925, but as no parade was sanctioned by President Coolidge, the club members were merely onlookers. The club disbanded in 1926.

Numerous tentative reservations have been made with the railroad companies by individuals and groups planning to attend the inauguration. Many who have already left the city for Florida to attend the Stribling-Sharkey fight are planning to stop off at Washington on the return trip.

SCHOOL BAND MAY GO

The Langley High School Band has planned to take part in the parade, but there is now some doubt whether City Council will finance the trip.

Robert Garland, chairman of the Finance Committee of Council, and N. R. Criss, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Public Education, will confer today on a joint appropriation for this purpose.

SULLIVAN TRIP LATER

Plans for a large delegation from Congressman-elect Patrick J. Sullivan's district to attend the inauguration have been changed.

When it was thought that Sullivan would be sworn in after the inauguration, each of the 12 wards in the Thirty-fourth congressional district was going to have at least one car in a special train. But Sullivan will not be sworn in until either the special session of Congress expected in April, or the regular session, and the trip has been deferred until then.

Police and Fire War Vets to Hold Dance

Mayor Charles H. Kline and County Controller Robert G. Woodside will speak at a gathering of Police and Firemen's Post No. 303, Veterans of Foreign Wars, tomorrow night in Moose Temple, Penn avenue. Woodside is past national commander. A musical and dance program has been arranged. Traffic Officer David Walsh is commander of the post, which is composed of city policemen and firemen who have served outside the country in military forces. The affair inaugurates a membership drive.

Welfare Delegate Plea Up to Kline

Mayor Charles H. Kline will receive today from Council an inquiry as to his attitude on a request from Mrs. Enoch Rauh, welfare director, for permission to send her assistant, Mrs. Isabella B. Darragh, to represent the city at the National Conference of Social Workers in San Francisco during the week of June 26.

RETIRED METHODIST MINISTER FINDS DRY LAW FAILURE

AUDS HEARST TEMPERANCE CONTEST

The Rev. Carl Scheben, 811 Monouth street, Newport, Ky., forerly a clergyman of the Methist Episcopal Church, contribes his views to the Hearst $25,000 mperance prize contest, not as n entrant, but in protest against ohibition.

The retired minister says:

"Like thousands of other Americans, I thank Mr. Hearst or his initiation of this really American program to find an aceptable temperance substitute for the intemperance, social and egal, which marks 'prohibition.'

"I approach the subject from an impartial viewpoint, because for many years my father was a wholesale liquor dealer, although I became a minister of the Methodist Episcopal faith."

After indicating that he is not n sympathy with the more exeme views of some of the Methdist clergy on prohibition, Mr. cheben goes on to say:

"The day dreams of the promoters of prohibition have been shattered. They righteously intended to stop intoxication, reduce crime, and purge politics by enacting the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act!

"So far as the legal machinery goes, they did their best to obtain these results. Sad to relate, crime is ever increasing, as are violations of the Volstead Act. Politics has not been purged, as the bootlegger is a powerful factor in politics. Men and women still drink. God alone knows how much they drink and what they drink.

"Millions of citizens originally were never in favor of this 10-year-old law. We were engaged in the World War, and the public mind was naturally not concentrated upon the wet and dry issue. And in that psychological moment the drys, through the Anti-Saloon League and allied organizations, put it over and sewed up the American people in a legislative enactment which has caused resentment on the part of some of the states and may even cause grave difficulty with other nations in the future.

"Thus the drys almost abandoned their policy of education and the teaching of true temperance, which would permit drinking with moderation, to use force.

'Forbidden Fruits'

"It is not good psychology to prohibit something when the forbidden article can be obtained from so many sources. Experience proves that we can educate in matters of eating and drinking, but we cannot legislate that kind of conduct. Ever since the days of Adam, forbidden fruits have been attractive.

"I formerly believed that you could make people stop drinking, if not for their own good, for the welfare of a weaker brother, but now I find that the presence of this law makes it almost impossible to reach the addict of strong drink. For some time I have been interested in religious work in prisons and I have observed that just as soon as you allude to abstaining from drink, you close the door of opportunity to reach the great majority of prisoners.

"There is conflict between congressional districts and national policy. There are a number of these districts which are not in favor of prohibition enforcement, and if the congressman expresses himself to the effect that he will do his utmost to obtain enforcement, without doubt he will lose his seat in Congress at the next election. What should this congressman do? Naturally, he tries to square himself with the people and also respect the dry law in effect, a really difficult and almost impossible task.

"Tradition is more deep-seated in the mind of the average man than a recently-made law. The majority of our urban population in the United States are possessed of that ingrained tradition that there is no harm in moderate drinking of wines and beers. Even the drys admit there is no harm in moderate drinking. Even if this large class of citizens are now breaking the dry law, they cannot be classified with other types of criminals, for, if we do this, we encourage them to violate other laws.

"The widespread impression that prohibition has caused our present prosperity is false. Higher wages came during the World War. Increased production, which maintained high wages after the war, came through piece work systems, bonus and efficiency programs in the industrial plants.

"Strange but true, every other country that has adopted prohibition has modified or obliterated it after a few years, and history will fail to repeat itself if we do not do the same as those countries whose judgment has proved wise. May the Hearst temperance prize contest find a way to bring it about."

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

O. K. ON MORGUE SITE SOUGHT OF JURY

The first official action by the county toward acquisition of a new site for the morgue building was taken today when County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich presented to the February grand jury a petition seeking approval of condemnation proceedings on the Press Club property, the Wilson property and the Dr. Austin M. Edwards property in Fourth avenue near Ross street. Approval also is needed from the March grand jury and the Court of Quarter Sessions.

The County Commissioners plan to have the morgue building moved to this new site and to have built, on the morgue site, the new county office building.

EDEBURN OUT FOR SHERIFF

Clyde S. Edeburn, veteran chief of city detectives who resigned last May on pension, yesterday announced his candidacy for sheriff of Allegheny County.

Edeburn lives in the Twenty-fifth Ward, the old Second Ward of Allegheny. He started his career as a detective 22 years ago in Allegheny and later became inspector of detectives in Pittsburgh. He resigned his post last May to assume duties with a downtown department store.

Edeburn, who always has been a Republican, announced he was running as an independent.

Weather Conditions.

A trough of low pressure extends from the lakes southward along the Atlantic coast and thence southwestward to the western gulf, with centers over the St. Lawrence valley, 29.60 inches, at Montreal, and at Corpus Christi, Tex., 29.72. Heavy rains accompanied the southern center: at New Orleans, 3.28 inches; Montgomery, 5.12; Atlanta, 2.62, and at Raleigh, 1.50.

Relatively high pressure covers the Middle Mississippi and the Ohio valleys and southern Plains states, while another low, central at Medicine Hat, 29.72, is developing as far south as Colorado. High pressure overlies the Pacific Coast states.

Yale men decide which is best cigarette

OLD GOLD CIGARETTES WIN FIRST IN TESTS AT YALE

In the recent cigarette test made at the University, Old Golds were chosen by the students as the best. Instead of blindfolding the individual as has been done in the past the cigarettes were masked by black labels attached to each cigarette so that the name of the brand was concealed. Each label was numbered. This was judged to be the most sporting way of testing the merits of the four leading brands. Some 208 Yale students were supplied with samples of each cigarette and were asked to smoke and compare the four disguised brands without knowing their identity.

They were merely to choose, by number, the one that was the most appealing to the taste.

The NEWS supervised the test on January 18 at various fraternity houses and in the NEWS office.

When the votes were recorded it was discovered that OLD GOLD (Cigarette No. 3) had won. It received more votes than any other brand. Old Gold was given 63 first choices, which was 11 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 2, 34 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 1, and 53 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 4.

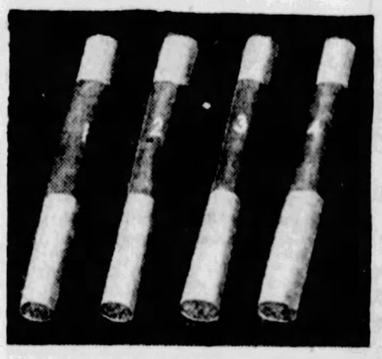
HARKNESS QUADRANGLE, where many of the upper classmen live, who took part in the test.



"Masked" to conceal their brand names, the four leading cigarette brands . . . OLD GOLD, winner of the test, is cigarette No. 3.

WHY? What is it that makes so many smokers like OLD GOLD best? Heart-leaf quality . . . that's the answer. The tenderest and silkiest tobaccos that Nature grows . . . chosen from the heart of the plant . . . then mellowed to honey-like smoothness. That's why there's "not a cough in a carload."

The First Hot Breakfast ever irradiated with Ultra-Violet Rays

Quaker Farina given bone-building "health effect" of sunlight which children need

Plenty of sunshine brings happiness!

YOU'VE heard of sunshine's power to speed children's growth. To build bones and muscle in little bodies. But do you know why sunlight has this power? And that now a scientist has imparted it to a good hot breakfast food, Quaker Farina, which you can give your children to eat?

Vitamin "D," scientists call the secret of sunlight's friendly rays. This vitamin enables the body to build strong bones and teeth. Children who get it are usually well developed physically. Their appetites are good.

But "sun starvation" is common. 90% of children in cities, say authorities, suffer from it. Children who lack Vitamin "D" show it by undeveloped bones. They don't eat; they are "always having colds." Thus authorities hail with joy a new source of the "sun vitamin." Irradiated Quaker Farina is its name.

Irradiated Quaker Farina is simply this famous hot breakfast food made to contain Vitamin "D" by Ultra-Violet Rays, under the Steenbock Process. This Vitamin "D" it can pass on to you. You can buy it at your grocer's—and start your children getting their "sun ration" tomorrow morning!

Quaker Farina is the creamy white heart of the wheat. Of fine flavor, it is quick and easy to digest. And now it contains a health quality no other hot breakfast food can claim! The price remains the same. NOTE: All Quaker Farina is irradiated although some packages are not so marked.

JACKSON, PERRY, FLINN SHARE HIGHWAY HONORS

Shall Western Pennsylvania's main north and south highway be named for Stonewall Jackson, Oliver Hazard Perry or William Flinn?

The West Virginia Legislature in a bill naming United State route No. 19 the "Stonewall Jackson Highway" is asking other states through which the route passes to adopt the same name.

But the section of route No. 19 in Pennsylvania between the West Virginia state line and Pittsburgh is known as the William Flinn Highway, having been so named in honor of the late senator by proclamation of Gov. Pinchot in 1926. Between Pittsburgh and Erie, No. 19 has enjoyed the name of the Perry Highway for 12 years.

The Pennsylvania State Highway Department and the local motor clubs hold aloof from the controversy since they advocate the national numbering system exclusively.

The West Virginians selected the Jackson name for No. 19 because it passes the famous Confederate leader's birthplace near Clarksburg, W. Va.

Virginia, North Carolina and other Southern states were not slow in signifying their intention to adopt the name. The route terminates in Tallahassee, Fla.

Knocked from Pole, Lineman Is Drowned

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 27. — William Burkhardt, 35, lineman of the Ohio Power Company, was knocked from a pole on which he was working into the flood waters of Wheeling Creek and drowned yesterday. The body was washed into the Ohio River

Do You Feel This Badly

Yes, he is headachy, and bilious, and gassy and sour both in stomach and mind, chuck full of poisonous acids that no human body could stand. A sad picture of what happens to men, women and children, who are suffering from poisonous acid stomach conditions leading up to chronic dyspepsia.

ACIDINE, the wonderful new discovery, stops all these conditions, relieves indigestion, colds and rheumatism caused by acids, and sleeplessness due to gas. Chronic dyspeptics, as well as those who over-indulge in food or drink, find ACIDINE with its sure, swift, safe relief almost priceless to them. Containing the newest and best combination of digestants and anti-acids, ACIDINE is unequalled in its effectiveness. Your druggist has it, or write Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

CITY, RAILWAYS PARLEY SET

Council will confer tomorrow morning with officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in an effort to reach an agreement on a pending ordinance granting the company permission to lay tracks on Irvine street between Greenfield and Hazelwood avenues.

Irvine street is being cut along the hillside, and when completed will be used as a substitute for Second avenue. The railways company is expected to abandon its tracks on Second avenue at a considerable reduction in operating expense and accident hazards.

The city is asking the railways company to furnish $47,000 to pave the street car area of Irvine street in addition to the $200,000 supplied by the company for paving its area throughout the city.

The pending ordinance provides for a perpetual franchise for Irvine street, and it is expected Council will write in a time limit.

CODE TO GOVERN AVIATION PUT BEFORE LEGISLATURE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Three bills to govern aviation in Pennsylvania were introduced yesterday by Representative Elwood Turner, Delaware county, who last year was father of the bill establishing the State Aeronautics Commission.

The bills briefly provide:

The aeronautics commission is given power to license privately-owned as well as municipal airports, and licensing power over craft, pilots, beacons and other accessories of aviation.

Civic airways across the state and emergency landing fields would be established and marked.

A resolution calls for submission to the voters of a constitutional amendment for a $15,000,000 bond issue for this purpose. The proposal would have to be approved by the 1931 Legislature, as well as the present General Assembly, to become effective.

TAXI PILOTING LIMITED

Only two classes of pilots, transport and limited commercial, are permitted to carry passengers for hire. At present private and industrial pilots also have this privilege.

Municipalities of all kinds are authorized to buy or lease and operate air fields of all kinds within or without their corporate limits, and may rent such facilities to the state or federal government at nominal sums.

The bills were presented with approval of Gov. Fisher, the aeronautics commission and the Public Service Commission. They were drafted by Deputy Attorney General Thomas G. Taylor. If enacted the bills will replace all laws now on the statute books governing aviation in Pennsylvania.

Dinner Dance Held By A. & P. Employes

Employes of the East Liberty and Pittsburgh warehouses of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company held their third annual dinner dance last night in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel. The committee in charge included Mary Whalen, chairman; Bessie Robertson, Josephine Gorman, Helen McLaughlin, Jolan Nagy, N. Pemberton and J. Hirsch.

SEVENTH AVE. WIDENING COST ASKED BY COUNCIL

Council has asked the Department of Public Works for an estimate of the cost of the physical work of widening Seventh avenue to 80 feet between Grant street and William Penn way.

The area required for the widening would be taken from the side of the street opposite the Koppers Building.

While the project might be delayed for the immediate future, Council is anxious to pass legislation for the new line of Seventh avenue to remove legal obstacles in the path of a proposed skyscraper.

Property damages incident to the proposed widening were estimated at $70,000 net.

Railroad to Begin Bridge at Oil City

OIL CITY, Pa., Feb. 27.—Actual construction work on the new $1,000,000 Pennsylvania Railroad bridge across the Allegheny River at Oil City, will be under way before May 1, according to officials of the railroad. A group of engineers this week started the preliminary work.

A clear skin is irresistible

. . . in fact, popularity depends upon it

THAT priceless treasure—a clear, flawless, lovely skin—charms, with admiration, the hearts of men.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red-blood cells.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

MAN, WIFE HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Robert H. Everitt and his wife, Irene Everitt, of Nutley, N. J., under indictment in Federal District Court here for alleged conspiracy to violate the national motor vehicle act by transportation of stolen automobiles in interstate commerce, surrendered yesterday to Federal authorities in Newark, N. J. They were released under $5,000 bond each for their appearance for trial in Pittsburgh, according to word received at the office of the district attorney.

The couple, with several others, were indicted March 3, 1927, and evaded arrest until located by special agents of the Department of Justice. Machines involved in the case were alleged to have been stolen in New York and sold in Western Pennsylvania. Forged and fictitious bills of sale were said to have been used.

Ban on Street Sales Is Ordered Enforced

Safety Director James M. Clark will receive today from Council a request for the enforcement of an existing ordinance prohibiting the use of streets for the sale of goods. Officials of the Business Men's Association of the East North Side and the Chamber of Commerce have complained that the ordinance is being ignored.

"KONJOLA RESTORED MY HEALTH," SAYS PITTSBURGH LADY

States That One Bottle of Famous Medicine Gave Splendid Relief From Nervous Indigestion.

What a world of hope and cheer there is for all who suffer and who would be well again, in the countless indorsements from men and women who have found their first and only relief in this new medicine, Konjola. The files of this modern medicine fairly overflow with the glad statements of those freed from the clutches of stomach trouble, weakened kidneys, sluggish liver, constipation or rheumatism, neuritis or nervousness. Konjola is not a medicine of promises, claims or theories—but is a medicine that brings results and accomplishments — it strengthens and invigorates the ailing organs—preparing the system for the ever-welcome tenant, new, glorious and lasting health. What Konjola has done, is doing and will do for you, is being explained daily, by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch, Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily. It was his happy experience to hear the grateful statement of Miss Betty Craemer, 111 Burr street, Mt. Oliver Station, Pittsburgh, who had a most remarkable restoration to health through the use of Konjola. Miss Craemer recently said to the Konjola Man:

MISS BETTY CRAEMER

"Konjola restored my health after all other medicines and treatments failed. If I had not had actual experience with Konjola I would not have believed that a single medicine could work such wonders. To begin with I had a nervous disorder of my stomach that caused gas and all of its evils. Whenever I ate anything heavy, bits of the food rose into my throat, leaving a very sour taste. From this condition my disposition became irritable and unruly. I had little hope that anything would help me because I tried several medicines and failed to find one that benefited me.

"I had been reading and hearing so much about the amazing accomplishments of Konjola that I went to the Konjola Man to find out about this medicine. He merely told me what it had done in cases similar to mine and pointed out wherein Konjola gave wonderful relief in even more chronic cases. With renewed hope I started the treatment It seemed to me that from the very first dose a radical change took place. The gas bloating disappeared and the fermentation ceased. I realized that Konjola contained real merit and wouldn't think of missing a dose. I took two bottles in all and can safely say now, that I am free of all terrors of nervous indigestion. My disposition is better and all signs of nervousness are ended. I have heard that Konjola is called the medicine with more than a million friends. Well, all that I can say is that it deserves fifty millions."

Upon such cases does Konjola rest its foundation of success. Not only does Konjola bring glorious relief from the most stubborn cases but in most every instance the benefits are lasting and sure. It is said that no sufferer can afford not to give Konjola a chance.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch, Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine. Free samples given.

MIAMI FIGHT BROADCAST HEADS RADIO ATTRACTIONS

CRUMIT, LITTLE, RAPEE AND GLADYS RICE ON AIR

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

JACK LITTLE, Frank Crumit, Erno Rapee, Gladys Rice and two "mike shy" artists—Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling—will furnish tonight's entertainment.

Graham McNamee wasn't kidding us a week ago when he intimated that he would cover the Sharkey-Stribling go, although at that time the promoters had "definitely announced" there would be no broadcast. Pittsburghers had the first inkling the fight would go on the air when they read McNamee's personally signed article in last Sunday's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. He said he had kept the "twenty-seventh open in anticipation of the fight broadcast."

McNamee will be assisted at the ringside by Bill Munday, the WSB sports announcer.

KDKA will take the preliminaries and the main bout, starting at 9:30 p. m., while WCAE will have the main bout only at 10 o'clock.

Gladys Rice, soprano, whose local friends are legion, will sing "Land of the Sky Blue Water" during the Mobiloil Hour over KDKA at 8. Erno Rapee will lead an augmented orchestra of 50 pieces in "Southern Rhapsody."

The joy-boy of radio vaudeville—Frank Crumit—is scheduled to be master of ceremonies on the LaPalina concert, WJAS, at 9:30. He will sing the second version of the "Gay Caballero."

Attractions outside the city are very numerous. Jack Little, who never has been known to follow a routine program, will give bits of this and that over WLW at 7:15. Jack sent us into a tail-spin the other night with his "Whoopee Song."

Jugoslav melodies, old and new, will be offered by a Tamboritza Orchestra from WLS at 8:30.

"MARRIAGE OF FIGARO."

This comedy, with its merry plot and music, is a delightfully melodious one, and one containing a succession of musical gems.
The characters are the same as in the "Barber of Seville." In this opera Count Almaviva has settled down on his estates, while Figaro, as a reward for his services as a matchmaker, has been appointed major-domo of the castle. Figaro's love affairs and the complications ensuing therefrom form both the comic relief and the plot of the opera.

The Health of Congressmen
IS BEING SAFEGUARDED

Congress has ordered three "sun lamps" that extract actinic rays from electric lights and are almost as good as the sun's rays. Water itself is no more important to health than the sun's rays.

From Sun-Telegraph Editorial, Feb. 26, 1929.

The Pittsburgh Natatorium offers both of these health givers. Come in and convince yourself of the effectiveness of these wonderful indoor sun treatments. Efficient, courteous service awaits you.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

LARRY LOCHINVAR

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

THE Vandeveers thought they had suffered annoyance enough from the idiosyncracies of their son Lawrence without being called upon to accept a struggling, penniless young doctor as their daughter Patricia's future husband.

They held a family conclave over matter in the library.

"You, with your chances, Patty, to pick out a man with no family in back of him and not a cent to his name!" groaned her mother.

"How can you fail us, Pat, knowing all we have endured with your brother?" reproached her father.

"I love him," said Patricia simply, as if this reason offered explanation enough. "Besides, some day Jim will be—"

But just what prophecy born of loving young faith and optimism she was about to utter they never learned, for, at that very instant, the telephone rang and Patricia, her eyes radiant, flew to answer it.

Her parents exchanged bitter glances. This unwelcome young doctor they had been discussing was forever calling their daughter on the telephone and bringing to those lovely eyes of hers that happy gleam they hated to quench and could not, being what they were, encourage.

Then as Patty's words reached them from the hall, their expression changed to bewilderment.

"Who?"

"Not really!"

"Where? Wyoming?"

"Of course. Hustle!"

She burst into the room. "Mother—Dad! It's Larry. Down at the station, just in from Wyoming!" and out she dashed again to see that Larry's old room was ready for him.

So Larry was back again. The bad penny had returned. Not for long, probably. Certainly not to settle down and learn the brokerage business as his father had begged him to do the day he flunked out of college. No, Larry had come back before and from past experiences the Vandeveers could visualize the next few weeks.

Shabby, dead broke, casual, he would arrive. There would be a week or two of having him around, smoking endless cigarets, filling Patty with tales of wild adventure one-half of which were probably not true. Then restlessness would seize him and off he would go again to Trinidad or Texas or Timbuctoo with a new stake won from a reluctant father.

This time he was shabbier, if possible, than usual. And very thin. Said he had been laid up for a month with fever in the mining camp in Dead Man's Canyon far back in the Big Horns. He had a bad finger, too, which was not yet healed.

Patty dragged him down to her young doctor's who opened up the finger while Larry set his white lips on words that would have sounded better in Dead Man's Canyon than in the presence of his sister.

"He's nice, isn't he?" said Patty on the way home.

"He's a peach. Why?"

"If you think that, I'll tell you why, Larry Lochinvar!" Patty found a new name for her errant brother every time he came home. "I'm going to marry him. But he's just hung out his shingle and won't be making enough to support me for ages. Family are furious and forbid him the house, much less me!"

Patty nodded. "Honestly, Larry. He's the one and only for me."

Larry stayed a month before any signs arose of that familiar restlessness that invariably prefaced his departures.

Then, one morning at the breakfast table, he shoved back his chair, rose and sauntered over to the fireplace, where he stood leaning against the mantel, with his hands in his pockets.

"I'm going to hit the trail again," he said abruptly. "But before I go, I'd like to say something. I've——"

He was halted by the impact of his father's fist with the table. "I'm through, Larry. I'll not give you another cent for your lazy loafing. Brace up. Be a man. Come into the business and get ready to take my place when I'm gone."

"If I do," said Larry thoughtfully, "will you remove your opposition to this young doctor of Pat's?"

"Dad," broke in Patty eagerly. "Jim is really getting a start. Yesterday Mrs. Belmont sent him a check for $500 for her little boy's operation!"

Nobody noticed the look that swept across Larry's face at the words. A considering, calculating look. In an instant it was gone and the old careless grin curved his mouth.

"I'll raise me a stake somehow!" he declared cheerfully, impudently.

"Not from me you won't!" retorted his father grimly and stalked from the room.

Late that same day Larry, who had gone out "on an errand" came back to say goodby.

Patty, her arms warm about his neck, heard him whisper in her ear. "Marry the 'one and only,' kiddo!" Then he drew her out into the hall.

"As I remarked before," he said when they were alone, "your Jim is all to the good. See what he did for me, Pat." Taking out an old wallet from an inner pocket he opened it and displayed five crisp new bills, each for one hundred dollars. "Bought my share in the Tri-Butte silver mine. I'm staked again!" The next moment he was gone.

Patty, her face dead white, stared at the slammed door. Then she sank to the floor and buried her face in her hands. Ah, Larry, Larry! How could she face Jim after this? Jim, who for love of her, had let her scapegrace brother play him for a sucker. His first big check!

Then she noticed a slip of white paper on the floor beside her. Something Larry must have dropped as he went out and which she, in her misery, had not seen before.

She picked it up and, recognizing Larry's lazy scrawl, wiped the tears from her eyes to read it.

"Dear Pat:

"You think I've palmed off some fake stock on your 'one and only.' Matter of fact, it's the real stuff and he can marry you tomorrow on the strength of it. I could have come home riding in a limousine, but wanted to have my little joke in my own way.

"LARRY."

Patty ran madly to the door and flung it wide. Only an empty street, darkening with twilight, met her eyes. Larry had gone. Back to his pines, his stars, his sagebrush plains.

RHEUMATISM RECIPE

Ex-Sergeant Paul Case, Room 118, Quigg Building, Brockton, Mass., states that while serving with the American Army in France he obtained a prescription that thousands of Rheumatic sufferers have used with gratifying results. He says the prescription cost him nothing, so he asks nothing for it, but will send it to any one who writes him.—Advertisement.

Miles matter little to a LINCOLN

IN A CAR so finely made, so masterfully engineered as the Lincoln, miles traveled cannot gauge expected service. This splendid car so valiantly resists mechanical wear that you cannot tell by its quiet-powered, capable performance whether it is months or years old.

Lincolns which have been in service are occasionally offered at prices that cannot possibly indicate their worth. These fine cars provide an opportunity to purchase superlative service at most advantageous rates. They have been inspected and tested most thoroughly by factory-trained Lincoln craftsmen in Lincoln shops. They are marked by the same satisfying permanence of style and distinguished performance perceptible in every Lincoln you see on the boulevards.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

Meditations of a Wife

BY HELEN ROWLAND

If Men Become "Style-Conscious"

THE average man will need only twelve hats, eight overcoats and twenty suits of clothes, this season, in order to be properly dressed.

This announcement of the style promoters has come with a great shock to a lot of unsuspecting he-men. But the blow to the men is as nothing, beside the speechless amazement with which it has struck their wives.

And woman who has had to bully, nag, coax and threaten her darling into his ONE suit of evening clothes and his one clean boiled-shirt, twice a year, ever since they were married, will probably faint at the news.

* * *

The big struggle of the aver-woman's life is to lure, coerce, hector, shame or browbeat her husband into buying a new suit of clothes, now and then.

* * *

His unfailing answer to all her pleadings and arguments is "Whassamatter with the one I got?"

* * *

Persuading him to throw away an old hat or discard a faded pair of knickers takes all her strength, tact and finesse. And even then, she often has to work on his sentiment, by recalling how beautifully groomed he always was during their courtship days and asking him if he doesn't love her any more.

* * *

The real germ of many a divorce has been the moth-eaten college sweater or the mouldly pair of hunting boots, which a heartless wife has surreptitiously sent to the starving heathens.

* * *

As for inducing a man to keep two dinner coats or two evening suits on hand—ha ha! He would as soon think of keeping a harem! Two motor cars? Yes. Two wives! Perhaps. But never more than one collar-button, one clean evening shirt and one "sarcophagus," at a time!

* * *

Besides, will the Merchant Tailors kindly tell Father how he is going to hang his twenty suits of clothes on the one hook he has always been allowed in Mother's clothes closet? Or where he will squeeze in his twelve hats among the twenty-four chapeaux on Mother's hat shelf?

* * *

And if he becomes clothes-conscious and buys himself eight new overcoats to replace the faded, fringed one he has been wearing for the last three winters, where will the money come from for Mother's ermine evening wrap?

* * *

Once men may have had the time to enjoy dolling up in brocaded coats, lace ruffles, silk stockings and silver buckled shoes. But time is money, nowadays—and gasoline and golf! And there is no glamor about a cast-iron derby hat and a pair of tweed trousers!

* * *

Alas, nay. You can lead a modern man to frilled pajamas and lavender cravats and white satin evening clothes—but you can't make him WEAR 'em!

* * *

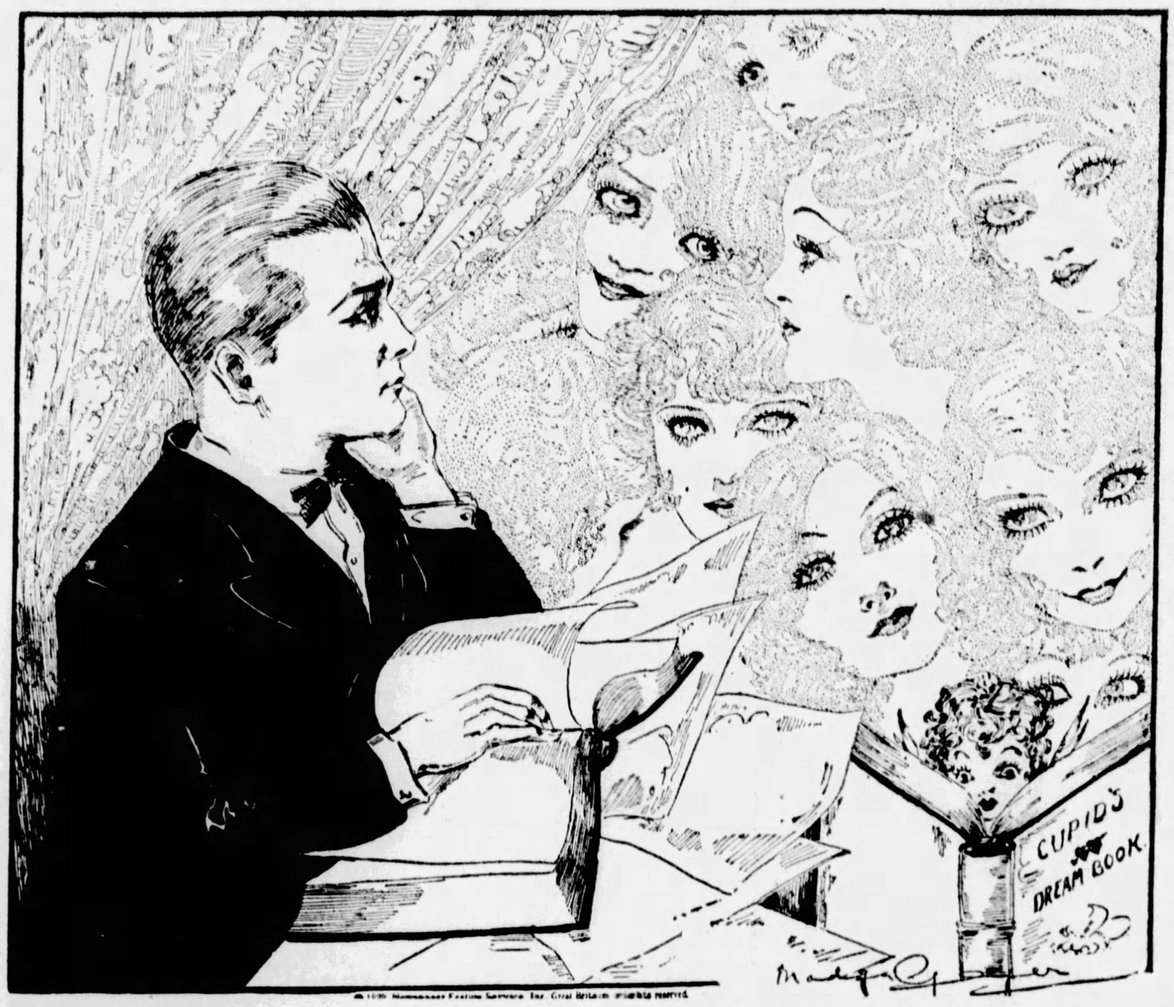
Book Heroines -:- -:- By Madge Geyer



DAY dreams! Peopled with the faces of all the girls whom he has met in his travels through Bookland. And mockingly they float before his eyes and taunt him with his loneliness! What a hard task he has before him, for he is trying to visualize the one girl of whom he constantly dreams. But when he tries to envision her, he finds that all his favorite heroines come before his eyes and blot out the features of his Dream Girl.

And Dan Cupid holds his own dream book and laughs slyly, for he knows what she looks like, but he is waiting for the psychological moment to arrive when he will bring the two together. She will not look like any of the book heroines, and they'll all be promptly forgotten in the happiness which he will find with his own true love.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Three Things Which Will Lengthen Life.

WHAT do you look upon as the fundamentals of good health?

Before you read further, shut, your eyes and make up your mind what these fundamentals are.

DR. COPELAND

Suppose you write and give me your conclusions.

Not long ago I read a book about health. The author named what he regards as the fundamentals. He expressed his view that these are three:

Fresh air.

Rational diet.

Wholesome exercise.

To have a really healthy body, an efficient body, a disease resisting body, all three of these fundamental things must be found. Not one of them can be omitted. You just can't leave off one of them.

To have good health there must be abundance of fresh air. The diet must be well chosen and eaten properly. You cannot neglect exercise.

A full diet without sufficient exercise is followed steadily by increase of weight. Likewise, extra pounds are taken on if too much of the wrong food is taken. Overeating is one of the most serious of human vices.

I often say that I cannot see why so many high-minded persons get so excited over intemperance in drink and are so silent about intemperance in eating. In is the cause of many of the diseases of middle and advanced life. Perhaps I may say it is the chief cause of the preventable diseases.

The trouble with most of us is that we mistreat our bodies. Somehow we appear to value the car we own more than we do our own health. It is certainly true that we give more attention to the automobile than we do to our bodies. We look the car over every day. It may be only once a month we give a thought to the machinery of the body.

Before you can get a license to run an automobile, you must be examined by the public authorities. Yet you are permitted to run the most precious machine in the world, even though you are ignorant of, or wickedly indifferent to its make-up or needs.

Funny, isn't it?

If we did use, in caring for the machinery of our bodies, one-half the good sense we apply to the care of the automobile, the mortality rate would be reduced at once. The span of life would be increased.

I wish I could impress upon you how essential it is to your welfare that you should determine what are the fundamentals of health. Then, having determined what they are, set out with the firm and steadfast purpose of applying your knowledge to the improvement of your health and the extension of your stay on earth.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Secret Marriages

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I was married secretly in August, but am now in a position to send out wedding announcements. Will it be satisfactory to leave the date of marriage off the cards, as I believe it would be foolish, if not strange, to send out cards now, showing August as the date of marriage?

2. Will you kindly advise the correct wording of this card, when both parents of the girl are living? READER.

ONE and two. It is never permissible to omit the date of the ceremony from the wedding announcements. And it is just because such a belated announcement does seem "strange" that secret marriages are not usually announced by the sending of formal announcements. It would be in much better form if you allow the news to "leak out." And it will, soon enough, after you tell or write to your friends.

Don't Twine Arms

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When a young lady and man (not married) walk together on the street she takes his arm—is that right?

2. When coming to a crossing or getting in or out of a car he assists her by taking her arm—isn't that so? M. R.

NO; neither takes the arm of the other.

2. Usually the man offers his arm for the girl to take when she needs help. When he is assisting her into a car he takes her arm, under the elbow, and helps her in.

Simply a Form

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you please tell how to receive an introduction?

2. What must I say when I am introduced to some one, especially when I am introduced to a boy friend's fiancee?

3. Do you consider "How do you do?" a question? BLUE EYES.

"HOW do you do" is the correct and accepted form.

2. "How do you do," adding anything else you wish. For instance, in this case, you would probably wish to offer the fiancee your "best wishes."

3. This is an excellent question—I mean yours! No, "How do you do," while grammatically it is a question, really isn't, for usually we do not, on such short notice, inquire how a person "does." It is simply a form.

Verbal Invitations

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When wishing to give a verbal invitation to a married couple to a dinner, to which should the invitation be given, to the lady or the man, or both?

2. If given to one, would it be proper for that one to accept or decline for both? A READER.

THE invitation should be given to the woman, whether it is a spoken invitation or a written one. If the invitation is formal, it is sent addressed to both, but the dinner invitations now are informal.

2. Yes, the woman accepts or regrets the invitation.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Accepts Chance to Drive Harry's New Car.

THE sight of the letter from Harriet Braithwaite which I knew contained Mary's weekly allowance was like a spur to the anxiety I was feeling concerning the girl's inexplicable use of her money. I noticed that she did not open the letter, but slipped it into the pocket of the fetching apron which she was wearing over her dress. Evidently the arrival of Jerry had interrupted her in her morning care of her room.

"There's a treat in store for you, Mary," I said hastily, hoping that she did not notice the perturbation which I felt must be written on my face for all the world to see. "Mr. Underwood wants to take you and Marion over to Riverhead this morning to get Marion's driving license—learners, you know. You have your junior license, haven't you?

"Oh, yes."

"I believe that he plans you shall drive over and that he will teach Marion on the way back. There is nothing to hinder your going, I hope."

Did she hesitate? I thought so. But when her answer came, it was emphatic.

"Not a thing in the world. Isn't that the spiffiest idea? I'm in luck, too, all my work done and all dressed for the ride. All I have to do is to take off this apron. I don't believe Marion is dressed, though. She was lying down when I was up there last. I'll have time to write a letter I've been owing while she's dressing. Do you know, Auntie Madge, I think you'd better tell her about this drive. I would, but I think she's been crying."

A tiny bell tinkled somewhere in my consciousness. It was not her fear of disturbing Marion which was back of her urging me to go to the young girl's room. She was anxious to get to her own room and write a letter, a letter which no doubt she meant to post at Riverhead. From experience I knew the epistolary vagaries of both Mary and Marion. Like most other girls they would neglect their correspondence for weeks and then at the most inopportune time would be late for some important engagement and keep people fuming while they finished some belated letter.

But, someway, I did not believe this letter belonged to the usual inconsequential category of school girl letters. As surely as if it were already written and addressed did I believe that it would bear the name, "Janet Rawdon." Yet I had not a scintilla of evidence upon which to base my belief.

"Will you excuse me, Auntie Madge?"

Mary's voice brought me out of my speculations with a jerk.

"Of course, dear," I said hastily. "I'm worried over Marion's crying."

I was miserably conscious that I was giving only about one fourth this reason for my abstraction, but Mary accepted it unsuspectingly, to all appearances.

"Oh, I don't think she's crying, now," she said cheerily, "and I guess it's nothing but what a chance to drive that car would cure. Oh, boy, that's some car!"

She was at the corner of the house when she finished and a few seconds later I heard the side veranda door close and knew that she was on the way to her room. I followed more slowly and went directly to Marion's room, knocking lightly so that Lillian, who I hoped was asleep in her own room, might not be disturbed.

Marion opened the door with a look which was half defiance and half appeal. That she had been weeping was plain, but I also saw that she had been trying to efface the traces of the tears. In the most matter-of-fact tones possible I put a question.

"How quickly can you dress, Marion? Mr. Underwood wants to take you and Mary to Riverhead after your license. I imagine you're to drive most of the way back."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, February 28

POWER, place and position are in order for those who choose to reach for them on this day, according to the trine position of the luminaries, a sidereal influence which assists the worthy and enterprising to places of trust and authority. It brings honors, preferment, favors and the recognition of superiors. It is a time to seek promotion and increase of salary, and to court the good graces of those in power. But let not success in this carry you to extremes of extravagance or into speculative enterprises. Likewise, keep tongue and temper under control.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of success, advancement and preferment or honors, with recognition from those in authority. But shun extravagance and risky enterprises and keep calm and restrained.

A child born on this day may be inclined to be rash, impulsive and wayward, as well as indulgent and extravagant, but should attain fine success and position in life.

Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control, these three alone lead to sovereign power.—Tennyson.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

By RUTH WAITE

Every woman with gray, faded or streaked hair is entitled to do something about it, for it is every woman's birthright to retain her youthfulness and charm as long as she can. When a woman mentions gray hair to me, I don't hesitate to advise the use of a restorer and I recommend sage tea and sulphur.

A brew of common garden sage, when properly combined with sulphur, restores gray hair to its original color, lustre and beauty. So perfectly does it do the work that its use is undetectable. You may either prepare the mixture at home or buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the prepared article and it costs only 75c a bottle at druggists. Hence there's no need of your bothering to prepare the mixture yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one strand at a time. The very first application banishes the gray and one or two more sees the hair beautifully restored to its original life and color. One would be surprised if she or he knew the thousands who use this preparation.

Stop that COLD in the Sneeze Stage

No need to "doctor" days for a cold and to run the chance of having it develop into grippe or worse. Take the thing that's specifically for a cold—HILL'S CASCARA-QUININE tablets. These famous tablets end a cold in twenty-four hours, because each combines the four helps required:

1. Breaks up the Cold
2. Checks the Fever
3. Opens the Bowels
4. Tones the System

Ever Quiet!

Only after fifteen years of painstaking development by the scientists and engineers of the Research Laboratories of General Electric was a refrigerator designed which was thought worthy to bear the General Electric name.

This group of men sought to develop not only a highly efficient and economical electric refrigerator, but in addition, they demanded that it be superlatively quiet in operation—so quiet that it could scarcely be heard across an ordinary room.

And they succeeded. The mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator is all up on top. The few, simple moving parts run in oil and the whole mechanism is hermetically sealed in a steel casing. The user never oils it, never tinkers with it—never needs to.

This unique construction renders the General Electric Refrigerator practically inaudible and gives it many other outstanding advantages.

But besides being remarkably quiet, it is efficient and keeps food always at the scientifically correct temperature well under 50 degrees. It provides an ample supply of ice cubes, it costs little to operate, it is easy to clean and stays clean.

A small down payment and conveniently spaced terms will place any model in your home. See the various types and sizes at our display rooms.

CHURCH SPLITS LIKENED TO CLASHES OF DISCIPLES

Comparing denominationalism in the modern church to the clashes between the disciples, the Rev. Dr. E. Stanley Jones, missionary evangelist, preaching in Trinity Cathedral last night, declared that church groups "are never so small as when they try to be so big." The Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of Shadyside Presbyterian Church, presided. Another large crowd filled the cathedral, and hundreds were unable to gain admission.

Dr. Jones described three clashes among the disciples, emphasizing the action of the disciples who forbade other disciples to cast out devils.

"The disciples were afraid the other group would get out more devils," said the preacher, "and consequently get a bigger name. They were willing to let them stay in if they couldn't get them out! And they were losing themselves the more they asserted themselves. They were never so small as when they were trying to be big.

"The third clash came when John wanted to call down fire from heaven on the Samaritans because the Samaritans would not receive the disciples. Here was the clash of race against race. John felt that he knew how to treat the people of another race and thought fire was what they needed. From that day to this, we have felt that the way to treat another race is with fire —fire from heaven or fire from guns."

CHARLES HYDE DIES; BRITISH CONSUL

Charles Hyde, British consul in Pittsburgh since 1924, died yesterday at his home in Edgeworth, of bronchial pneumonia. He was 67.

Mr. Hyde was born in Birmingham, England, in 1862, and came to Pittsburgh in 1886. He joined the engineering staff of the Homestead Steel Works and was appointed assistant superintendent of the open hearth and plate mill in 1887. The following year he opened an office as a consulting engineer. He maintained that business until his appointment as consul.

He was married in 1894 to Mary E. Ward, a granddaughter of Capt. William Ward, pioneer Pittsburgher. Their only son, Lieut. Charles Hyde, Jr., died in the Argonne offensive of 1918 as a staff officer of the One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Brigade, A. E. F.

He leaves his widow and three daughters, Mrs. Stanley Lyon and Miss Elinor Hyde, of Sewickley, and Mrs. Frances W. Rawle, of Albany, N. Y.

Mr. Hyde was a member of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania and the Duquesne Club. Until last year he was senior warden of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Sewickley and was a vestryman at his death. He will be buried from the church tomorrow with services at 2:30 o'clock.

New Castle Church Pledges Reported

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 27. — Solicitors of the First United Presbyterian congregation have reported $14,315 in pledges toward the cost of a new church now being erected to replace that destroyed by fire over a year ago.

Germans Plan Ocean Aerial Line

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—(A.P.)—The newspaper Tageblatt says that negotiations are proceeding between the Hamburg-American Line, the North German Lloyd, Lufthansa and the Ministry of Transport to form a joint organization for transoceanic service using both airplanes and airships under government subsidy.

The Hamburg-American Line is reported to pin its faith on Zeppelins for the proposed service. It is said to have offered to contribute 1,000,000 marks (about $240,000) toward building a new airship for the trans-Atlantic trade.

It is already forecast that all mail business, which the steamship companies greatly prize, will in the near future be carried on through the air. It also is pointed out that one modern trans-Atlantic liner costs more than six Zeppelins at 6,000,000 marks apiece. The present negotiations were said to be the first definite attempt to link maritime and air transportation business interests.

Defendant in Murder Trial Bound, Gagged

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—(A.P.)—Bound to his chair with ropes and gagged with a special leather harness, Dewey R. Hunt, confessed army deserter, went to trial here yesterday on a charge of murder for the slaying of Sam A. Cole, street car motorman, in a holdup last October.

He was tied up on orders of the court after he had battled officers furiously for 15 minutes and created such an uproar with his shouts and imprecations that trial of the case was virtually impossible.

N. Y. Police Quell Soviet Rioters

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(A.P.)—The Trotzky-Stalin dispute in Russia, which led to the deportation of the former Soviet minister of war, had its repercussion here last night when 30 supporters of the Stalin regime attempted to break up a meeting of 150 of the Trotzky faction of the American Communists.

It required the efforts of 150 detectives and police reserves to stop the fighting which followed the descent of the pro-Stalin group on the opposition meeting in the Labor Temple on East Fourteenth street.

A circular given out at the meeting said:

YOU CAN'T DYE with Good Intentions

You can get results—after a fashion—with any old dye; but to do work you are proud of takes real anilines That's why we put them in Diamond Dyes. They contain from three to five times more than other dyes on the market! Cost more to make? Surely. But you get them for the same price as other dyes.

Next time you want to dye, try them. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Note the absence of that re-dyed look; of streaking or spotting. See that they take none of the life out of the cloth. Observe how the colors keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. Remember this when you buy. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

Fuel system of the new Ford has been designed for reliability and long service

THE practical value of Ford simplicity of design is especially apparent in the fuel system.

The gasoline tank is built integral with the cowl and is unusually sturdy because it is made of heavy sheet steel, terne plated to prevent rust or corrosion. An additional factor of strength is the fact that it is composed of only two pieces, instead of three or four, and is electrically welded—not soldered.

Because of the location of the tank, the entire flow of gasoline is an even, natural flow—following the natural law of gravity. This is the simplest and most direct way of supplying gasoline to the carburetor without variations in pressure. The gasoline feed pipe of the new Ford is only 18 inches long and is easily accessible all the way.

The gasoline passes from the tank to the carburetor through a filter or sediment bulb mounted on the steel dash which separates the gasoline tank from the engine.

The carburetor is specially designed and has been built to deliver many thousands of miles of good service. Since all adjustments are fixed except the needle valve and idler, there is practically nothing to get out of order.

The choke rod on the dash acts as a primer and also as a regulator of your gasoline mixture. The new hot-spot manifold insures complete vaporization of the gasoline before it enters the combustion chamber of the engine.

As a matter of fact, the fuel system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little service attention.

The filter or sediment bulb should be cleaned at regular intervals and the carburetor screen removed and washed in gasoline. Occasionally the drain plug at the bottom of the carburetor should be removed and the carburetor drained for a few seconds.

Have your Ford dealer look after these little details for you when you have the car oiled and greased. A periodic checking-up costs little, but it has a great deal to do with long life and continuously good performance.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Craigie McKay Selects March 7 as Date For Wedding

WHEN life became very dull or difficult for that charming old minister in Oliver Goldsmith's "The Vicar of Wakefield," don't you remember the belief that always buoyed up his flagging spirits?—"Fortune will at last turn in our favor." For those of us who like social gaiety, the last few Lenten weeks have almost proved that the Vicar was altogether too optimistic. Perhaps in the twentieth century, though, "at last" covers a much shorter time than in the more placid age of Goldsmith.

Just as I had decided that fortune, in the guise of some interesting social news, would shun us until after Easter, I heard of a wedding date which concerns a prominent Pittsburgh society girl.

Craigie McKay, daughter of the J. Albert McKays, of "Oak Hill," Amberson avenue, has named March 7 as the date for her marriage to A. Charles Schwartz, of New York.

Their engagement was announced just a few days ago, you know. The wedding will take place in the Hotel Plaza, New York, on that day.

DOWN at Palm Beach the season is growing more and more brilliant. Daily there are scores of social events. One of the largest events of the season will be a "Whoopee Party" to be given at the Bath and Tennis Club on Friday. The club will be decorated to represent an Indian reservation, with gay wigwams, tepees, Navajo blankets transforming the modern scene to that of the early days of this country. Club members and their friends will have to suit their costumes, of course, to this earlier period, and Indians and squaws, cowboys, wild west riders and Forty-niners will be seen everywhere.

Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, who is chairman of the committee in charge, will be assisted by Mrs. Henry R. Rea and Mrs. James Francis Burke, both of this city, and many other winter resorters of prominence.

ANOTHER Palm Beach event set for early March is the first annual flower show, to be held on the first and second days of next month under the auspices of the Palm Beach Garden Club and the Palm Beach Gardeners' Association. Those of us who are familiar with the beautiful estate of Mrs. Henry R. Rea on Sewickley Heights are not at all surprised that she is honorary chairman for the event, and also one of the executives, Mrs. Alfred G. Kay, a former Pittsburgh woman, will be one of those who'll direct arrangements for the show, too.

I AM sure you will be interested in hearing about the wedding of Elizabeth Consuela de Cravioto, daughter of Mrs. Louise Ryals de Cravioto, of Waverly place, New York, and Senor Carlos de Cravioto, of the City of Mexico, and a niece of the Herman R. Blickles, of Dunmoyle place. Her marriage to Magill Smith, son of Dr. Augustin Jacquelin Smith and Mrs. Bouligny Smith, of New Orleans, was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, you know, in the chapel of St. George's Church in New York by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, and was followed by a reception at the house.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Herbert L. Satterlee, wore a robe de style in ivory satin with a veil of antique Spanish lace arranged in mantilla effect over a high comb, and she carried an armful of calla lilies. Her maid of honor, Elizabeth Larocque, appeared in beige satin and her flowers were spring buds.

Marion Smith was his brother's best man and the ushers were Archibald G. Thatcher, Jr., and Hugh Goodhue. Just the families and a few close friends were guests at the reception. The young Mr. and Mrs. Smith are planning to sail tomorrow for a trip to Spain and expect to be in Seville for Easter. Later, they are going to travel in Italy, France and England, returning home late in the spring. They will live in New York.

BEFORE many weeks folks will be back from the South, and others will have returned from wedding trips. The Wallace H. Rowes, who were married this winter, will be back early in April, I believe. Mrs. Rowe was Anne Louise Marshall, daughter of the Lee Holmes Marshalls, I might mention to refresh your memory.

Mrs. John G. Frazer and her daughter, Katharine, will not be back home until April, either, I understand. They are down South, and will be at Palm Beach much of the time.

Early next month the J. Frank Drakes, of Pembroke place, will return from the South.

A number of folks are making brief visits to New York these days to relieve the monotony of Pittsburgh February. Mrs. William McK. Reed and her daughter, Matilda, are at the Roosevelt in New York, where Mrs. Almer Orr also is stopping.

THE Woman's City Club will keep open house I've learned, on Saturday afternoon previous to the Ganna Walska recital in the evening. Mrs. Biddle Arthurs will be assisted in the roll of hostess by Miss Margaret Keeble, Mrs. W. H. R. Hilliard, Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, Mrs. Norwood Johnston, Mrs. Verner S. Gaggin, Mrs. John G. Bennett, Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, Mrs. T. L. Heasley, Mrs. Benjamin J. Jarrett, Mrs. George E. Alter, Mrs. Robert E. Withers, Mrs. Charles Noble, Mrs. Tom M. Girdler, Mrs. C. D. Church, and Miss Jennie Jenkins.

APRIL 26 is the date chosen by Miss Margaret Elinor Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Campbell, of North Negley avenue, for her wedding to T. Holland Hunter, son of Charles Rowan Hunter, of Sewickley. The ceremony will be performed at 5:30 o'clock in the Highland Presbyterian Church. Miss Floyd Humphreys, of Memphis, Tenn., will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Helen Hunter, Miss Betty Close, Miss Margaret Rodgers and Miss Lillian Roberts, all of Pittsburgh. Charles R. Hunter, Jr., of Norfolk, Va., is to be his brother's best man and the ushers will include Charles Markland, Nevin Booth, Ned Campbell and Harry Crary.

MISS ANNA MAY DAIBLER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daibler, of Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, has chosen March 11 as the date for her marriage to Harry Clay Donaldson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clay Donaldson, of Beechwood boulevard. The ceremony will be performed at 7:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Penn-Lincoln Hotel by the Rev. K. L. Cramer, uncle of the bride. Miss Jane Daibler will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Dorothy Smith, of East Palestine, O., and Miss Evelyn Mackall, of East Liverpool, O. Clyde Donaldson is to be his brother's best man and the ushers will include Robert and Louis Yagle, of this city, Thomas Somerville, of Monongahela City, cousin of the bride, will be ring bearer and Miss Mary Switalski, of this city, will play the wedding music. Mrs. William B. McKechnie and Mrs. Thomas S. Somerville, of Monongahela City, aunts of the bride, will give the rehearsal dinner at the former's home in Scenery road, Wilkinsburg. Miss Daibler is a graduate of Beaver College and Mr. Donaldson is a University of Pittsburgh graduate. He is a member of the Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity.

MISS RUTH SNEATHEN MURDOCH will be maid of honor at the wedding of her sister, Miss Virginia Bleakley Murdoch, daughter of James B. Murdoch, of Hawthorne street, Canonsburg, and Charles W. Simon, Jr., of Pittsburgh and Wheeling, W. Va., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Simon, of the North Side, which will take place Wednesday, March 6. John M. Titzel, of St. James terrace, will be best man.

* * *

THE engagement of Miss Mildred Moore, of Dixmont, to Dr. Arthur McCabe, of Coraopolis, was announced Saturday at a bridge luncheon given in Kaufmann's by Miss Ann Dotzenroth, of Bellevue. There were 26 guests, among them Miss Lenora Sutter, of Indiana, Pa.

Visiting Pittsburghers

ELEANOR PHELPS

Miss Phelps, Baltimore debutante two years ago and today playing the role of Jessica in "The Merchant of Venice," in which George Arliss is starring here this week, is visiting the Rev. and Mrs. F. Orr Johnson, North Side, during her stay in Pittsburgh.

MRS. SHERIDAN WATSON BELL, honor guest at the luncheon given yesterday by the Wednesday Afternoon Club of Wilkinsburg, was the recipient of a "shower" of handkerchiefs from the club members. Mrs. H. H. Jennewine, president of the club, spoke the farewells of the club to their fellow-member, who is leaving to make her home in Morgantown. Club singing and the showing of motion pictures taken at the "grandmothers' party" the club held last June were the entertainment features of the afternoon. At roll call each member did a stunt or told a story. Mrs. F. H. Homer, of Savannah avenue, was hostess.

GUY ROBERTSON and Marion Marchante, of "White Lilacs" Company, which is playing at the Alvin this week, will be guests of the drama department of the Congress of Clubs at the luncheon meeting tomorrow. Mary Miles Colvin, dramatic reader, will read "The King's Henchman," the Millay-Taylor opera, and Elsie Breese Mitchell will sing numbers from the opera.

AN interesting program has been planned for tomorrow's meeting of the Emsworth Civic Club. Mrs. Jean Wickersham, pianist, and Dean Babcox, violonist, will furnish the music and Mrs. Howard Rodgers, president of the North Boroughs Story League, will speak on the practical uses of the story. She will follow her talk with a group of short stories. Tea will complete the afternoon.

AN all-day sewing will be held by the Bradford Woods Woman's Club tomorrow in the home of Mrs. E. A. Deane, with Mrs. W. A. Crawford assisting the hostess. Mrs. Deane also will be hostess for the next meeting of the club, which is scheduled for Friday evening, March 8. Mrs. E. E. Kehew will speak on the Malay Jungle.

MRS. HARVEY B. GAUL spoke yesterday on "The Trend of American Fiction" before the Oakmont Woman's Club. The meeting constituted the club's annual "book day" and was held in the Oakmont Library with Miss Sally Moot as hostess. Mrs. Allen Secor introduced Mrs. Gaul and Mrs. Kenneth Seaver and Mrs. John Witherspoon presided at the tea tables. Mrs. E. E. Stiles will lead the March 12 meeting, at which Mrs. Carroll Miller will speak on "The Economic Fallacy of War."

UNDER auspieces of the Dramatic Club of Pennsylvania College for Women a contest of four one-act plays will be given at the college Friday and Saturday. This program, which has been planned to take the place of the annual three-act play, will include Rostand's "Romancers," Knobloch's "My Lady's Lace," Masefield's "The Locked Chest" and Barrie's "The Well Remembered Voice."

* * *

MRS. GEORGE M. SWAN, president of the Alumnae Association of Pennsylvania College for Women, will preside at the fifth annual alumnae council to be held at the college Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16. Several social affairs will be part of the council plans.

THE annual meeting of the southwestern district State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, will be held here the afternoon of Tuesday, March 19. Mrs. John A. Frick, state president, will be present to speak.

SOME unusual plans are the making for the breakfast at which the Congress of Clubs will entertain the presidents of affiliated clubs this year. It is set for March 11 at 10:30 o'clock.

THE Woman's Club of Oakland will elect its nominating committee at a meeting Friday afternoon in the Hotel Schenley.

AT the luncheon given yesterday in the Congress of Clubs by the Hancock County Association, Mrs. F. C. Dorrington was an honor guest. Mrs. Dorrington, who will reach her ninetieth milestone in April, came from Hancock County, W. Va., to Pittsburgh as a bride 57 years ago yesterday. Other honor guests and speakers were Willard H. Brenneman, John C. Evans, Mrs. W. E. Allen, Dr. R. E. Brenneman, L. T. Stevenson, Mrs. J. B. Nicklas, Jr., N. R. Criss, Albert Haigh and Herman Morrow, a cousin of Dwight Morrow, Col. Lindbergh's prospective father-in-law. Mrs. W. D. Brosius presided at the luncheon, which was followed by election of officers. Dr. Brenneman is the new president, Mrs. A. C. Ackenheil, vice president, Mrs. Brosius, secretary, and Willard Brenneman, treasurer. Elsie Breese Mitchell, soprano, furnished the luncheon music, accompanied by Frank Kennedy, and among her songs included one by Mrs. Mary Donehoo Gibson, of Hancock County.

Italian Program Planned at Club

IN addition to the manuscript program, which will be presented Tuesday afternoon, the Tuesday Musical Club's calendar for March includes an Italian historical program on March 19. The latter has been arranged by Miss Mae B. MacKenzie and Mrs. Anna Laura Cree and will include music of the eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Harpsichord numbers will be played by Elsé Sternsdorf, violin numbers by Ruth Bowers Gibson, and a soprano air will be sung by Maybelle Davis Rockwell. The second part of the program has a contralto aria by Alta Shultz while in the third group of numbers a Respighi quartet will be played by Mary Redmond, Janet W. Turner, Margaret W. Lee and Alyce H. Martin and modern Italian songs will be sung by Regina Spiker Linn.

"Rehearsal," Eugene Dyrssen's play which the manuscript section will give next week will have in its cast Mrs. Will Earhart, Mrs. Warren Kimball, Mrs. Viola K. Byrgerson, Miss Esther B. Edmundson, Mrs. Caroline Himelblau, Mrs. Gertrude G. Hespenheide, Miss Helen Roessing, Mrs. James C. Murray, Jr., Mrs. Henrietta M. Bodycombe and Miss Elizabeth Stoner. A male quartet consisting of Eugene Baldridge, Roy Hodgdon, Tom Morris, Jr., and Harry Wirtz will assist and a group of young girls including Margaret Whitewell, Jane Chandler, Phyllis Keister, Alice Provost, Jeannette Tyrell, Nancy Scott, Amanda Hurst and Eleanor Luthicum, will interpret rythmics.

"PROGRESSIVE METHODS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOL" will be discussed before the College Club on Friday by Prof. James S. Tippett, director of the Community School and assistant professor of elementary education at the University of Pittsburgh. Mrs. George E. Mohler, Mrs. W. H. R. Hilliard, Mrs. John E. Nelson, Miss Isabel M. Alter, Mrs. Samuel D. Ewart and Mrs. C. W. Jennings are the hostesses for the afternoon

MRS. FLORA B. BOWDEN will conduct an institute on club technique and ethics at the meeting of the Housekeepers' tomorrow afternoon in the Congress of Clubs. Mrs. H. P. Schremp has charge of the meeting and Mrs. E. H. Edwards will be hostess. A board meeting is called for 1:30 o'clock.

* * *

THE Dormont-Mt Lebanon Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in the Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church this afternoon. Mrs. A. C. Evans led the devotions. Mrs. D. T. Isaac brought a message from the School of Religious Instruction and Mrs. Harriet S. Boobyer spoke on "The Keystone of the Arch."

MATERIALS AND MEN!

When you see the "France", the "Paris" or the "Ile de France" sailing grandly up the harbor past the Statue of Liberty or being warped into dock at Le Havre...you think in terms of tonnage and of knots per hour. ✣ If you're an expert, you can add such things as radio direction-finders, gyro-compasses and gyro-pilots to your estimate . . . the latest, surest safeguards found at sea. ✣ But...in the last analysis...the thing that counts is men! ✣ Here are no novices . . . and none past age. ✣ Here are the flower of Brittany and of Provence. ✣ They were mere boys when they took service with the French Line on cargo boats, because the calling sea was in their blood since history began. ✣ Now they have climbed...those steady, grave-eyed men . . . from ship to ship till they have reached the top...the three giants that together form the Weekly Express Service between New York, London and Paris...the "De Grasse" and "Rochambeau" for a leisurely cabin crossing . . . they have the pride of all who have attained. ✣ Their honor is the ship's; your safety is their trust.

A Skillfully designed INSTRUMENT that will fit the smallest room

THE purchase of a Steinway often involves more than the desire to own a fine piano. It means selecting an instrument that will meet your space limitations.

Where space is at a premium, the Steinway Baby Grand is eminently acceptable. So carefully, so skilfully has it been made that it fits in almost the smallest room or apartment. Yet the wonderful tone is still retained . . . will still remain after a lifetime of service.

The Baby Grand—like all Steinways—is easy to own. You pay 10% of the purchase price, and take two years to dispose of the balance! Come in and choose your instrument, today!

Council has affirmed an ordinance appropriating $3,900 for the erection of nine illuminated signboards on main streets entering the city, as traffic signals for autoists.

Give freely

When your Children Cry for It

Mothers, who take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor would tell them to do when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated or stuffed-up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation. It comforts Baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, specialists advise. A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, etc., show they need a good purging. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

Warns Women to Check High Blood Pressure

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in danger of high blood pressure. It is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs. This forces the heart to do more work and raises blood pressure.

The symptoms are dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness or sleeplessness. High blood pressure must be treated at once for everyone knows it is too dangerous and quick acting to disregard its symptoms.

Norma is a doctor's prescription for high blood pressure that has been used with great success.

Norma contains no habit forming drugs, and works in such a way that it lessens the duty of the overtaxed heart and reduces blood pressure swiftly and surely. Often one bottle brings great relief. Get a bottle of Norma today from May Drug Co. or any drug store, and free yourself from the symptoms of blood pressure.

Deafness defeated

Head noises, earache, roaring hissing sounds and discharge yield quickly to Aurine. Those afflicted will be surprised how promptly it relieves. Aurine corrects ear drum trouble so that even whispers are audible. It is inexpensive, easy to use and comes complete.

REMEMBER WHEN—?

The following have been awarded $1 each for these Remember Whens:

REMEMBER WHEN the canal ran along the Fort Wayne Railroad, east of Federal street?—O. William McElwaine, 1227 Island avenue, Pittsburgh.

REMEMBER WHEN the clerks in the department stores used to yell: "C-a-s-h girl?"—A. M. Eibeck, 329 South Home avenue, Avalon, Pa.

REMEMBER WHEN the guests sat on the porch of the St. Clair, Sixth street and Penn avenue—a gas lamp at each end of the porch?—Mrs. J. A. Barrett, 4729 Lytle street, Pittsburgh.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A CHARMING MODEL FOR AN AFTERNOON DRESS

The pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 4⅝ yards of 40-inch material. The jabot of lace or contrasting material requires 1-3 of a yard 18 inches wide or wider. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 2½ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

advance selections march sale of RUGS

All is very much in readiness—and it's a question whether the large savings or the immense selection affords the bigger interest.

The mark-downs are most substantial—savings of good, hard dollars — often as much as a third of the regular price.

And the selection is just as remarkable—small throw sizes to large extra room sizes — new patterns in Velvets, Axminsters, Royal Wiltons, Worsted Wiltons, etc., the better products of America's foremost mills.

Every encouragement surely to early spring refurnishing.

Remember—the Advance Opportunity is yours this evening, all day tomorrow and tomorrow evening till 9 o'clock.

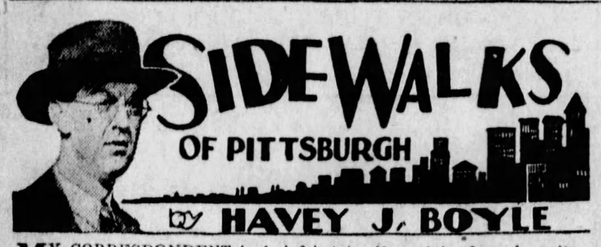
METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS



MY CORRESPONDENT is brief but to the point when he writes the following injunction: "Stop talking about E. V. Babcock and ex-Gov. John Tener," and when he follows up with: "Your picture with your hat on looks young, but you talk old," and "Your column sounds pretty good most of the time."

The communication is interesting from the standpoint of how certain things are emphasized in a reader's mind. To the best of my knowledge and belief the names, Babcock and Tener, have been used in this column twice in a period of some 14 months.

Nearly all columnists have their pets, but rarely is one taken to task for repeating two names but twice in a period of more than a year.

I'm pretty sore about this and if my correspondent doesn't watch out I'll write three more pieces about Teddy Joyce. In fact, I'll write one now. I heard the other day that he is devoted to his mother and that he doesn't plan marriage in the near future. And I shouldn't be at all surprised to hear that Mr. Joyce every once in awhile gets mighty tired of the adulation his public showers upon him.

Apparently, the character in question got mixed up in his dates, or maybe he had placed a bet on Bryan; at any rate he was arrested in Woods Run for masquerading in women's clothes. He presented a neat question to Inspector Charles Faulkner of the North Side gendarmes. There is a police order, looked after by Magistrate Brandon as a hen looks after her chicks, that what are known as skirt cases to the police, shall be turned over to Morals Court. This, surmised Inspector Faulkner, was a skirt case—and yet . . . So Inspector Faulkner compromised and put the prisoner into the North Side station, where he got a hearing in the North Side Court.

Incidentally, the prisoner was discharged. He had a defense too strong for the prosecution. He had not been at all disorderly. In truth, he had been acting like a perfect lady. The arresting officer became suspicious when he saw the lady in question take a chew of tobacco.

THE street car came to a grinding stop. The conductor twisted the handle in front of him, the doors opened, and into the car walked two women—well-soaked, and I don't mean to imply it was raining. They had aboard a cargo of rum, or gin, or wine, or beer. They were working women. Their hands were red and what cosmetics they resorted too were not the kind that the rich ladies sponsor in the advertisements. One was in the neighborhood of 42 years while the other was 10 years her senior. One wore no headdress at all. The other affected what I have heard described as a boudoir cap, plain in design and just a little soiled. The younger woman carried herself better than her senior partner in the enterprise, although both were discommoded by a list to port, meaning no pun. The younger woman was in a defiant mood, looking challengingly at her sisters in the street car, and almost menacingly at her brothers, all of whom watched covertly. As drunken people go, these women were almost models. Their talk was a little loud, but about their own concerns, and unlike their brothers who take aboard a cargo and display it in a street car, there was no sign of the maudlin, the nonsensical, or the ribald.

The younger woman, with an aggressive chin, was the dictator. The other woman wanted to ride in the seats that run at right angles to the doors, whereas the younger woman selected the forward division of the car. In the end the younger woman won out and the other waddled perilously over the rocking sea that separated her temporarily from her companion. I suspected the younger woman was a bit of an Amason, by her general air of defiance of conventional people, or so-called conventional people, who watched her slyly. This was confirmed by the conductor who confided when the women left the car that the one with the chin, so to speak, was rated the best puncher in the district. Once a truck driver, with broad chest and expansive muscles, essayed a bit of repartee when the lady was in her cups and a half hour later he was asking for a description of the mule.

By the way, this thing of women drinking is an outrage, is it not?

MT. LEBANON WILL TEST ZONE LAW

The Zoning Board of Adjustment of Mt. Lebanon Township today will begin its investigation of the proposed construction of an apartment building at Overlook avenue and Beverley road.

The project was met with disfavor at the meeting of the township commissioners, held in the Washington Public School Auditorium, Washington road, Monday night. Because of the plans to include first-floor storerooms, a petition opposing the construction was presented by citizens living on Overlook avenue.

Beverley road is commercialized, but Overlook avenue is a private residential street. More than 20 petitioners appeared in a body with two attorneys, likewise Louis Merwitzer, the owner of the property, was represented by two attorneys.

PAVING PROPOSED

An ordinance was passed authorizing the township engineer to advertise for bids for the paving, grading and curbing for five streets in the Seminole Terrace Plan No. 2. The streets are: Navahoe street, Terrace drive, Pueblo drive, Michigan drive and Seminole terrace.

An ordinance was also passed instructing the engineer to advertize for bids for the grading, paving and curbing for the Oak Ridge Manor Plan. The streets are: Morrison, Meadowcroft, Ridgefield, Shadowlawn, Dixon avenues, Newburn and Overlook drives. Bids for both the ordinances will be received at the regular meeting to be held March 25.

The appropriation ordinance for the fiscal year was passed, amounting to $186,400.

TAX RATE UNCHANGED

The commissioners also set the township millage at 8 mills, the same as last year.

Building Inspector George J. Irwin submitted his report, stating that 82 building permits were issued since last January 1, at an estimated cost of $1,246,550. That amount exceeds last year's building for the same length of time by $640,340.

Advertising for bids for the construction of storm sewers for various sections of the township was also ordered in an ordinance.

Bids were opened for the furnishing of road supplies, consisting of sand, cement and gravel, but the awarding was postponed until the next meeting. C. W. Scheck, chairman of the board, presided, with all commissioners present.

FAMOUS DOG TAKES SMILES TO CRIPPLED CHILDREN

RIN-TIN-TIN ENTERTAINING APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE AT INDUSTRIAL HOME

CHILDREN SEE RIN-TIN-TIN

Charlie Chaplin or any other screen favorite could not have received a more royal welcome than that accorded yesterday by more than 100 crippled children at the Industrial Home for Crippled Children to Rin-Tin-Tin, wonder dog of the movies. Rin-Tin-Tin did not appear on the screen, but called upon the children "in person" in company with his owner and trainer, Lee Duncan.

Breathlessly they listened to Duncan's thrilling story of how he found Rin-Tin-Tin as a puppy while serving with the American aviation service in France during the World War. When the wonder dog was finally brought into the room he was greeted with boisterous applause.

"Rin," as Duncan calls him, was put through all his tricks for the youngsters.

Bedridden children were also given an opportunity to see the educated canine. Their faces lighted with joy as Rin-Tin-Tin came to their bedside.

During his sojourn in Pittsburgh Rin-Tin-Tin occupies a hotel suite with Duncan. He travels in a Pullman drawing room, while Duncan and two attendants cater to his comforts.

$1,500,000 DALZELL WILL GIVES ART TO INSTITUTE

Carnegie Institute art galleries are given the large collection of paintings of Mrs. Mary B. Dalzell, 5221 Ellsworth avenue, by terms of her will disposing of an estate valued at $1,500,000, filed for probate today.

The will stipulates that the paintings are to be added to the J. Willis Dalzell Memorial collection, valued at $500,000, which the testator presented to the institute several years ago in honor of her husband.

Her brother, Harry M. Beer, and her cousins, Josephine I. Perkins, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Mrs. Dorothy Coffin and Capt. Charles Saule are given her personal and household effects, in addition to $350,000 which is distributed among them in various amounts.

Susan D. D. Jones and Virginia C. Dalzell, children of her husband's brother, John H. Dalzell, receive $50,000 each and the same sum goes to Mrs. William Trainor and to J. Willis Dalzell, children of Louis W. Dalzell, another brother of her husband. Employes are given $200 for each year of service.

The testator places $100,000 in trust for her sister-in-law, Virginia McKee. At her death, $25,000 of the fund goes to the Allegheny General Hospital to endow a room in memory of her husband, and the remainder to the residuary estate, of which relatives are named heirs.

The Exchange National Bank is named executor.

Accused by Nurses, 2 Fined as Peepers

Melvin Allison, 17, of 4911 Cypress street, and William Wagner, 17, of 4917 Dearborn street, alleged by police to have been "peeping Toms," were fined $10 each by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. They were said to have been identified by Margaret Brownless and Mabel Barron, West Penn Hospital nurses, as boys who had been peeping in windows of the nurses' dormitory.

Hazelwood Girl Hurt By Auto, Driver Held

Esther Fancegeli, 16, of 5522 Gatelodge way, Hazelwood, was recovering from bruises and lacerations today, and Joseph Gearing, 19, of Willock, whose auto struck her at Second avenue and Mansion street, was under arrest, charged with reckless driving.

LEADERS O. K. CONTEST ON FLAG

Representative John M. Wolverton, of West Virginia; Mrs. S. A. Blackburn, president, American Legion Auxiliary of Kentucky, and Mrs. Wellington Q. Hunt, natinoal president, Dames of Loyal Legion, Detroit, Mich., have accepted service on the National Board of Patrons and Patronesses of the Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association, being sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers.

In Region No. 8, which includes Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia, interest among school children and educators has reached a high peak as the closing date for applications to conduct local contest units approaches.

MARCH 8 TIME LIMIT

Any School, club, Boy or Girl Scout troop or patriotic organization planning to conduct a local Flag contest unit, should send application to the Flag Contest Editor of The Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, at once. March 8 is the last day on which applications may be received.

More questions appear in today's Sun-Telegraph and the entire 75 will be reprinted in the Sun-Telegraph next Sunday. Local contest units desiring to receive copies of the reprints can obtain any number required upon application to the Sun-Telegraph.

A local contest unit must consist of at least 25 members. There may be contests for girls alone, or for boys, if desired. But no school or organization may conduct more than one contest unit.

VALUABLE AWARDS

The Flag Contest is limited to boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18, inclusive. The contest consists of answering 75 questions on the American Flag and in writing a short essay on "Old Glory's Greatest Glory."

Valuable awards await the winners of Flag Contest. Winners of the regional competition will receive a free trip to Washington, D. C., and membership in a patriotic pilgrimage throughout the East, visiting places of importance in American history such as Gettysburg, West Point, Annapolis, Concord, Philadelphia and New York. Regional winners also will receive $200 to be applied to any scholarship or educational study they wish to pursue.

MEDALS FOR WINNERS

Regional winners also will receive the cross of honor of the United States Flag Association, the first of which was awarded to Col. Lindbergh. These medals will be presented at Washington by the President of the United States or some other nationally prominent personage.

Winners of the national flag contest will receive, in addition to their regional championship awards, a free trip around the world with all expenses paid and a complete wardrobe and spending money furnished.

Reports from Hearst newspapers throughout the country and from the United States Flag Association indicate that the first flag contest which is to be made an annual affair, has become the largest and most far-reaching movement of its kind in the history of the country.

HOLD SUSPECT IN ROBBERY

Stanley Rebanik, 31, 1111 Freyburg street, arrested with Charles Fink, 19, 1600 Clinton street, by Precinct Detectives John Harkins and Thomas White, in connection with the safe robbery of the Bank Bowling Alley, 1200 Carson street, Monday morning, was held over for further investigation by Magistrate George England in South Side Police Court yesterday. Fink was discharged.

Both men are employed in that place, and Fink testified that when he discovered the safe open Monday morning he attracted Rebanik's attention to the fact, but the only reply he got was, "Don't bother about that," Fink said. Frank Heine reported $367 in currency was taken, also a watch, chain and charm, valued at $88, was taken.

Didn't Know Ring Was Valuable Until Stolen

For 11 years a ring lay half-hidden among the loose buttons, thread, needles and odds and ends in a sewing basket.

Laura Keithen, Negro, of Fortieth street, had found the ring, picked it up in the street and had forgotten it. Then it was stolen.

The thief tried to sell it to a jeweler. He was arrested. The ring was returned to the finder. In Criminal Court today the alleged thief, one James Matthews, Negro, of Lawrenceville, was paroled for two years.

The jeweler said the ring was worth $1,000. Mrs. Keithen said she had never considered it valuable.

THUGS HOLD UP 1-MAN CAR

Two armed men, posing as passengers, held up John J. Burkle, operator of a one-man 38 line street car, at Dermont Junction, Peermont avenue, today and robbed him of $26 cash and $17.15 in tokens, he reported.

The men boarded the car at Brookline Junction and were the only persons in the car besides himself, Burkle said. After riding half a mile they approached him with the command: "Put 'em up."

While one held a gun at Burkle's head the other relieved him of the money and tokens. They leaped from the car and ran down the McFarland road, Burkle told county detectives.

Bible Class Plans Minstrel Show

The regular monthly meeting of the Pathfinders' Bible Class of the Mt. Washington United Presbyterian Church will be held in the home of Joseph C. McGahey, 502 Griffith street, Mt. Washington, tomorrow Harry L. Kagrise, secretary, announces that matters of vital importance will be brought up for discussion and requests all members to be present. A benefit minstrel show will be planned for the near future and will be under the leadership of Walter Golby, assisted by Charles Hedderich.

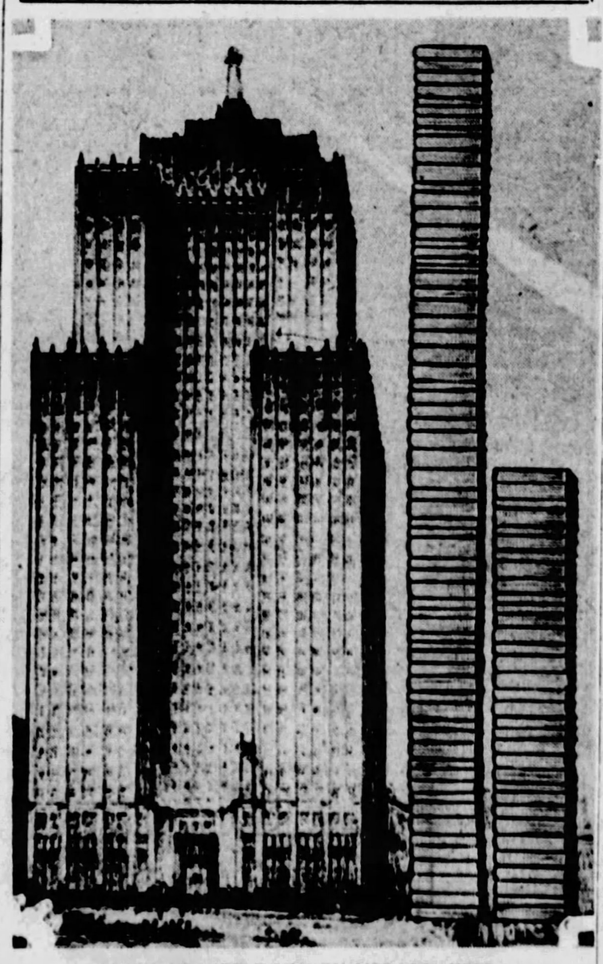
D. of A. R. Chapter To Meet Tomorrow

The regular monthly meeting of the Massah White Harbison Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Bayne Memorial hall, Ralph park, Bellevue. The Rev. Dr. J. B. Magee, pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal church, will speak on "George Washington and His Religion."

Fined on Charge Of Entering Building

Thomas McCann, 25, of 801 Brownsville avenue, arrested by Patrolman Carl Steiglitz at South Fourth and Bingham streets on a charge of being a suspicious person, was fined $25 by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Station, after it was testified that McCann had entered a building at 215 Carson street.

A BIG PILE OF BOOKS



BOOKS LOANED DAILY BY LIBRARY HERE

If all the books loaned every week day by only the Central Branch of the Carnegie Library here were placed one atop another, the statistician opines today, they would reach 478 feet from the ground to the top of the Grant Building beacon and an additional stack from the ground to the twenty-third floor.

Licenseless Dogs By Thousands In City

Frequent cases of persons bitten by dogs has prompted a survey that revealed thousands of unlicensed animals running at large here, according to Louis Weil, city dog license collector.

Weil said the law requiring the licensing of dogs is flagrantly violated in Carrck, Knoxville, Westwood and Hays.

Weil cited a city ordinance provides a heavy fine for owners of dogs lacking a collar bearing a metal license tag.

BOOK LENDING SETS RECORD

With 2,550,586 books loaned for home reading during 1928, the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh had the busiest year in its history, according to the report of Ralph Munn, director. The use of the library showed a 10 per cent gain over 1927.

The Sunday afternoon opening of the lending department in the Central Library and the Wylie avenue branch are reported meeting with widespread public approval.

The greatest increase was at the South Side branch, which now leads all branches in use, having passed the Wylie avenue branch, the leader for many years. To improve the service to the public, one floor of the main book stack at the Central Library has been rearranged, giving free access to about 50,000 additional books. Wide aisles, window seats and small tables make this book stack well suited to browsing and individual choice of books.

New agencies started during 1928 include the Knoxville-Carrick branch library, which was opened in July, 1928, in the school building at Knox avenue and Rochelle street, and the Pennsylvania history room in the Central Library. The Knoxville-Carrick branch is reported as lending 44,000 books during its first six months.

Since 1923 the use of the library has increased 51 per cent, while its funds have increased only 27 per cent, the report stated. Much larger funds for books and service are said to be urgently needed. Endowment funds given by various Pittsburghers yield about $1,750 per year. All other expenses are met from taxes levied by the city of Pittsburgh.

Climbing Upon Stove, Baby Dies of Burns

Mary Satariano, 2, of 518 East Ohio street, died today in the Allegheny General Hospital of burns she suffered when her clothing ignited at a gas cooking stove. The child, police said, climbed upon a table, then stepped upon the stove. Flames of a burner ignited her dress.

DEATH THREATS CAUSE ARREST

Antonio Cicco, of 1703 Cliff street, was remanded to jail by Magistrate John M. Orie in Central Police Court today until a bond for surety of the peace is obtained for him.

Cicco's arrest resulted after his cousin, Frank Faizio, of 1711½ Cliff street, received threatening letters, a wreath and a visit from an undertaker within the last several days.

Faizio held Cicco responsible for these visitations, police say, claiming they were due to personal malice. Cicco admitted, police say, to having argued with Faizio over card games, but denied being responsible for the letters, the wreath or the undertaker's visit.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.

No wonder Hoover can't get a cabinet. A big man won't take a job in it, for he won't take a chance on a Senate insult. If he has ever earned more than a Senator, he is in league with big business. If he ever drove a Standard Oil truck or was a bookkeeper in a Morgan bank, he is in league with monopolies. If he is independently rich, he is in league with the devil.

But if he has never done anything and been a financial failure at that, he will pass the Senate as a brother. And every time Hoover finds a man of that type, he is a Democrat.

And that's another staunch rule. You can't use even an able man from the other party. That would revert to democracy and not politics.

Yours, WILL.

Expenditures for Hospitals in New York

IN New York state the yearly expenditure for public and private hospitals is $46,000,000. Less than half of this sum comes from the patients, the rest from taxes, endowments and contributions.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

In the Overland Limited on the way from New York to Reno, Dick Stuyvesant meets Felicia Brett. They are strongly attracted to each other. Because they are ashamed to be getting divorces, they lie to each other about their destinations and slip from the train at Reno as quietly as possible. Dick goes to the hotel, where he joins a bachelor friend, John Berkeley, nicknamed J. B. Felicia goes to friends, Dr. and Mrs. Hodge. The next evening he meets Felicia and the Hodges at Judge Cooper's. They explain their mutual deceptions and feel again the strong attraction that drew them together on the train. Ann Hodge warns her that too marked friendliness with Dick may imperil her chance of obtaining custody of her 6-year-old son. Felicia declares she will go back to New York and get the boy. She does so and Brett reaches Reno. Felicia refuses Brett's demand that she return to New York with him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

FELICIA tried to carry off the moment as best she could. Her voice steady, only her eyes starkly frightened, she introduced the two men. Brett ignored Dick's proffered hand; seemed not to deign to notice Dick's existence. Only, as he turned to go, his final words to his wife were spoken for the younger man's benefit:

"If you persist in this action, Felicia," he threatened her, "just remember this—no other man but me shall ever have you!"

Dick watched Brett's departure with a curious, speculative look. Felicia sank into a chair and buried her face in her hands.

"Oh, Dick!" she moaned, "what am I to do?"

Instantly he was at her side. "He can't hurt you, honey—that's just talk! He's trying to frighten you. Don't let him get away with it!"

Her eyes clung to his face. "He says he'll prove I'm unfit to have my boy!"

Dick laughed scornfully. "He can't do that! There was not a shred of uncertainty in his tone. Once—years ago, it seemed—he might have doubted this girl, but no longer. "Don't worry, dear!"

She found comfort in his own steady confidence. "Oh, Dick!" Slowly, she smiled.

He patted her head as though she were a child. "That's my girl!" He leaned over and kissed her. She brightened as they talked of her trip. "Honey," Dick said at last, "J. B. wants to have a party tonight at The Pines—that's a dance place a couple of miles beyond town. Will you go? It'd do you good!"

By night Dick had almost forgotten about Brett. He had had a satisfactory talk with his lawyer over his own affairs that afternoon and was whistling happily as he got into evening clothes. J. B. had gone ahead; Dick was to bring Felicia to the roadhouse in his own car.

The telephone rang.

"Mr. Stuyvesant? This is Edith Feeley—is J. B. there?" Soft exclamations of dismay almost too soft to be convincing. "But he told me he was having a party at The Pines and I'm all dressed to go! What shall I do?"

Secretly cursing J. B., Dick had to invite Mrs. Feeley to drive out with Felicia and himself. She was a good actress, he conceded. In the front seat of the roadster beside Felicia, she showed no trace of the impudent, even vulgar, woman who had come into his room at the hotel. Edith Feeley was playing the part of lady.

J. B. was startled when he saw them.

"Why did you bring Feeley?" he demanded, at the first opportunity. And when Dick, equally startled, explained, he shook his head.

"Maybe she's fallen hard for you, J. B.! You have—er—encouraged her a bit."

"Fallen for your grandmother! retorted J. B. "That woman's like a cat—all four feet on the ground and whiskers to measure by!" He scratched his head. "Now just what is she up to?" he demanded of the air about him.

But the air at The Pines was too filled with noise to have heard even if it could have answered his question. Felicia, at Dick's side, looked about her curiously.

"Nevada-Byzantine at its best!" J. B. commented, caustically.

The main room was long and ornately decorated—a tortuous, swirling ceiling of red and gold, and walls a startling shade of blue. Opening from it was a series of alcoves, each large enough for a table and chairs, and into one of these J. B. led his guests. A jazz orchestra was playing feverishly; on the dais beside it, a huge plaster cat yawned sardonically.

Felicia laughed at it.

"Hush!" J. B. warned her. "That kitty'll cost you money, Mrs. Brett. The only mice she'll touch are made of gold and stamped by the U. S. Treasury! Her life work is to collect tips for the musicians."

One of the players had abandoned the orchestra and was strutting about the floor, loosing a caterwaul of nasal song, gesturing like a monkey. "Get hot! Get hot!" he bellowed to the dancers.

An attentive waiter hovered about them.

"Ginger-ale," Felicia absently answered J. B.'s question of what she wanted to drink. Like an excited child she watched the scene before her. Expensively dressed women. Flash of jewels and gold and platinum that would have done credit to a Fifth avenue jeweler's window. Ranchers in dusty boots. Men who looked more like gunmen than night-club habitues—Felicia made the distinction in her own mind!

J. B., with a sidelong wink at Dick, bore Edith Feeley to the dance floor.

"Don't you ever drink, Felicia?"

The drinks had arrived; four glasses identical in size and shape, though one contained ginger ale, one a clover club cocktail, and the other two, highballs.

Felicia shook her head. "Hardly ever. I might if I could find anything I liked the taste of," she said.

The music changed to a waltz and all the lights were suddenly dimmed. Dick looked at her adoringly, and for a long time they sat wordless.

"Let's look over the joint," J. B. suggested, when he and Mrs. Feeley returned.

In a small, square room illuminated by hidden lights, a man at a piano was singing. "He Plays Anything," boasted a sign on the blue wall. At the moment he was playing "Nearer My God to Thee" and the words, syncopated, broken, fell grotesquely upon their ears. Someone demanded "Frankie and Johnny," and as they crossed the floor to the gaming room the melody followed them plaintively—"He was her man—but he do-o-ne her wr-r-o-o-ong." . . .

Rows of bottles were arrayed behind the bar in a room where slot machines for gambling stood against the walls. J. B. led them through another door. Four tables—roulette, faro, dice and "twenty-one." A group of ranchers, broad hats pushed back on their heads, were "shooting craps," their voices drawing profane endearment to the dice. But the roulette table was most popular.

As they approached it, they felt at once an electrified atmosphere. Every chair was taken; men and women crowded forward, their faces intent upon the play. Only the croupier remained indifferent, expressionless, while the pile of gold pieces before one player chinked higher and higher after every turn of the wheel.

"They have a higher bank than at Monte Carlo," J. B. explained to Felicia. "I know a fellow out here who says he wins or loses an average of a quarter of a million a year at that table!"

Felicia's eyes were on the man who was winning. Suave, low-voiced, he seemed unconscious of the tensity of the moment. At last, still winning, he shrugged.

"The drinks are on me," he said, mildly. "I'm through for tonight."

His winnings were too large to be paid by the croupier; he bore a slip of paper across to a closet of a room where a cashier behind a grill paid out to him thirty one-thousand-dollar bills—the first paper money Felicia had seen in Nevada. A group followed him into the bar. . .

It was long after midnight when Dick, glancing at Felicia, realized that she was tired. To J. B. and Mrs. Feeley it was just the top of the evening, so Dick and Felicia started back without them.

"There's the man who won so much money," Felicia said as a black car shot out from the others and headed up the Reno road. "He has a nice face, Dick—I wonder who he is?"

Dick didn't know. As though she were a fragile invalid, he was still fussing about Felicia, making her comfortable. The Nevada temperature had taken its customary drop with the coming of night. Sometimes, Hodge had told them, there was as great a drop as 40 degrees in a few hours after sunset.

They swung slowly out from the parking space and turned toward the city. Felicia leaned back, looking up at the stars which cascaded, like a fountain, from the axis of the heavens to the very rim of the horizon. Suddenly the brakes shrieked and the car swerved to the left. She sat up, startled, as Dick wrenched on the emergency brake and leaped out.

The black car was skewed across the road just ahead of them. In the glare of their own headlights, the face of the man whose luck had accompanied him to The Pines—and left him there—gleamed starkly white, except for a streak of dark blood that was still trickling from a gash on his forehead.

Molly Restores Prestige By Joining in Rum Running Fight

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Molly Bain, sweetheart of Gashface Bruzzi, leader of "The Big Burg's" underworld of gangsters and bootleggers, is suspected of betraying inside plans of Gene Channing, youthful reformer. As a test of her loyalty, Gashface asks Molly, who is a crack shot with the pistol, to shoot down Channing during an election speech at the Coliseum. When she refuses Gashface sets a trap to prove she is the squealer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.

BORN of a professional gambler and a hard-riding, straight-shooting "cowgirl" in a small "Wild West" show, it was natural that Molly Bain should have excitement in her blood and quickness and coolness in her brain. Her mother taught her to shoot and hit a dime at 20 paces. And from her father she learned how to stake everything on a toss-up and keep an impassive face while the coin was in the air. But from neither parent did she learn the answer she had always consciously or subconsciously, demanded of life. "What's it all about?"

The Great War seemed to teach that violence was the law of life; and in her impatient search for a meaning to existence Molly decided that life was only a jungle and its only law was, eat or be eaten. Nick Bruzzi seemed king of the jungle in the "Big Burg." He courted her with violence and dash; and Molly yielded into his keeping her wild but incurably romantic, sophisticated yet ever hopeful self.

Now she knew that Nick Bruzzi wanted her not as a mate, but as one of a harem, though he tried to keep her from learning the fact.

The day she found it out her blood went wild. Had Nick been within range she would have shot his heart full of lead. But her cool brain eventually spoke to her. Shooting Nick Bruzzi would yield her a glow—for how long? Whereas she wanted something lasting, something that would record Nick not the mercy of instant extinction, but enduring affliction. He exulted, did he, in his power in the big city jungle? Well, she would give him a taste of what it meant to feel diminished, defeated, cast from power!

One day on the street she heard an unknown speak from a soapbox, a good-looking young man excited about something that meant neither money in his pocket, women for his pleasure, nor power to feed his ego.

Molly was bewildered. What sort of a man was this? Living for something other than his personal self seemed to have a meaning to him, something rich and exciting, something worth self-sacrifice, even risk of life itself if need be. She listened to his crusading fervor all that evening. For a week she listened to him almost every time he mounted his modest soapbox rostrum. And she felt an immense contempt for the public because so few people had the sense to realize that here was an exciting show.

Suddenly she saw in Gene Channing not only a fascinating human phenomenon but also the possible instrument of her revenge on Nick Bruzzi.

It was soon after this that the Big Burg began to crowd to Gene Channing's meetings to hear him explode the bombs of inside revelations about Sam Sheedy in City Hall and Nick Bruzzi and his "mobs."

And it was this man that Bruzzi asked her to kill; at whom "Pinkie" Ellison—the best shot in all of Bruzzi's army—would aim that night from the roof door at the Coliseum.

Suppose her warning went astray? Or suppose Nick suspected?

All the night that Nick Bruzzi was marshaling his forces in the barracks by the river Molly spent sleepless. She did not like the case with which Nick had forgiven her refusal to help him get rid of Gene Channing. She did not underestimate his capacity for stealth. What was in his mind now in regard to her?

"Who is this?" Molly demanded.

"Never mind who dis is! I gotta speak to Nick right away!"

"I'm not giving Nick's whereabouts to unknowns!"

"Who are you, lady?"

"Molly Bain."

"Nick's jane? All right, den, dis is Tim Cavanaugh, speakin' from Allenville. Put me on to Nick and hurry!"

"You'll talk through me or not at all!"

The man was agonized between anxiety to deliver his message and fear that it might not be safe to deliver it to anyone but Nick himself. Molly settled his indecision.

"Talk up or I hang up!" she snapped. She won.

"All right, den! De New York and Philly mobs is sendin' a fleet of rum trucks through de Big Burg, figurin' Nick's too busy to stop 'em. My job's to watch de Allenville road, see? There's twenty-one trucks passed and they're full o' Scotch and loaded with guards. Machine guns and everythin', is de tip I got . . . de're comin' through the Burg by way of Sherman boulevard. Fer de love o' Mike, get wotd to Nick or I'll get hell!"

"I'll tell him!"

Molly hung up the receiver and pondered. What was it to her if one gang of rum runners got the best of another or not? She was about to telephone the message on to Nick as a perfunctory duty.

Then a thought flashed through her mind. If Nick was suspicious of her here was her chance to throw him off the trail.

She telephoned the warehouse where she knew Nick was still in council. She caught him just as he was leaving with Sig Bolger.

The actress in her was at her best as she excitedly passed on to Nick the news of the coming of the rum-runner trucks with their heavily armed guards.

"And if you're going, Nick, I go with you!" she cried.

She heard him rap out orders to Sig for instant mobilization of autos, men and heavy arms to meet the incoming rum trucks. Then he said to her:

"All right, kid, go back to bed!"

"I'm coming, Nick! Unless you promise you'll stay out of the shooting!"

He did not even throw her a word as he rammed the receiver down in his hurry.

She dressed quickly and left the house, hastening to a nearby garage where she kept the runabout Nick had given her. Impatiently she rang the bell that woke the night man and it was at top speed that she drove her car when she finally got it free of the garage.

The city was not yet awake when she got to the point where Sherman boulevard entered the city limits. She saw no machines about as yet. But she knew that Nick and his men were somewhere in the night shadows along the road. For they were nearer this spot than she was when she started and this would be where they would wait for the rum trucks that dared invade Nick Bruzzi's domain.

Jumping out of her car she ran in front of it and stood revealed in the glare of its headlights.

When the rum trucks arrived—as they should any moment now—they would find the road blocked by her. It was the only way to bring Nick out of the shadows to her.

It did. A strong arm clutched her and Nick's voice came in a snarl.

"I don't budge from your side, Nick!"

She saw Sig Bolger climb into her car and the road was clear again. For Sig drove her runabout down a side road.

But she got her wish, to be with Nick in the coming fight.

From up the road approached a rumbling of heavy motors. The twin headlights of huge trucks, tarpaulin-covered, the first of a procession, cut the darkness of Sherman boulevard. On the seat of each truck three men were huddled in great coats. The sound of the motors was a steady thunder now.

Suddenly the night was slashed with spurting revolver fire, converging on the first truck. Instantly the truck replied with a drumming of machine gun fire, from under the tarpaulins.

The foremost truck made a wild plunge in a quarter circle and crashed into a steam roller parked by the side of the boulevard. The roar of an engine gone wild added to the din of revolvers and machine guns.

The caravan of trucks stopped and from the dark up the road men came running to help the crews of the leading trucks. An auto parked in the side road threw on a powerful beam of light. In its white shaft of illumination lay three men in the road, two motionless, one still moving.

Other men came running into its glare, the invaders. But from black ambush there poured out a galling fire and several more figures tottered and fell.

Then Nick's voice sounded: "Rush 'em!"

From the side road poured enough of Nick's "mobs" to swamp in numbers and armament the now confused invaders. Slashes of fire cut down those who advanced. And now no more did advance. The fleet of trucks along Sherman boulevard stood silently awaiting the victors; while through the night a small army of guards cast away incriminating firearms and slinked on foot into the Big Burg.

When the firing had stopped Nick Bruzzi turned curiously to the girl, who remained stubbornly by his side.

"What's the idea of this sudden die-by-your-side stuff, Mollie?" he asked slowly.

"Why, what's your kick?" she countered.

"Oh, nothing," he said, easily. "Only when I left you last night we wasn't such thick friends."

"Well, that's why I came," she said.

He was silent a moment.

"Oh, I see," he said lightly. "Then everything is jake between us!"

Court Aid Charged With Embezzlement

The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against M. Joseph Sartori, a clerk in Desertion and Non-Support Court, charging embezzlement, on information made by Chief County Detective George Murren. It is alleged that between January 25 and October 12, 1928, inclusive, Sartori embezzled over $13,000. The indictment contains 11 counts.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

HOLLYWOOD FINDS MOTORING CHEAP FUN—AS LONG AS GASOLINE WAR LASTS

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27.

THE gasoline war goes merrily on. Motoring has now become a pleasure. Elliott Dexter surprised the colony by putting in an appearance for the first time in years. Seems he's here a-visiting. Came with Rudy Cameron, a flicker lad who brought a bag-o'-ideas with him from New York. Ideas are like short stories. You've gotter have a ready market. Before leaving Elliott Dexter, recollect the halcyon days when he and Marie Doro—then his wife—made intriguing love via the silver sheet?

ANOTHER arrival. One Eddie Lehman. Understand he's a Chicago boy. Not so many moons ago, eastern papers reported him engaged to Bessie Love. No harm in a report. Particularly of the romantic species. Mrs. Ian Keith—also known as Ethel Clayton—is due in Hollywood shortly. She has been traveling in behalf of a cosmetic.

Ethel Clayton

Mrs. Jimmy Gleason looms the only femme extant grateful to the dread flu. She battled a long germ seige and triumphed. In the triumphing, avoirdupois melted from her figure. It has failed to reappear and Lucille now enjoys sylph-like angles. Evelyn Brent sneezed herself to a temperature and is another flu gladiator. Lowell Sherman closes "The Guardsman" in San Francisco Saturday and motors down to Los Angeles the next day. M. G. M. continues to flirt with him for the gentlemanly-butler role in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." Which reminds me of Norma Shearer, who will act the latter part of the title.

Norma Shearer Handed Bouquet

A MUTUAL friend saw her in "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and proclaims both performance and outloud a lulu. Bayard Veiller, author and director of the piece, hits the iron horse trail East in a day or so. Willard Mack, in case you're interested, dictates his creations to his wife. He's pretty much his own boss at M. G. M., possibly because he has so many ideas that no one can keep abreast of him.

Another Mayfair dance, small crowd. Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks stirred an appreciative commotion when they put in an appearance. Mary was charming in a red bouffant frock. And did she have an elegant time? Danced every dance. The Fairbankses usually avoid terpsichorean recreation. In their party was Princess Somebody-or-other who is visiting them. Lilyan Tashman and Hal Roach entertained a party of 35, including the visiting polo teams—Tommy Hitchcock, Ladie Sanford, et al—and Carmelita Geraghty, Virginia Valli, Julanne Johnston, Hedda Hopper, Joan Bennett. Joan danced every dance with Edmund Goulding, a lad reckoned to know more about numbers than the telephone directory. Pauline Starke and Jack White entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ben Baird, just returned from a honeymoon trek to the Yosemite. The Robert Z. Leonards were among those in the party. Johnny Hines acted as master-of-ceremonies and did his best, which is par excellent.

Mary Pickford

Bebe and Ben Real Ring Fans

LOOKS like Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon will go in for matrimony any day now. Both have become enthusiastic prizefight fans. Adolphe Menjou took his wife to a bowling gym. In his Cornell days, Adolphe knocked pins for the W. K. loop. He was champ of New York state five times running and has gone in for the sport again. It was Kathryn's first attempt. She listened while Menjou told her how to hold the ball and how to run forward before throwing it. Then she tried. And landed with an echo-ish thud, kerplunk! Betty Bronson is looking for a French maid. She craves to parlez-vous. Otto Kahn, the W. K. banker, is slated to join the colony soon. He should corral quite a few operatic aspirants hereabouts, now that flicker-ites have gone in for vocal gargling.

Helen Ferguson (Mrs. William Russell) is living for the nonce with her sister, Catherine Brody, on Highland avenue. Understand "Mickey" Neilan has gone East. Also that his studio is now in the hands of receivers. Darn shame about Mickey. The lad was a swell director. Still is when he puts his mind to it.

Helen Ferguson

Walter Hiers, the cherubic youth with the smiling voice, has returned from a tour of the Publix theaters, and is now working in a two-reel Al Cohen outloud with Louise Fazenda. Walter says the tour was O. K.

But when he jumped from warm weather to blizzards he developed keen sympathy for a Pollywog. Wallie Beery is now free-lancing. Wallie, at that, doesn't have to worry about his three squares.

When Anita Stewart and her fiance, George Converse, departed for their country-wide personal appearance tour with a flicker yclept "Anita Stewart in Hollywood," George kept his apartment so his adopted kitten would have a home. And—that's all.

PLAYERS APPEARING :-: IN COMING :-: THEATER PROGRAMS

DRAMA, MIRTH IN BILLS COMING

A Shakespearean festival is announced. Fritz Leiber, with a large supporting company, comes to the Nixon next week, opening Monday, March 4, with "Hamlet;" "The Taming of the Shrew" will be given in modern dress here for the first time Tuesday and Friday nights; "Romeo and Juliet" will be given at the Wednesday matinee; "Macbeth" on Wednesday and Saturday nights, and "Julius Caesar," Thursday night.

Seats go on sale at 9 o'clock Thursday morning for the engagement in the Alvin of George White's Scandals, which comes for next week only. The cast is headed by Ann Pennington, Tom Patricola, Frances Williams, Willie and Eugene Howard and Harry Richman. There will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Dorothy Gish, in "Young Love," a comedy, will play in the Pitt next week only. The play comes from a run in the Masque Theater, New York. It is the work of Samson Raphaelson, author of "The Jazz Singer," and marks the return of Dorothy Gish to the legitimate stage. Seats go on sale Thursday morning.

Belle Baker, singing comedienne, in "Exclusive Songs," written for her by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, will top the two-a-day Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville program in the Davis Theater next week. Glenn and Jenkins, black face comedians, will appear in "Working for the Railroad."

Mrs. Wood's Pension Increased to $5,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The House last night passed the Senate bill voting a pension of $5,000 a year to Mrs. Leonard Wood, widow of the late Governor General of the Philippines. It now goes to the President. By overwhelming vote the House rejected the recommendation of its pension committee for a pension of $1,800 for Mrs. Wood. Rpresentative Shafer (R.), of Wisconsin, demanded "a suitable pension for a real American."

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson gets a pension of $5,000 a year in a bill passed unanimously by the House earlier in the day.

Joseph Szigeti, Hungarian violinist, gave the closing concert of the Major Artists Series at the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association last night.

Szigeti is a great favorite in Pittsburgh, an artist whom we acknowledged formerly as the finest for playing music of a mellower style. It was a different Szigeti who played for us last night.

The program was a test for the finest player. Built of the profoundest works, it made exacting demands upon the musicianship as well as the technique of the violinist. And Szigeti made a good fight but did not always win. In both Handel and Bach he showed a vitality and breadth of declamation we had not heretofore associated with him. He may be establishing a new style, which has not fully settled in his nature as yet. But there were unclean passages and scratching that should be foreign to so great a player.

Schubert's Sonatina was as ingratiating music as Szigeti has ever given us. Szymanowsky is heard far too seldom in our concerts. He is the Polish Debussy, with a tremendous sense of beauty. Bartok's melodies remain for the most part strangers to our programs. Szigeti gave both the Slav and Hungarian music fiery readings, which did not desert him for the Spanish dance at the close of the evening.

As encores came Brahms' "Adagio" from the D Minor Sonata and the Pugnani "Prelude and Allegro." Boris Goldman played an excellent accompaniment for the "Fountain of Arethusa" but he might have asserted himself more strongly in all the dances.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

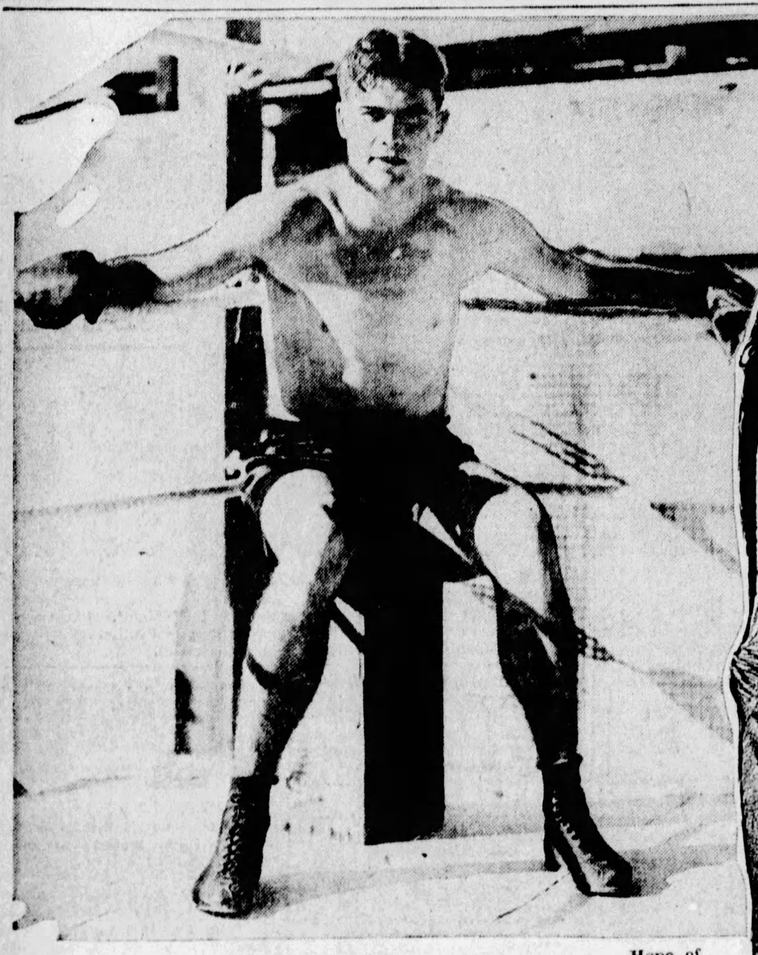
MIAMI IN HOLIDAY GARB FOR FIGHT



YOUNG STRIBLING

Hope of the South against Jack Sharkey, of Boston, in tonight's heavyweight battle under auspices of Jack Dempsey and the Madison Square Garden Corporation at Miami Beach, Fla. He is confident of victory.

LEADING CONTENDER

JACK SHARKEY

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

SHARKEY LOOKS PROBABLE WINNER

WITH the over-discussed and over-rated fistic debate between Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling at Miami Beach now only a few hours off, no good reason has developed for altering the original opinion that, if both men are reasonably close to their top form of the best—which does not mean world-beating form by any means, in either case—Sharkey will have the better chance for victory.

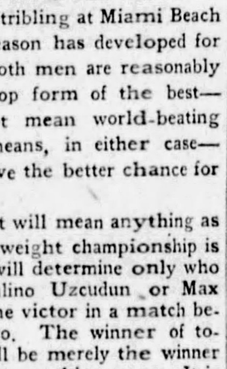
Paulino Uzcudun.

Not that that will mean anything as far as the heavyweight championship is concerned. It will determine only who is to meet Paulino Uzcudun or Max Schmeling, or the victor in a match between those two. The winner of tonight's fight will be merely the winner of tonight's fight—nothing more. It is hard to recall a fistic event that meant so little, had so little in itself to recommend it, either as to the ability of the principals or as to what the outcome might signify, and yet was made to appear as meaning so much. Here is a meeting of two ordinary heavyweights, neither worthy of being mentioned in the same breath with the real champions or real contenders of the past, and with the result meaning nothing more than another step in the so-called eliminations, attracting as much attention as if a world champion and a formidable challenger were fighting for the title itself.

THAT'S what can be done with ballyhoo in this age, when the promoters have the right time and the right place and use the right tricks of showmanship. Originally, the late Tex Rickard planned this bout only as a means of promoting Miami Beach and vicinity, where he and Jack Dempsey had invested extensively.

Since Rickard's death Dempsey and the powerful Madison Square Garden Corporation have turned what looked like a certain financial flop into a probable money-maker. Both Sharkey and Stribling have been so undependable and disappointing in the past, both have been such in-and-out performers, that there is no assurance tonight's bout will be a satisfying exhibition.

EVEN if it is full of action, the outcome won't mean anything, except that one so-called contender has been eliminated. Unless they make it close enough to set the stage for a return match in New York, Sharkey looks like the probable winner.



Dazzy Vance.

The sailor is a better boxer, a faster, sharper puncher and should know more about fighting by reason of the fact that, though he has not appeared in half as many bouts as Stribling, he has fought a greater number of good men.

IT WAS announced from the headquarters of the Brooklyn club some time ago that the directors had voted to give Pitcher Dazzy Vance a salary increase of $1,000 for this year. It was also denied that Vance was a holdout, the statement being made that no word had been received from him. Vance is now doing some denying himself. He does not confirm the report that he is demanding a salary of $25,000, but he declares he was not offered any increase and says the club knew he was not satisfied with his contract because he sent it back unsigned.

"THE first contract that I received called for the same salary as did the one I had last year," said Vance. "I promptly put it in an envelope and returned it unsigned, and without a letter. A few days later I got the same contract back, accompanied by a note asking if I had forgotten to sign it.

"I have not answered the letter and am carrying the contract around with me. It is one that I will not sign. I have not told any one what I want, and will not say anything about that to outsiders until I have talked with an official of the club. I don't know anything about the reports that I want $25,000 for this year."

ASKED if it would be necessary for Frank York, one of the directors of the Brooklyn club, to make a trip from New York

Wally Pipp Would Join Pirates

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 27.—With George Kelly, first baseman now in the fold of the Cincinnati Reds, Wally Pipp, who was being held in reserve, is seeking elsewhere for a job. He is looking toward the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cleveland Indians for a berth.

FRENCH, BUCS COME TO TERMS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 27.—Perhaps he heard that his snappy rival was in camp—in any event, Daredevil Dick Bartell was among those present today when the Freebooters paraded into the dining room for their breakfast.

Dick had orders to report here tomorrow, but he broke out in a rash of fever yesterday at his Alameda home, and the attending physician said there was only one cure: so Dick purchased a ticket for Paso Robles, and today he was normal again. Yes siree, the two pepper-shakers of the Buccaneers are both in camp ahead of time. Jonesey landed yesterday and kicked up such a fuss that Dick may have heard the echo. Well, Bartell is here, too, and with him came two of the nicest-looking young men you would find in a day's walk.

DEVINE PROTEGES IN CAMP

Dick's companions were two boys who are now Pirates as a result of Joe Devine's cradle-snatching activities. One is Basil Panella, 18-year-old first sacker from the St. Mary's College team, the other lad being Louis Martin, outfielder, who is still two years under age. He played ball with Bartell in the Alameda High School team.

The present roster of the Buccos appears to be in need of a big dash of paprica, and it will get it just as soon as Dick and Jonesey amble into the field together. It would seem that the two little fellows are candidates for Sparky Adams' keystone job, and there promises to be a battle royal so far as the kids are concerned.

The fast-increasing squad may number another member inside of 24 hours. Manager Bush and Treasurer Dreyfuss, after a conference with Holdout Larry French, southpaw pitcher, announced that the club and player were practically agreed as to terms. French came to camp yesterday for a conference, and he succeeded in getting the bosses to see certain things in his light. At any rate, he is expected to sign shortly.

MORE ARRIVE TOMORROW

The second squad of Pirates is nearing California, the remaining infielders and outfielders being scheduled to reach the training site tomorrow afternoon. The first workout of the whole cast is set for Friday morning.

Manager Bush announced this morning that in the case of favorable weather around midday, he would keep his players on the grounds in one long workout. He plans to go out at the regular time. In the event of good training weather, the session will be a long one, with everything off for the afternoon. Should the weather be too cold, two short sessions will be held, similar to those of yesterday.

There is not a case of real sickness in camp, although Burleigh Grimes spent most of yesterday in his room. Grimes was out of sorts, and Dr. Marks ordered him to bed for a spell. Burleigh had no fever, but Marks, realizing the sickness that developed last year, resolved to take every precaution. It is quite easy for an athlete in training to go down with one ailment or another.

Tunney Little Interested in Fight

ROME, Feb. 27.—The big fight at Miami tonight holds no interest for Gene Tunney. While the Big Boys there are battling, Tunney and his bride will be aboard a steamer on the Mediterranean on their way to Tunis and a tour of Egypt. The Tunneys left Rome yesterday for Naples and sailed last night for Tunis.

PITT AND W. VA. LEFT IN RACE FOR TITLE

By JESS CARVER.

The college basketball situation in these parts underwent somewhat of a change over night. Those of you who went to sleep last night without sitting up for the final results of the three games on the program awoke this morning to find that the race for the all district honors now lies between Pitt and West Virginia, and also discovered that Geneva is still in the running for the conference gonfalon.

Pitt beat Tech, West Virginia took over Wash-Jeff, and in an extra-period classic Geneva toppled the high-flying Bethany Bisons. As a result, Geneva, by taking Waynesburg and the Dukes in its remaining conference games, can tie Bethany for the league championship, and Pitt, by beating West Virginia at Morgantown Saturday night, can win the district honors for the second year in a row.

So it seems, so it does, that Geneva did Pitt a big favor by taking Bethany over the jumps.

PITT DEFENSE STRONG

The Panthers played some surprisingly strong defensive basketball last night in the Stadium Pavilion against Tech. The game was the final home contest for both clubs. Pitt held Tech to a single point in the first half, throwing up such an impregnable defense that the Skibos were all but helpless. A foul toss by Slim (Marconi) Merton accounted for Carnegie's lone point. The Panthers scored 20 and eventually won the game, 42 to 10.

There were two outstanding points to the Pitt triumph. One was the return to form of Paul Zehfuss, who slid under the hoop three times in the first half for field goals, much in the fashion he set last year when he played such an important part in the success of the unbeaten Golden Cats. The other was the fine play of Monty (Adonis) Montgomery, who started the contest as a regular guard. Monty went to Capt. Gyp Wunderlich's defensive position, and Gyp replaced Lester Cohen at center, showing to good advantage at his first love.

GAME CLEANLY PLAYED

The game was one of the cleanest of the entire year. Only 12 fouls were called during the game, eight on Tech and four on Pitt. It was also the third of the annual

FIFTH, STOWE IN W.P.I.A.L. OPENER

Stowe Township's rangy Section IX champions will make their first stab at a W. P. I. A. L. basketball title tonight by meeting Fifth Avenue High, of Pittsburgh, in the opening contest of the annual championship elimination series in the Stadium Pavilion.

Fifth, defending titlist in the City League, with a hard three-game series for the 1929 city title with South Hills pending, will be hard pressed by the Stowe passers in this first elimination encounter tonight. Stowe boasts one of the tallest sets of passers in the league, and has come through a tough sectional campaign in fine trim. Dormont, McKees Rocks and Carnegie all made it tough for Stowe. The size of the Section IX champions should give them at least an even break with Fifth.

FIFTH TEAM BUSY

The City League team represents Section XI in the W. P. I. A. L., being one of the few city high schools holding membership in the league. On Friday Fifth must square off against South Hills, victors in Section II, in the first of a three-game series for the city title. South Hills emerged with the Section II gonfalon after a final struggle with Oliver yesterday afternoon, 22 to 16.

Oliver, Perry and South Hills finished the regular season tied for the lead. Perry and Oliver met last Friday in the first play-off contest and Oliver won, 28 to 16. Yesterday the tables were effectually turned, with South Hills displaying a dashing last period attack to sew up the victory.

JONES, GARNHAM STAR

Oliver maintained a slight lead up until the time of the Hillsmen outbreak. The Tunnelites were getting the shots, but the ball simply wouldn't go in. Young Dick Jones, playing a guard for South Hills, was keeping the Oliver attackers at bay, however, and the North Siders were unable to get out in front by a great margin.

Gus Garnham, a dribbler of no mean ability, was the kingpin of the winning attack, his two field goals putting South Hills out in front once and for all when the score got to 16-all. South Hills was able to retain possession of the ball and "freeze" it very satisfactorily once the lead became big enough to warrant such play.

The lineup:

South Hills—22.		Oliver—16.
Garnham	F	Rex
Miller	F	Fraum
Ladley	C	Mohr
Hassenfritz	G	Freeland
Jones	G	Ross

30,000 TO SEE SHARKEY MEET STRIBLING

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—In Roman holiday fashion the new winter capital of Fistiana today took on the enthusiasm and gala spirit of an old fight town. The roar of the crowd tonight will echo from Flamingo Park, where Young Stribling and Jack Sharkey fight for heavyweight supremacy.

By roadroad, boat, airplane and automobile, thousands of fans poured into the metropolitan Miami district overnight and steadily throughout the morning.

It was estimated close to 3,000 persons arrived by noon, with the biggest delegations coming from Palm Beach, Tampa and Havana which sent 300 fans by boat and train.

7,000 SEATS UNSOLD

Despite the new arrivals, however, it was learned the attendance probably will fall short of the 35,000 capacity of the pine board arena. At noon there were 7,000 unsold seats that even with a last-minute rush it is not expected the crowd will pass far beyond 30,000.

At the same time the ticket sale was reported to have reached $230,000 in actual cash, so that regardless of the final figures or failure of the bout to be a sell-out, Promoter Jack Dempsey and the Madison Square Garden Corporation are assured a good profit.

After a night of more or less wild rumors of fresh ailments to both fighters, Sharkey and Stribling appeared today to be in excellent condition. Prior to the weighing in scheduled later in the afternoon each took short walks and some calisthenics to loosen up their muscles.

Indication that there has been some basis for concern over Stribling's condition following a rib injury was seen by Pa Stribling's statement that an osteopath, Dr. Cecil Ferguson, former ball player will be in the southerner's corner tonight. It is understood Stribling's side has been given daily attention for the past week.

BETTING ODDS UNCHANGED

Despite a strong influx of Stribling partisans there was comparatively little fluctuation in betting odds as well as apparently little actual wagering, except on evenly matched bouts. Bookmakers quoted not more than 7-to-5 on Sharkey to win, with chances of either scoring a knockout figured at 1-to-3.

With pennants fluttering from poles around the inside and its pine board freshness sparkling in the warm sun, the arena at Flamingo Park became a scene of colorful activity early in the day. Shortly after noon seven ticket booths were opened but there were few in line. Most of those gathered around the ringside had business there. Those outside were chiefly curiosity seekers.

Wire companies were busy completing installations and testing 41 ringside wires, in addition to 6 others located in two rooms beneath the outer edge of the 35 seats. Two special stands were erected to accommodate 42 photographers.

USHERS TRAINED

A corps of 400 ushers, recruited from the University of Miami, from the American Legion and the Ringling Brothers' circus were drilled for tonight's job.

With balmy weather, a temperature around 80, the crowds that packed the hotels, beaches and pleasure grounds perspired in shirt sleeves. Hotel space was at a premium and most of the fans arriving today planned quick getaways after the fight.

Because of the slack ticket sale there were few reports of speculation except in the case of 15 tickets which had been sold out.

MAT REVIVAL PLANNED AT GARDEN

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The rasslers are coming to town.

About every other year we get a chance to use the above few lines, and the time, my hearties, has come when it is meet that we should put them in type once more.

For be it known that one Riccardo Curley—alias Dick Curley (don't confuse him with Jack Curley, head of the wrestling syndicate)—is figuring on breaking into our fair village some time late next month or early in April with a big time rassling show at Motor Square Garden. He already has sounded out the Garden management on the proposition and has been told that he may come in here on only one condition, and that is that he give the fans the very best attractions.

His reply to that one was a query as to whether Gus Sonnenberg, the heavyweight champion, would be considered good enough for this town. He was informed that Gus would do.

Curley has promoted shows in Philadelphia, Chicago, New York and other cities and also is a manager of boxers and promoter of boxing shows. If he comes in here with no less a personage than Sonnenberg, he will be welcomed with open arms by the followers of the mat sport. If he tries to give the fans second-grade talent, however, he probably won't get any closer to first base than numerous other wrestling promoters who have tried to revive the sport here in the last 10 years.

SHARKEY SHOULD WIN

If Sharkey fights up to his best form, he's a cinch to beat Stribling at Miami Beach tonight. However, if he puts on one of his famous so-so melees, almost anything may happen. The burden of making or breaking the night rests with Sharkey. If he boxes and punches as he can, he'll walk in with the victory, but, if he slumps to Stribling's level of mediocrity, the bout figures to be just another snore for the ringsiders.

Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple, reports danger of another sellout for his Jackie Rodgers-Johnny Dunn return bout Friday night. He turned away upwards of 1,000 fans last week and has his place almost half sold out already in reservations for his coming show.

CHANGE IN SEMI-FINAL

A change has been made in the preliminary card for the Dominick Profio-California Joe Gans return bout at McKeesport tomorrow night. Billy D'Jalma, of Gary, Ind., who was to box Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, in the semi-final, was injured in training, and, failing to find a suitable substitute for Windsor, Promoter Jim McGirr has substituted a battle between L. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, and Paddy Mahan, of Charleroi. Honey Kilvady, of Donora, and Frank Monroe, veteran middleweight of Fair Haven, will box the opening bout and Frankie Porto, of Clairton, and Young Angelo, of Swissvale, are down for the second event. Mahan also meets Lon Lovelace in a six-round bout in Cincinnati tonight.

Herman Fotins, of Ambridge, who scaled 117 pounds when he went to New York to turn professional last October, now hits the 126-28-pound mark and gives promise of developing into a finifledged lightweight. He boxes Joe Costa in an eight-round bout at Jersey City tomorrow night.

BOUT AT CLARKSBURG

Young Ketchel, of Canonsburg, and Curley Reese, of Buckhannon, W. Va., will box the main bout of a show at Clarksburg, W. Va., tomorrow night.

Amateur boxing shows are scheduled at both the P. A. A., and the South Hills Country Club on the night of March 8.

Weather Warm, Fair for Fight

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The Miami weather bureau reported a temperature of 79 degrees at 12 o'clock today, with fair and continued warm weather expected for the Stribling-Sharkey fight tonight.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 27. — West Virginia University's basketball athletes took a firmer hold on the championship of the district Big Four here last night when they defeated W. & J. passers, 35 to 21.

They'll Kayo Each Other if Words Mean Anything

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27. —(AP.)—Young Stribling through his father-manager, Pa Stribling, made the following statement last night:

"You can say for me, that I am going into the ring to give the very best I've got, as usual. I am confident, I am going to beat Sharkey and will do my best to finish him quickly. I have trained hard for this fight, realizing that the outcome means much to me. Nothing short of a knockout will satisfy me. I expect the fight to be like my statement—short!"

Jack Sharkey said:

"As far as I am concerned, it is going to be just another fight. Naturally, I think I will win. I am fit and have been so for a month. I expect to win by a knockout and then—I want another chance at Dempsey."

BETHANY, THIEL ARE BEATEN

BETHANY, W. LONG'S SPORT COMMENT

to Florida, to induce him to sign his contract, as York did last spring when Vance was holding out for $20,000, Dazzy replied, "I don't know. Maybe it will."

Vance contends that his record last year entitles him to all that he is asking for 1929, pointing out that he was the most effective pitcher in the National League, won 23 games for a sixth-place club and led the league in strikeouts for the seventh consecutive season.

Eddie Moore.

EDDIE MOORE, former Pirate, has been sent to the minors again by the Boston National League club. Moore was placed with the Toledo club of the American Association to finish the 1928 season under option. He was recalled for this year, but has now been sold to Toledo outright. In making the deal, the Boston club says it was only acting in accordance with Moore's expressed desires. Eddie was offered a reduced contract this spring, but replied that he would prefer a minor league job. So the Brave bosses immediately saw to it that he got one.

WHEN the Pirates open the National League pennant race with the Cubs at Chicago on April 16, they will play before the largest crowd that ever attended an inaugural game in the Windy City. That is assured already by an unprecedented advance sale.

Chicago fans are in such a high pitch of enthusiasm over Cub pennant prospects that they are flooding Bruin headquarters with orders for opening-day tickets, and even at this early date a complete sell-out is anticipated. President William Veeck announces that the demand for tickets has already broken all first-day records in Chicago. "It is the greatest pre-season rush in Cub history," he said.

WHILE memorable ring battles of the old days were being discussed, James (Red) Mason, veteran boxing manager, observed that this year marks the silver anniversary of a battle in which one of Pittsburgh's greatest fistic products of all time defeated a future world champion twice in one night.

He referred to Jack McClelland's victory over Abe Attell in St. Louis in 1904. Previously in that year, Attell, who later became recognized as featherweight champion, after Young Corbett and Terry McGovern outgrew the class, had defeated Harry Forbes twice, Kid Herman, Patsy Haley, Maurice Rausch and Aurelio Herrera.

"TWENTY-FIVE years ago, I had McClelland, known as the Pride of Pittsburgh, fight Attell in St. Louis," relates Mason. "I had tried to make the match for 20 rounds, the distance then allowed by the authorities, but Ike Bloom, of Chicago, who was looking after Attell, held out for a 10-round limit. We finally compromised, split the difference and make it for 15. McClelland tore into Attell and made Abe's stomach his target from the start, and in the thirteenth round Attell went down under the punishment and claimed foul. Dr. Marks was called into the ring, and after an examination said there was nothing wrong with Attell. The promoter, Charley Haughton, pleaded with me to let McClelland fight the other two rounds, and though the referee, Harry Sharpe, had given the bout to my man, I consented.

James Mason.

"SO THE boxers fought the remaining two scheduled rounds, with the result that McClelland again had Attell almost out at the finish and received the decision. The St. Louis newspapers ran long stories about McClelland's double feat in winning the fight in 13 rounds by a knockout, and in 15 rounds by a decision.

"Attell was a much better fighter at that time than when he won the title later on. And at that he held it from 1908 until Johnny Kilbane took it from him in 20 rounds at Vernon, Cal., on Washington's Birthday in 1912. I had McClelland do something that year that has never been done since. That was to fight 20 rounds in St. Louis one night, then jump on a train and fight 10 rounds the following night on what is now the North Side of Pittsburgh, traveling 626 miles within 22 hours and making weight for both fights. The glove game hasn't known many fighters like McClelland."

Canzoneri Hands Fernandez Beating

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Tony Canzoneri, the "uncrowned king of the featherweights," today was being boomed for a title match with Tod Morgan, junior-lightweight champion, as a result of Tony's victory here last night over Ignacio Fernandez, a stablemate of Morgan, in 10 rounds. The gate grossed close to $50,000.

ICE PIRATES BLANKED BY CANADIENS

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Les Canadiens of Montreal increased their lead in the International Group of the National Hockey League to three points last night by romping through the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-to-0 victory. Their rivals, the New York Americans, were idle.

The Canucks displayed their best brand of hockey to score one goal in the first period, two in the second and another in the third. Howie Morenz, star center, scored two of the goals with Joliat and Patterson getting one apiece. Joe Miller, Pirate goalie, was the visitors' leading player, stopping numerous Les Canadien attacks. The lineup:

Miller	G	Hainsworth
R. Smith	D	Burke
McCaffrey	D	Mantha
Fredericksson	W	Lepine
Darragh	W	Gagne
Milks	W	Joliat

Officials—Cooper, Smeaton and Jean Sauve.

First period—Canadiens, Joliat, 11:30. Penalties—Smith, Lepine.

Second period—Canadiens, Patterson, 10:30; Canadiens, Morenz (S. Mantha), 2:35. Penalties—McCaffrey and Lepine.

Third period—Canadiens, Morenz, 12:50. Penalties—Morenz, Drury, Holway.

SMITH REINSTATED

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The suspension of R. J. (Hooley) Smith, of the Montreal Maroons, was lifted today by President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League, making the player available to his club for tomorrow night's game here with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

In a statement issued today, President Calder said that "the principal contributory factor in Smith's reinstatement is the earnest and sportsmanlike request of the Toronto Maple Leafs Club that Montreal should meet them at full strength."

Smith was suspended after a game last Thursday between the Canadiens and Maroons when he became belligerent. The Maroons were without Smith's services for two games.

THREE AMATEUR FLOOR TITLES AT STAKE

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. will bring its annual basketball tournament to a close tonight when championships in three classes will be decided on the floor of the 176th Field Artillery armory. The Young Men's Hebrew Association quintet, winner of the first-half championship in the Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League, meets Washington Moose, composed mainly of last year's Webster Hall players, for the first-class title; the Windslow Club, of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House, opposes the W. U. Hoyles for the light first-class crown, while the Lou Gordons, of the Hill District, clash with the Flying Dutchmen, of Lawrenceville, for the right to wear the junior crown. All three games bring together well matched teams and indications are that the contests will keep the fans on their toes from start to finish.

FACE REAL TEST

Washington Moose, well rested after winning its way to the final round, having drawn a bye in the semi-finals, will find in its opponent tonight one of the best amateur teams in the district. The Y. M. H. A. quintet boasts an exceptionally fine record and many fans are picking it to triumph tonight. The Bellefielders entered the final round by defeating Heinz House on the same floor Saturday night.

The Lou Gordons appear a slight favorite in their battle with the Flying Dutchmen, having won 21 straight games before losing to the Red Mahahons last night. They won the right to meet the Stripers by defeating the crack Hoo-Hoo Club at Heinz House last Saturday afternoon. The Hoyles advanced to the final round in the light first-class competition by vanquishing the South Side Falcons.

DRIBBLES

The Miele-Franchinas, their County League schedule completed, have turned their attention to the opening game of a series with the Penn Five of the West Penn League, carded at Columbus Temple next Monday night. Tuesday night the Mieles open a series with the Knickerbockers of the same loop, the first game being scheduled at Forresters Hall, Lawrenceville.

Quite a number of seats for the Morry-Rosenblum game at the South Side Market House a week from Thursday night have been reserved, Morry Goldman sponsor of the game, plans to place the tickets on sale within a few days. The game promises to attract a capacity crowd to the Market House. Friday night the Rosies meet Nate Lippe's All-Star County League champions, in the Harding High School at Aliquippa.

MEET WILKES-BARRE

The Young Men's Hebrew Association passers will face one of their hardest tests of the season tomorrow night when they oppose the crack Wilkes-Barre Y. M. H. A. on the Bellefield court.

Gifford, Swope, Other Busy Men Do Charitable Work.

—By B. C. FORBES—

WALTER S. GIFFORD, president of the largest business organization in the world, has just consented to direct the activities of the Charity Organization Society of New York, and intends to devote painstaking labor to put different New York charities on a thoroughly efficient basis. What does this suggest?

IT illustrates a truth not widely enough recognized: That our business leaders, many of them, are very far from being engrossed and obsessed only by their own money-making activities.

LAST week President James R. Angell of Yale, announced that, thanks to the millions recently added to the endowment fund, the salaries of all the lowest paid members of the teaching staff had been increased. A very large sum also has been raised for similar purposes at Harvard. Other universities have done the same thing.

All these money-raising campaigns have been managed by financial or business men. Almost always the main worker has been a tremendously busy man of affairs, a man laden with many heavy responsibilities.

MILLIONS are raised every year for Jewish charities. New York has an extraordinarily worthy record. For years the mainspring of this unselfish work has been what the public would call a "Wall street banker," Felix M. Warburg, member of the international banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. In national and international campaigns he has been ably seconded by the head of a gigantic business organization, Julius Rosenwald, of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

IF a catalogue were compiled of all the noble organizations in America rendering wholly unselfish service, it would be found that 95 in every 100 owe their success largely to not merely the contributions, but to the conscientious labors of important business men.

Verily, there is truth in the saying, "if you want a thing done, ask a busy man to do it."

CYNICS often snarl that millionaires are utterly mercenary and callous all through their life until they come near the end and that some of them then change their tactics only because they want to become regarded as very fine gentlemen, patriotic, humane, philanthropic.

Now, it is true that many rich men do not give up any considerable time or thought to charitable activities until they have reached the top and reached something approaching old age. But it is very far from being true that that always is the case.

Take Walter Gifford. He was not born wealthy, and I doubt whether he could even today be classified as a rich man. Nor can he by any stretch be described as an old man. He is only 44. As for his duties, he is the active directing head of a corporation possessing resources of two-and-a-quarter billion dollars and having close to 450,000 stockholders. Gifford is the very reverse of being a figurehead, an ornamental executive. He is on the job every day and is the acknowledged master of all the corporation's vast operations.

Yet, here he is taking on charitable duties which will make serious inroads on his mentality and vitality.

TAKE the president of another of America's very largest corporations, Gerald Swope, of General Electric. Like Gifford, he was not born to wealth; he is young as presidents of gigantic corporations go, 56; and he is perpetually as busy as a nailer. It is not known to the public, but Swope has been the daddy of Greenwich House, New York, an institution which does valuable social, educational, health, civic work, etc., for neighborhood residents.

NOT long ago I was talking with a third generation man of great wealth who, when a wardmade multi-millionaire was mentioned, remarked disappointedly, "Unfortunately, he doesn't yet realize that wealth carries with it obligations to the poor."

My observation is, however, that among the younger generation who are coming into the saddle are a very creditable number who do realize that their good fortune imposes upon them a moral obligation to help others less fortunate.

IN short, our business leaders compare not unfavorably with other classes in public spirit and philanthropy.

Stocks Sweep Up — Wall Street Quotations

STOCKS SWEEP UP AS MONEY EASES

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—An easier undertone in the call money market and a grist of favorable trade news and earnings reports provided the background for an extensive advance in prices in today's stock market. A few specialties were marked up 6 to 25 points on pool manipulation, and a long list of standard industrials sold 1 to 5 points above yesterday's final quotations. Trading was fairly heavy in volume.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent and appeared to be in fairly plentiful supply at that figure, despite heavy month-end demands. Copper prices were advanced ¼ of a cent a pound for the second time this week, touching the highest levels since 1926, and the weekly steel trade review reported a further expansion in mill output and a stiffening price tendency.

Mathieson Alkali was the spectacular feature, soaring more than 25 points to a new high record at 218. Commercial Solvents, Safeway Stores, International Telephone and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe sold 6 to nearly 10 points higher.

New high prices in the copper group were established by Anaconda, Magma, Calumet and Arizona, Kennecott, Chile, Inspiration, Andes, Nevada and Utah, the last named jumping 10 points. Other issues to reach new high ground included Bethlehem and Republic steels, Patino Mines, Continental Can, Motion Pictures, Mandel, American Express, Adams Express, Cavanaugh - Dobbs, Island Creek Coal, Continental Baking A and Spicer Manufacturing.

U. S. Steel common apparently has discounted for the time being the refunding plan announced after the close of the market yesterday, but Steel preferred moved into new high ground. Many traders expressed a desire to await the terms of the new stock offering before extending their commitments in Steel common, and these will not be made known until after the annual meeting in April.

There were a few soft spots scattered throughout the list. United Electric Coal sank 4 points to within a point of the year's low, and Schulte touched a new low record at 29. Abraham & Straus, Electric Auto Lite, Advance Rumely, Crosley Radio and National Bellas Hess sold 3 to 4½ points lower.

Concurrent stoppage of Packard and Nash Motors revived rumors of a merger of those two properties before the end of the year. Some of the other motors also received better support on reports of expanding spring sales.

United States Steel was down to around 186 in the final hour but most of the other representative issues continued to make decided upward progress. Allied Chemical was up 9 points as it got into net high ground above 209. Johns Manville rose 8 points and Radio (old) mounted 15 points above its early low. Curtiss, Wright, Packard, Byers, and Goodyear Rubber were lifted 4 and 5 points. The closing tone was strong. Sales approximated 4,000,0000 shares.

COPPER BOOMS AFTER LONG SLUMP

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

COPPER, after limping at the end of the industrial depression for nearly eight years, has started to boom. The price of electrolytic copper has reached 18¾ cents, and further increases are being predicted. This is the highest price since 1920, the year of the post war slump.

The increase has resulted in greater activity in the copper stocks and estimates of surprising expansion in the earnings of most of the copper companies.

The price at the end of 1928 was 16¾ cents compared with an average quotation of less than 13 cents for 1927. A greatly increased demand at a time when stocks are depleted is responsible for the present flurry.

COPPER production, along with other metals, was enormously increased during the war. The peace time deflation left the industry with a capacity far beyond consumption and with total stocks of 641,000,000 pounds.

Since then stocks have steadily declined. At the end of 1928 they had been cut to 130,932,000 pounds. This is considered a dangerously small supply, since consumption requirements for 1929 are estimated at 4,000,000,000 pounds. In 1925 consumption was slightly more than 3,000,000,000 pounds.

In addition to the normal growth of the industries requiring copper, the market has been expanded through the development of entirely new products. The intensive campaign to increase the sale of brass has helped and the low price has stimulated the adoption of copper for purposes formerly supplied by other metals.

ANOTHER factor has contributed greatly to the improved earnings of the copper companies. Faced with prices which yielded only negligible profit and with only far off prospects for improvement, the producers made great strides towards lower costs. Better methods of mining and smelting, the more efficient use of power, and the perfection of cheaper processes have given the industry the lowest costs in its history.

The rapid growth of the electrical industry and the prospects for further expansion in this market constitute one of the most outstanding reasons for optimism. The stabilization of Europe also promises to open greater markets abroad so that demand appears likely to continue at the present level.

The concentration of production in the hands of a few large producers is acting as a stabilizing influence. Anaconda, Kennecott and Phelps-Dodge-Calumet & Arizona control fully half of the worlds production. Smaller operators, who are willing to pool their activities with these three organizations, give the leaders in the industry control of about 85 per cent of the production.

THE only important menace to the present prosperity is the possibility of an overproduction through the development of new properties in Africa and Canada. From two to three years will be required to bring these fields into production so that there is a reasonably good possibility that demand will have grown enough to take care of this increase.

While high prices mean great increases in earnings, the producers are not anxious to see too great a boom in the market. From a long range standpoint, exceptionally great profits are not altogether desirable. They increase the danger of too rapid expansion in productive capacity, and they also might check the growth of new markets by making the use of copper for some purposes too costly.

From all standpoints the immediate prospects are bright and the only clouds are very distant.

STEEL OUTPUT INCREASES

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The Iron Age says: Mill output is again rising, responding to the growing pressure for deliveries, particularly of automobile steels.

Ingot production at Chicago now stands at fully 95 per cent, compared with 92 per cent a week ago, and the general average for the Youngstown, Pittsburgh and Wheeling districts has gone up 5 points to 90 per cent.

Steel prices continue to gather strength.

Heavy specifications for sheets, strip steel, carbon and alloy steel bars are coming from the automobile industry, as well as other consuming lines.

In contrast with the active finished products are such commodities as steel pipe. Furnace welded pipe mills are operating at only 50 or 55 per cent of capacity, while seamless tube mills are running at 70 to 75 per cent.

Following a winter lull in fabricating awards, structural steel prospects are bright. New projects total 60,000 tons for the week and 122,000 tons for the last fortnight.

Railroad freight cars ordered number 2,100, making a total of more than 27,000 bought by domestic roads since January 1.

Scrap is marking time at Pittsburgh and Chicago, and is weaker at Philadelphia, where heavy melting steel has declined 50 cents a ton to $16.

The Iron Age composite prices are unchanged, finished steel remaining at 2.391 cents a pound for the twelfth week, and pig iron at 15.58 a gross ton for the fifth week.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Public utilities after being under pressure for two days today staged a recovery in the early trading in the curb market, joining the general upward movement of the list. Buying was fairly general, traders ignoring the 8 per cent call money renewal rate.

Good earnings reports for 1928 and January continued to pile in, with public utilities well represented. Electric Bond and Share was bought in large blocks and advanced 5 points. The new shares moved up 2. Strength was also displayed by American Gas and Electric, Electric Investors and United Gas Improvement.

Tubize shot up 10 points on prospects of increased business this spring and summer. Deere & Co. rose 5 points. Goldman Sachs Trading was ex-dividend and was traded in at 109⅝. Initial trading in Wright Aeronautical (new) started at 138. Fox Theater, which has been under pressure for more than a month, advanced 2 points. Mining stocks were irregular despite further advances in copper prices and firmness in lead and zinc. Phelps Dodge dropped 6 points to 297, while New Jersey Zinc spurted up 4. Noranda and Newmont improved.

Trading was on a small scale in the Petroleum group. Continental again advanced to 27. Humble dropped back to 92 after opening at 93.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

WHO IS TO BLAME?

In over 25 years of practice, we have made thousands of persons better looking, happier and more successful in life by freeing them of skin disorders, growths and disfigurements. There are still thousands who require our services, but keep putting it off for some reason or other. If it's proof of our work you desire, call in person or let us send you our booklet of results. Read these letters of gratitude and then determine WHO IS TO BLAME.

BUGS BAER Says

A MAN BY THE NAME OF JONES

WELL, boys and fellow violators, the Jones bill is another thing again.

"Bugs" Baer

Mr. Jones has amended an amendment. There are quite a few seamstresses around this country who are busy patching patches.

Most of us will agree that a mustard plaster is bad enough without being sprinkled with red pepper.

Most guys are out on the Tenth.

One pint makes 30 days, two quarts makes a year, and a gallon means you will never need a street car transfer as long as you live.

Outside of Mr. Jones, the drys have been moderate.

They started out by asking for $300,000,000.

You don't need that much money for enforcement.

But you do for protection.

After the Senate had chewed this expensive cud for a while and sent it to its seven departmental stomachs for digestion, the drys decided they didn't need so much moisture.

This one was on the House.

The last we heard of the matter was that the administration was asking for a skinny $2,000,000.

Which means that America has saved $298,000,000 on one transaction. If the drys had ever got all the money they asked for, Andy Mellon would have had to move into a wing of the Pension Building.

In case the wets and drys want to know how the writer stands on the subject, we will state that we went dry with the country.

But, on the last night of the old barrooms, we established a gymnastic record by bending the crab with four policemen on our chest.

Since then, we have stood on the sidelines cheering reform as it staggered by.

MY WORD I CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHERE I MISLAID THAT PAPER WITH A LOT OF FIGURES ON IT. IMPORTANT FIGURES TOO! DID YOU SEE IT PEGGY? IT HAD "GUINEA-PIGS" MARKED AT THE TOP AND....
HELLO MR. BUNGLE!
PARDON ME MR. BUNGLE BUT PEGGY HAS BEEN TELLING ME ABOUT YOUR FUR RANCH. ARE YOU HAVING ANY LUCK? MY DAD WAS GOING INTO AN AFFAIR LIKE THAT BUT HE INVESTIGATED IT THOROUGHLY AND HELD OFF. IVE HEARD THAT THE FUR ON GUINEA-PIGS ISN'T MUCH GOOD AND...
FUR IS FUR! WELL I'LL JUST ASK YOU TO EXCUSE ME. I MUST FIND THAT PAPER.
I'LL HELP YOU FIND IT DAD.....PARDON US, MR. WHITE.
OF COURSE. CERTAINLY.
OH DAD I JUST CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY YOU SNAPPED AT JERRY AS YOU DID. SIMPLY BECAUSE HE DIDN'T BUBBLE OVER ABOUT THOSE OLD GUINEA-PIGS.

"Charges of bigamy against Louis E. Post, 32, were dismissed today when discovery that he had three wives, instead of two, introduced a technicality which officials said prevented prosecution."—News Item.

If he'd only had four wives he might be able to sue the state for damages.

Perhaps the discovery of the third wife made the offense of having two seem so insignificant that the court didn't want to bother with it.

* * *

Anyway, you simply can't persecute a man for having two wives when he has three.

* * *

After finding the third wife the court must have felt pretty silly about getting indignant over two.

ANTI-NOISE WEEK SUCCESS ASSURED

Plans for National Stop-That-Noise-Week are progressing rapidly. Apparently the country is aroused to the annoyance of nerve-shattering noises. Our telephone has been ringing incessantly—so many people are eager to make suggestions. Our Mrs. Ballou (above) reports progress as follows:

1. All traffic policemen will use Maxim silencers on their whistles.

2. Postmen will walk on tiptoe and refrain from ringing doorbells.

3. Motorists will muffle their auto horns with trombone hats.

4. Gangsters have agreed to the request to use knives and upholstered gas pipes instead of machine guns.

Coal Police Opposition Here and in Harrisburg

The Civic Club of Allegheny County has sided with the forces opposing the coal and iron police system, as now consituted. It has indorsed the action of Governor Fisher in condemning this un-American organization that has brought disgrace on the state and on the local business organizations employing these thugs, through many illegal and unwarranted usurpations of the rights of the people, culminating recently in the brutal murder of a miner. The Civic Club thus adds to the wave of public disapproval the weight of a society credited with the purpose of helping the community.

The work of relieving the state of Pennsylvania [illegible] giving authority to such a notorious force goes on [illegible]g. The Legislature marks time while awaiting a bill be[illegible]epared by Governor Fisher himself to cover the matter. Several bills, including that of Representative M. A. Musmanno, which would repeal coal and iron police acts, are being held up pending the arrival of the measure from Governor Fisher's hand.

There is indication that corporations will attempt to interfere in the proposed legislation. The straw that shows how the wind blows is the lobby opposition reported on the resolution of Representative Carl C. Baldridge of Allegheny County requiring that the Legislature be furnished with the name, address and whereabouts of every coal and iron policeman now employed. This lobby, it is said, is attempting to kill the resolution in the Senate. It was adopted in the House without a dissenting vote.

Public thought in the matter is that local coal corporations that attempt to interpose in legislation affecting coal and iron police at this particular time, for their own good, should be very circumspect in their activities. Attempts to block sources of information that would be a guide to the law-makers could well be interpreted by the public as an indication of more guilt, perhaps, than the public had attributed to the coal companies in their mishandling of the authority given them by the state in turning over to them a tyrannical power when all they could expect was means of protecting their properties.

It is perfectly proper, of course, for an interested party to make suggestions as to legislation but a coal "lobby," such as indicated in reports of opposition to the Baldridge resolution, points to a pernicious influence that should not be tolerated in Harrisburg. The coal companies ought to be able to appraise public temper as it now exists. It certainly is indicated plainly enough.

A Ship That Saved Many

Some Day You Will Travel in Seats Like These.

INTERIOR OF BRITISH AIRSHIP THAT RESCUED WOMEN AND CHILDREN

This interesting picture showing the arrangement of seats for soldiers, wounded men or ordinary commercial travelers, in the interior of a big British flying machine, will interest everybody.

Ahead you see two steering wheels, the "dual control" of a big machine. There are seats for two pilots. If one were shot down, or anything else happened to him, the other could immediately take charge of the ship.

The seats in the rear are arranged so that they can be let down and made into sleeping cots, very convenient for carrying wounded men.

Several ships like this were made by the British, especially to carry troops, 23 men besides the pilot to each ship, for quick expeditions to suppress riot or insurrection.

This type of ship was used recently most successfully in the Afghanistan uprising against King Amanullah. The rebels had driven the King and his ministers into the fort at Kabul, and in that fort there were a number of British women and children, and also some Indian women.

The British government sent planes of this type through the air from India to Kabul. The women and children were taken on board and carried to safety.

The Afghan King Amanullah was also carried away in one of the planes, with his wife, whose wearing of European clothes, with no veil to cover her face, aroused the rage of the barbarous Afghans.

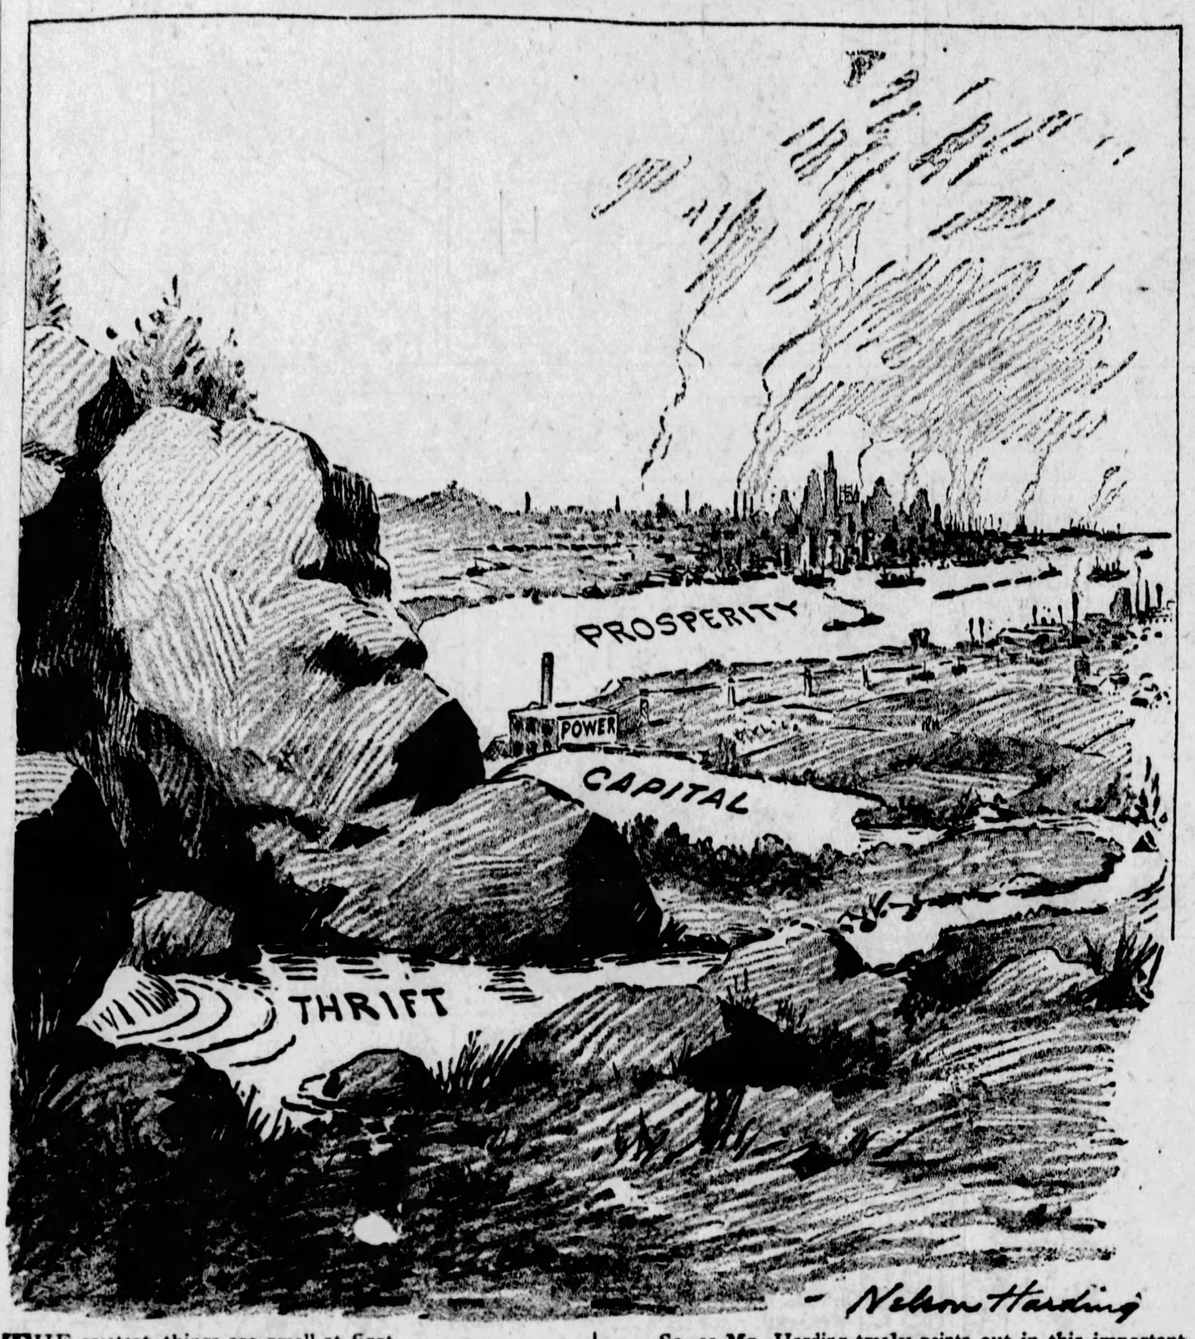
Before many years have passed, riding in airplanes like this will be an occurrence as common as riding in an automobile. There will be in the air flocks of airplanes almost as numerous as flocks of carrier pigeons that disappeared long ago.

Men will leave the Atlantic seaboard in the morning, to dine in Paris or New York the evening of the same day.

They will go from Chicago to Florida or to Southern or Northern California, leaving after breakfast, arriving in time for a swim before luncheon.

Whoever doubts this has little confidence in the inventive and building genius of the human race. Heaven knows that genius has sufficiently demonstrated its power, from the airplane to the submarine, and from the giant locomotive to the swift automobile.

The River's Source



THE greatest things are small at first.

Trace the waters of Niagara or the Nile to their source and you will find, somewhere far away, a tiny little stream not as wide as your little finger.

There the gigantic Niagara or Nile begins, also the gigantic cataract of Niagara and all the cataracts of the Nile Valley.

So, as Mr. Harding truly points out in this important cartoon, THRIFT BEGINS WITH SMALL THINGS.

The biggest fortune in the world is supposed to be that of John D. Rockefeller, used so largely for the benefit of humanity in general. The beginning of that Niagara of wealth was ONE DOLLAR earned and saved.

The BEGINNING is everything. The future will take care of itself if you start right, and keep on in the right direction.

Some Dubious Dames

By Herbert Kaufman

A PROMINENT Manhattan illustrator doesn't care to be reminded of the time he pot-boiled Old Masters in a Boulevard St. Jacques attic, while paying his way through Julien's.

Those were the days when Bernard Naudin was chirping Provencal songs in a converted stable, and pouring a since-abandoned ambition into vast canvases of the French Revolution.

Hosts of students, then as now, fed the wolf with such scraps as opportunity tossed them. And, then as now, opportunity usually tossed them commissions for spurious paintings.

Italy is annually scoured for sixteenth and seventeenth century daubs, the fabric of which is scraped and utilized by counterfeiters, adept in all the color secrets and varnish formulas of the periods and schools they mimic.

And even these experts aren't infallible.

The Dossena sculptures, which passed the scrutiny of museum curators everywhere, suggest how many more cherished marbles may be the product of rogue chisels.

Present verification methods, including the X-ray, weren't existent when the Metropolitan, the Louvre and the Tate were first stocked.

And if blunderbusses, daily shooting worm-holes into Dutch and Belgian oak, signify anything, a considerable percentage of our "early" furniture was wearing roots a short while back.

Sir Joseph Duveen's professional skepticism is not the attitude of a born cynic, but the fruit of many and bitter encounters with forgery.

The omniscient Dr. von Bode, if recollection is clear, stamped with authenticity a wax bust of apparent Renaissance origin. It might yet be hobnobbing with immortalities, if a Bayswater modeler hadn't blurted the imposture.

The cachet of LaMotte, long supreme arbiter on Gothic survivals, lost its droit de dernier cri, when scandal revealed that the house was not above dabbling in falsities.

The jeer that rang through Europe when a Levantine goldsmith confessed to the authorship of certain pre-Christian crowns, is still quaking newspaper files.

Putting it mildly, 50 per cent of Art's "dearest" treasures are of doubtful extraction and inaccurate attribution.

A fool and his money are soon parted—when they begin to hanker for painted ladies.

Tales That Are Told

Standing Room Only

THERE was an ominous cracking, and a great hole appeared in the ice. In the center a man's head appeared. A park-keeper was soon on the spot, and crawling cautiously along a ladder, he reached the edge of the ice.

"Come closer!" he shouted, "and I'll help you out!"

"Not much," said the victim. "I can't swim."

"Oh, no, it isn't," was the retort. "It's about seven feet deep out here. I'm standing on the chap who broke the ice!"

Cool

THE angry grocer ran round the counter and seized his customer by the arm.

"Do you know, madam," he blurted, "that your dog has eaten a pound of my best fresh country butter? I saw him do it a second ago!"

The customer relieved the grocer of her arm and regarded him coldly.

"I did not know it," she replied, icily, "but if you are quite sure it was your best butter, and that it really did come from the country, I don't think there is much reason to suppose it will do him any harm."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a guy that worked in the coal mines and had had a pretty steady job hacking coal out of a vein in a stooping position ever since he was a small kid. When he was eighty he killed a miner that tried to keep him from going to work during a strike. So the judge says, at the end of the trial, "All right, Sam, you are sentenced to hard labor for life. Understand? I sentence you to spend the rest of your life at hard labor."

Sam busted out laughing. The judge says, "All right, tell us the joke Sam."

"Well, Judge," says he, "I was just thinkin' maybe you'd also sentence me to flat feet for life. I was born with them too."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

MRS. ALLEN is mad because her 15-year-old boy, Dan, was impudent to her. She was lecturing him—telling him how differently she had behaved to her parents when she was 15. He wiggled and scuffed and picked his warts—you know how 15-year-old boys do—and then suddenly broke out with this—

"AW, BE YOUR AGE, MA!"

So now Mrs. Allen is mad and wants me to write a mean article about disrespectful children.

I shall do nothing of the sort. I'm all for Dan. I admit he was impertinent. But he was extremely pertinent. His remarks were right to the point. They were exactly what his silly mother needs.

"AW, BE YOUR AGE!" All of us should be told that at frequent intervals, particularly when we begin to talk about the Dear Old Days.

YOU'RE AS OLD AS THE SECOND OF TIME YOU ARE LIVING IN—AND AS YOUNG.

And you're living—NOW!

You're not living back in those romantic days, mamma, when they used to say you looked exactly like a Gibson Girl—

This world has hopped 25 years ahead into space since those pastoral days and thrown about a billion duck fits. It's an entirely new world with an entirely new set of ideas, customs, institutions and problems. And if you're trying to measure up your life, or your children's lives by the world you inhabited in 1903 you're certainly out of luck. And somebody should bawl: "AW, BE YOUR AGE!"

And in which youth is assailed by lavish luxury and high powered whoopee from every side.

Wicked? Shocking? Hard-hearted? Maybe. That has been said of every age. But whether it's good or whether it's bad—IT'S YOUR AGE. AND YOU'RE LIVING IN IT RIGHT NOW. SO BE YOUR AGE!

Stop whining back to the times when you had 25 cents a week spending money and the only social events were the annual Sunday school picnic and Christmas tree—and perhaps a patent medicine show—

TUNE INTO THE NEW WAVE-LENGTH, BUDDY!

STOP BEING AS OLD AS YOUR MEMORIES.

BE AS YOUNG AS YOUR OPPORTUNITIES!

BE YOUR AGE!

GRAVITY

By Garrett P. Serviss

AS FAR as concerns the intellection of the average man, Albert Einstein is responsible for having let out of their mental cave an enormous number of blind bats, whose wild circling in the sunshine of publicity "calls dreary gleams about the moorland" of common, everyday sense.

Having thrown off the trammels of poor old Euclid's geometry, the relativists find themselves able to explain everything by nothing. They discover that we are never really awake except when we are asleep. We see things as they are only when we are dreaming.

One of my favorite dreams, which was certainly delightful, used to be that of flying. I would throw up my heels, float off the edge of a precipice and soar exulting over the humbled earth, or I would sail around a room in touch with the ceiling, or swing over the top of a church steeple. I seemed to do it by simple wish and will power. Gradually, it came about that I had to squeeze my will power pretty hard to keep up. Later years it seemed to become like a worn-out bulb on an atomizer—it would no longer inflate. The last time I remember to have dreamed of flying I couldn't get off the ground.

I had flattered myself that the weakening of the power of the dream might be a token of the strengthening of the logical faculty, but now it appears, from one of the interpretations given of Einstein's latest generalization, that when one dreams of flying one may be living in the true world of "Relativity." Einstein has worked out, through meditation and the new mathematics, an identity of gravitation and electro-magnetism. Upon this it is postulated that, if we could only get the hang of the thing, it would be possible to fly airplanes without engines, to float out of 50-story windows and in again, a la Daniel Dunglas Home, and, in short, to play practical jokes upon gravitation at our sweet will.

"Negative gravity" has long been a familiar speculation to philosophers and story writers. Frank R. Stockton, for instance, had a pleasing tale about it. Very lately claims have been made that gravity had actually been nullified so that heavy bodies could be floated without support in the air. It appears, however, that this was only accomplished by the aid of magnetism.

An alloy produced in the Bell Telephone laboratories, called permalloy, was lately shown by Prof. H. H. Sheldon in New York to have the apparent power of floating in the air when placed a short distance above a magnet. The secret lies in the peculiar sensitiveness of the permalloy to magnetism. What happens here is apparently a balancing of opposing forces. The metal alloy is kept suspended above the magnet very much as a ball is prevented from falling by the upward force of a plume of water rising from a fountain.

Bible Passages

Solomon Anointed

(I. Kings 1; 28-39)

THEN king David answered and said, Call me Bath-sheba. And she came into the king's presence, and stood before the king.

And the king sware, and said, as the Lord liveth, that hath redeemed my soul out of all distress,

Even as I aware unto thee by the Lord God of Israel, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne in my stead; even so will I certainly do this day.

Then Bath-sheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did reverence to the king, and said, Let my lord king David live for ever.

And king David said, Call me Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.

The king also said unto them, Take with you the servants of your Lord, and cause Solomon my son to ride upon mine own mule, and bring him down to Gihon:

And let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him there king over Israel: and blow ye with the trumpet, and say, God save king Solomon.

Then ye shall come up after him, that he may come and sit upon my throne; for he shall be king in my stead: and I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and over Judah.

And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, and said, Amen: the Lord God of my lord the king say so too.

As the lord hath been with my lord the king, even so be he with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord king David.

So Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, went down, and caused Solomon to ride upon king David's mule, and brought him to Gihon.

And Zadok the priest took an horn of oil out of the tabernacle, and anointed Solomon. And they blew the trumpet; and all the people said, God save king Solomon.

Isn't It So?

A successful liar must have a good memory.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Every big New York hotel faces bankruptcy its first year. People are skittish about a new inn. They wait for others to break the ice and that is why free board is frequently offered to notables and there are usually glittering questionables willing to accept the handout.

Once it is noised about a hotel is housing people of importance the herd instinct prevails and continued prosperity depends upon the service standards maintained by the management. One of the tricks of a new hotel to create a prosperous air is inexpensive but effective.

At dusk lights are turned on in every outside room and employes circulate about to throw their shadows on the curtains of windows. This gives passersby the idea of bustle and life. Page boys are also instructed to shout important names in the lobby and dining rooms.

Several years ago the director of what is now one of New York's best paying hotels scanned the arrival list gloomily, then took an elevator to the roof and leaped to the courtyard some 30 stories below and eternity. The hotel had been open six weeks and a mammoth investment seemed a total loss.

In another important hotel a year ago the total number of guests was eight many weeks afterward. An impoverished society woman was employed to engineer a series of fashionable dinner parties and a press agent spread the news in the society columns. The tide was turned and the hotel prospers.

Sometimes a murder or scandal affects a hotel, but not often. The scene of one of New York's most famous murders was the Broadway Central—the Fiske-Stokes affair—and while it is one of the oldest hotels and off beaten tracks, enlists excellent patronage.

One of the newest hotels—a gaudy structure appealing to a Broadway clientele—was recently the scene of a sensational underworld murder, and many thought the place forever doomed. It suffered lack of patronage for a few weeks, and that was all. New York quickly forgets.

Mississippi Jones, the familiar ebony-hued hackman, was missed along the Main Stem recently along with his antiquated sea-goer and ancient nag. His straw plug hat and pearl-buttoned yellow overcoat were long a part of the Broadway picture—about the last of his curb-roaming tribe. He braved the lean days with grinning and stoic cheer until illness came and his horse and gig were seized for debt. But a proverbial good fellow heard of his plight and Mississippi and his hack have been restored to the gay boulevard, for a little while at least.

Dublin Terry is a Fifth avenue hackman who also carries on. In old Delmonico days he was always out front of that restaurant in the wind and rain. Today he ranges farther north and there is a touch of pathos in his effort to lift his ballyhoo of "Ke.ridge, sir! Very exclusive!" above the motor madness.

Two oddly dressed girls have been exciting first nighters. One is olive-skinned with straight black hair brushed slightly back like Galli-Curci, and her costume is an old-fashioned hoop-skirted frock with a huge cameo brooch at her throat. Her companion is a flapper type in a modish tailored suit, and with a wild fluff of hair as light as an Albino. The sartorial contrast is hoop-de-do.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Warning

HEED the warning! Be not caught,
Snared like some wild, forest thing,
In the cruel web of thought.
Quick, take wing!

Leave these puzzles that will drain
Joy from out the brightest day,
Vexing weary heart and brain.
Come away!

Leave the ageless stars to guard
Secrets man must vainly seek,
Hidden heights forever barred,
Ways too bleak.

Learn how joyous life can be
As it was in Earth's glad youth,
From all false restraints set free,
Fired with truth!

Dreading, doubting, let the rest
To Earth's useless burdens bow;
Love and laughter, these are best.
Choose them now!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

DO YOU sit at table with the expectation of finding fault with the food?

If so, naturally you will not permit yourself to be disappointed.

If you feel that you are going to like what is set before you, you are more than likely to be pleased.

If you look upon eating as something you have to do and without any pleasant anticipation you won't get the real benefit of your meal.

At the home table it is easy to push aside things you don't like.

Perhaps if you tasted them you might have cause to change your mind.

It is discouraging to the one who prepares the meals to realize that some dishes were not even tasted or tried.
